BRITISH CHAMPION SHOOTS 69 AT FOE

BY WHITNER CARY.
(Constitution Staff Correspondent.)

Minikahda Country Club, Minn., August 26.—Bobby Jones and Chick Evans, two players who have appeared in many leading roles on the American golfing stage, tonight await their biggest curtain call—the finals of the national amateur championship.

Bobby gained the heights when his clubs wrote a most startling 11 and 10 epitaph over the championship hopes of Francis Ouimet in one semi-final match, while Chick stands on the threshold of the throne that was twice his by virtue of a sensational 1-up victory over Roland Mackenzie that found the 37th hole the scene of final triumph.

No two matches could have been more unlike. Bobby, blistering the course with a 69 in the morning and a 31 for the eight holes that constituted the afternoon round, was in front at the jump and exhibited 26 holes of golf that was fully in keeping with the best brand that has come out of his bag during the tournament. Chick was forced to stage a gruelling battle from the first drive until his 20-foot putt found the can for a birdie and a win on that 37th green. So tonight these two veterans of countless championship engagements await the call to battle. The call that to each means much.

For Bobby, the winning of that match tomorrow means the third time the amateur crown has found his head a resting place. For Chick it means the same thing.

It was in 1916 at the historic Merion club that Chick Evans' star burst across the championship firmament. That same year a lad of 14, carrying the colors of the Atlanta Athletic club, first saw the heat of an American championship.

The lad of 14 has gained an all-time niche in golf since that affair of yesteryear. For he is Robert Tyre Jones, Jr.

The meeting tomorrow of Bobby and Chick will be their third. They clashed for the first time in the semi-final of the western open at Memphis in 1920 with Chick emerging the victor. Last year in the third round at Baltusrol Bobby squared the account.

In his march to the final round Bobby buried the hopes of McCarthy, Homans, Johnston and Ouimet. Strange to relate his easiest victory was over the best of that brilliant band—Ouimet. The ease with which he accomplished this is seen not only by the tremendous margin of victory, but from the fact that Ouimet won but one hole.

Bob Opens Strong.

Bobby opened his long range assault at the very start of hostilities when he sent his drive fully 300 yards down the fairway and into the trap that is supposed to snare second shots. It will be recalled that one of his drives yesterday went into this same trap. Today the ball went through the sand and came to rest in the fringe of grass on the far side of the pit. His pitch left him a six-foot putt which he canned for a birdie, to go one up. Ouimet having par four.

Another long sock followed at the second, but this time a slight pull took it to the fourteenth fairway that parallels the second at this point. He had a good lie, his approach found the green and he was down in two putts for a par four. Ouimet was short with his second and took a five.

After halving the third in par figures, Bobby went three up at the

MOTHER'S MURDER LAID TO STREATOR YOUTH BY JURORS

Illinois Suspect May Surrender, It Is Reported. Testimony Indicates He Was Disinherited.

Streator, Ill., August 26.—(AP)—A coroner's jury tonight agreed that Harry Hill, missing Streator youth, shot and killed his mother, Mrs. H. C. Hill, whose body was found buried in the basement of her home here last Monday. The jury recommended that young Hill be apprehended and held to the county grand jury on a charge of murder.

The youth's father, Dr. H. C. Hill, was not asked to testify by the jury. Nine witnesses gave testimony tonight.

Youth May Surrender.

Hurried and unexplained trips away from Streator by Dr. Hill and officers working on the Hill homicide case today gave rise to the report that young Hill would surrender.

Dr. Hill is believed to have left late last night in company with an attorney and William Robb, chief of police. They returned today. Hill and his attorney declining to comment and Robb denying he had left Streator. His brother, however, said he was away all night.

After their return Russell Hanson, state's attorney, and William Clark, sheriff, drove hurriedly out of the city, remaining away several hours. They also refused information.

A young man seen asleep in an automobile near St. Louis today was thought to have been Hill and a bowling alley attendant was arrested in Chicago because he resembled the Streator youth. He later was released.

Today, the day she was to have met her sweetheart, Harry Hill, in Chicago, Alice Sawyer reiterated her belief in his innocence and cited his care-free attitude as proof of it.

SON DISINHERITED, EVIDENCE SHOWN.
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.)

Chicago, Ill., August 26.—Evidence tending to show that Mrs. Eliza A. Hill, wealthy Streator, Ill., recluse, had drawn a will disinheriting her son, Harry D. Hill, was brought out tonight at the inquest into her death, conducted by Coroner L. D. Howe, of LaSalle county, in the Streator city hall.

Whether this had a bearing on the killing of Mrs. Hill, whose body was found buried in the basement of her home in Streator, will be considered by the authorities Saturday. So far no investigation has been made of how the woman who was slain intended to dispose of her extensive properties.

ELK HILLS OIL RECEIVERSHIP IS TERMINATED

Los Angeles, August 26.—(AP)—The long standing controversy between the government and the E. L. Doheny interests over oil leases in federal reserves Nos. 1 and 2 in the Elk Hills fields of Kern county, was terminated today when Federal Judge Paul McCormick discharged the receivership which three years ago was placed over the Pan-American Western Petroleum company, operator of the leases.

From the date that the receivership became effective, March 17, 1924, until August 24 last, federal records show that the former Doheny holdings netted the government a total of $12,369,000.81.

A surprise in the concluding chapter of the famous oil lease case was the small fee asked by the receivers, Admiral Harry H. Rousseau, retired, and J. Compton Anderson. They presented a bill for $12,653.31, which was said by government officers to have been one of the most modest ever presented in a case involving millions of dollars.

Both men said they felt they had only performed their duty and that the only compensation desired was the equivalent of what they had lost through neglecting private businesses.

CAVE-IN VICTIM RESCUED ALIVE 30 HOURS LATER

HOPE AND GLOOM ASSAIL WORKERS

Three Hours Before Rescue of Sufferer Victory Is Snatched From Comrades by New Cave-In.

Worcester, Mass., August 27.—(AP)—Fred Lenau, of Auburn, imprisoned since 6:30 o'clock Thursday night in a 40 foot well by a cave-in was brought to the surface alive at 12:45 this morning.

Only a few moments before Lenau's body was lifted from the well did a hint come that his rescue was about to be effected. A stretcher and hot water bags were taken to the edge of the pit.

Races To Hospital.

As soon as he was on the surface he was placed in an ambulance where waited Dr. Richard Shanahan, Mrs. Lenau and the Rev. A. B. O'Grady. While the physician administered first aid, the ambulance raced the three miles to Worcester city hospital. Lenau still was conscious when rescued but no effort was made at the well mouth to determine whether he was injured.

A few minutes later word came back from the hospital that Lenau had no broken bones and that his general condition was good under the circumstances.

Grateful To Rescuers.

"The worst of my experience," he told his wife, "was the board pressing against my chest which made it difficult to breathe. I never gave up hope. I am very grateful to my rescuers."

His physicians would not permit him to say more at this time.

Crowds Cheer.

The crowds, which had patiently waited near the well mouth during the long hour when frequent earth slides again and again upset hope of rescue.

WOMEN DEMAND PARTY DRY PLANKS

W. C. T. U. to Boycott Either Major Party Failing to Include Prohi Board in Platform.

Minneapolis, August 26.—(AP)—Gaining momentum at each session, a movement demanding bone dry planks in the platforms of major political parties for the next presidential election neared a climax tonight at the annual national convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance union.

Making the first preliminary steps in their own platform, the "white ribboners" drafted resolutions pledging the organization to boycott the major political tickets and counter with a ticket of their own unless their demands are met.

Senator James Reed, of Missouri, who has been mentioned as a prospective democratic candidate for president, was singled out by Mrs. Nellie G. Burger, president of the Missouri W. C. T. U., a principal speaker at tonight's meeting, as "one who is unworthy of the support of the 600,000 members of the union" because of what she said were anti-prohibition tendencies.

"My Senator Reed, champion and friend of the wets, long-time foe to prohibition and assailant of the 18th amendment to the constitution, will not satisfy the dry women," Mrs Burger said. "I cannot visualize the man, whom I saw before the senate committee hearing making demonstrations and explaining the easy processes of distilling liquor and explaining the ease of the violation of the Volstead law, serving as a president of these United States of America and urging the people to uphold his hands as he administers the law of the land."

THREE-CENT GAS CUT ANNOUNCED BY WOFFORD CO.

Cut of three cents in the price of gasoline was announced Friday night by the Wofford Oil company. This will bring the price to 18 cents on Wocco Pep and Purol gasoline at the opening of the stations this morning.

In announcing the reduction, attention was called to the fact that in other sections of the country, benzol blends of gasoline have commanded a higher price than the ordinary varieties. The gasoline will retain the same "anti-knock" features heretofore attributed to the fuel, the announcement stated.

WIFE EXPECTING CABLEGRAM TODAY

If Plane Trip Is Success Daring Brunswick Aviator Will Reach Goal Tonight.

Caracas, Venezuela, August 26.—(AP) Notwithstanding a close watch in the Orinoca valley, Paul Redfern, American aviator on his way to Rio de Janeiro, was not sighted today.

RIO PREPARES TO WELCOME FLIER.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, August 26—(AP)—Brazilians are displaying unusual interest in the flight of the Georgia aviator, Paul Redfern, inasmuch as he has fixed Brazil as the goal. When the newspaper Correio da Manha blew a powerful siren this afternoon the populace hurried to the bulletin board to read the announcement of the news that the plane had been sighted east of the Bahamas proceeding southward. Many read and reread the notice, staring as if fascinated over the idea of his reaching the goal.

The Brazilian government completed arrangements today at the flying field, Camp Affonso, for receiving the American flier. Special reflectors for powerful lights about the field have been installed by the navy department.

Rio de Janeiro newspapers, both this morning and this evening, carried large photographs of America's new sky pilot, whose intercontinent flight is described with such adjectives as stupendous, extraordinary, audacious and formidable.

WIFE EXPRESSES FAITH IN REDFERN.

Brunswick, Ga., August 26.—(AP)—Confidence that Paul R. Redfern is winging his way swiftly and surely toward his goal was expressed tonight by Paul J. Varner, chairman of the local committee in charge of arrangements for the young pilot's Brunswick-Brazil flight.

The absence of definite news of the Port of Brunswick did not disturb his optimism, but after reading weather reports showing that Redfern would have encountered moderate headwinds over the Caribbean sea which may have checked the monoplane's speed, he essayed the prediction that the airman probably would be forced to alight at Para, Brazil, some 1,500 miles north of his chief objective—Rio de Janeiro.

Varner's faith in the success of the undertaking was shared by Redfern's young wife, who maintained a calm self-possession. She plainly showed her anxiety, however, when she called

Bandit's Shot Ends Romance Of Teachers

Pomona, Calif., August 26.—(AP)—A romance which budded during the travel tour of 19 teachers through Old Mexico was tragically shattered by a bullet from a rebel marauder's rifle which tore through a Pullman coach and ended the life of Florence M. Anderson near Acoponeta, Nayarit, early this week.

When the saddened remaining members of the party reached here today it was revealed that Miss Anderson had become engaged to Frederick Boehme, of Stockton, Calif., another teacher, who remained in the hospital at Mazatlan, to which the wounded girl was taken, until death claimed his bride-to-be.

The travelers were sleeping when the train on which they were riding with 30 Mexican rurales, entered a narrow canyon 12 kilometers from Acoponeta. The guards, according to Miss Corinne Embree, of Glendora, Calif., threw themselves to the floor of the car when the bullets crashed into the sides of the wooden coaches.

"The engineer was the only one to return the fire. All of us were awakened when the first shots came out of the early morning darkness. It seemed only a few moments until we heard Florence groan.

"'Fred, oh Fred! I'm shot,' she cried to Boehme.

"We did all we could for her. When the train reached Acoponeta she was given first-aid treatment by the Mexican Red Cross but we were forced to proceed when it was reported that the attackers were again coming upon us. Mr. Boehme went with Florence to the hospital at Mazatlan. We did not think at the time that her wound was serious."

SMUGGLING PACT MAY BE AMENDED; MEET IS CALLED

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, August 26.—Smuggling of liquor and other commodities across the border will be the subject of a conference between American and Canadian officials in Washington, commencing Monday.

Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury, in discussing plans for the conference today, said that many phases of customs matters will come up for consideration. Some changes in the smuggling treaty of 1924 may be recommended.

Sixteen or more officials of the American government will participate in the conference. Mr. Lowman will head the American delegation and will be assisted by officials of the customs and prohibition bureaus of the coast guard and by representatives of the state department and the department of justice.

Battered Ocean Liners

Tell Story of Storm

BY SAM LOVE.

New York, August 26.—(United News.)—Five battered ocean liners arrived here today to disgorge hundreds of bruised and still frightened passengers after passing through a tropical hurricane that howled at a peak intensity of 110 miles an hour.

Mountainous seas, appearing without warning when the wind struck, tilted the Martha Washington 43 degrees, two degrees from capsizing. The liner, with her powerful engines and palatial fittings, was tossed like a canoe in the churning wake of a battleship.

The terror of helplessness reigned for hours among the Martha Washington's 617 passengers, including many notables.

A sixth liner, the Vanderalle, outward bound, had her bridge and lifeboats torn away and was forced to turn back to Halifax when the storm abated.

The Red D liner Maracaibo was struck by the hurricane Tuesday between Barbadoes and Cape Hatteras. Towering seas broke over the small ship and the wind reached a velocity of 100 miles an hour.

The 20,000-ton steamship Resolute of the Hamburg-American line was shaken by an 80-mile an hour wind that blew for hours, injuring several of the 803 passengers.

The 14,000-ton Vildfugl picked up the United States weather bureau hurricane warnings and changed her course, avoiding the hurricane by running at full speed from its path.

The Santa Marta and the Yoro, fruit lines steamers, came in many hours later. Though they were on the outer fringes of the disturbances, they were badly battered.

Officers Worn.

Officers and passengers of the Martha Washington were exhausted by their ordeal when the ship docked. Some of the passengers wept hysterically while they were greeted by loved ones.

Frank Vreeland, a New York newspaperman, who was a passenger, described the unexpected adventure.

"When the storm struck," he said, "the dining room was half occupied. The ship plunged with a startling lurch. Chairs slithered across the room, catching waiters unawares and knocking them down.

"Women screamed. Cries of alarm arose all over the ship. From the steerage arose the failing of women, who clung to their shreiking children and for 10 hours there was no let-up in their mournful cries of fear."

Officers watched the barometer with alarm. The column of mercury dropped five degrees in four hours—an unprecedented fall. Then came the dreadful listing. The liner tilted sidewise until her funnels seemed likely to dip into the waves. She raced along that way for an interminable moment, righted and listed again.

Radio Crippled.

Part of the wireless antenna had been blown away. For three hours Guy Srassineti, George Segino and Hubert Dandolfo labored to make repairs. The wind was blowing the tops off the waves and driving the drops of water across the ship like bullets. None could stay exposed to the storm much more than five minutes without exhaustion. They worked in relays and finally made repairs.

A message was then picked up from the Vanderalle, bound for France from Halifax, reporting that the bridge and lifeboats had been swept away and the vessel was in danger of sinking. Although the Martha Washington's commander had given up keeping on his course and was merely trying to keep her head into the storm, plans were being made to put out to aid the Vanderalle when another radio said the hurricane's intensity had abated and the Vanderalle's captain thought he could make it back to Halifax.

The clouds parted above the pitching, rolling ship. Blue and untroubled sky opened overhead.

"The sun appeared and shone brilliantly," said Vreeland, "and off on the horizon formed a large, perfect rainbow. Then the storm struck its

Coroner Testifies He Found Two Defendants, Apparently Asleep in Room in Willis Home.

Greenville, S. C., August 26.—(AP)—The state called upon subordinates and fellow officers of Sheriff Sam D. Willis today in its effort to convict the slain officer's young widow and Henry S. Townsend, his deputy, and bosom friend, of his midnight murder.

But the defense, by unrelenting cross-examination, succeeded in drawing from one of them, Ben Parrish, who was Willis' chief deputy, that he and Townsend were not friendly, and that a "coldness" existed between him and Mrs. Ethel Willis. Parrish was not permitted to explain the reason for this coldness.

The former chief deputy, quizzed by James H. Price, of defense staff, admitted that he had at one time tried to have Sheriff Willis discharge Townsend, but denied that he and other deputies were jealous of the 32-year-old war buddy of their chief.

Footprints Figure.

The prosecution centered its efforts today on proving the resemblance between footprints of a man and woman found at the scene and the shoes of the defendants, and at the same time appeared to be trying to forestall any attempt of defense withnesses to account for the tracks by showing that no one was allowed to enter the garage after Sheriff Willis had been shot down by four .32 caliber steel-jacketed bullets.

Testimony that Townsend and Mrs. Willis were lying beside each other on a bed in her bedroom apparently asleep, within three hours of the tragedy, was given by John L. Parks, coroner, who acted as sheriff pending the appointment of a successor to the slain officer.

Parks swore also that Townsend was drunk, nauseated, and smelling of whisky a short time after Willis was shot, but E. L. Craigie, another Willis deputy, and Sergeant William Cox, of the city police department, both testified that Townsend seemed to them to be normal when they talked with him within an hour or so of the tragedy.

The coroner swore further that he had discovered the print of a man's foot, with the toe pointing down, on a bag of ice cream salt in Mrs. Willis' car, when he examined the groceries found in the automobile. Upon demand of Proctor A. Bonham, who conducted the cross-examination that the witness take a sack of salt introduced in evidence by Mr. Bonham, and show the jury how the print was made, the coroner declined, saying he could make the track if he had mud on his feet.

Battle Over Time.

The defense sought to show by cross questioning L. W. Hammond, chief of the city detective force, that the footprints made in soft earth of the garage floor would remain fresh for two or three days on account of the protection from the weather but the witness stubbornly maintained that the tracks in question had in his opinion been made a short time before the sheriff was shot.

Bears Halt Coolidge's Auto

Begging for Candy and Nuts

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Yellowstone National Park, Wyo., August 26.—About as suddenly as he made up his mind to visit Yellowstone park, President Coolidge decided to leave it. His New England conscience will not permit him to stay away from his desk any longer and he has had enough of fishing for the present.

The presidential party will leave Canyon Park hotel at 7 o'clock in the morning for the Cody Gateway and then will board a special Burlington train for the trip to Rapid City which will be reached early Sunday morning.

Today the president went sightseeing again, taking his place with the tourists in gazing over Inspiration Point at the tinted marvels of the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone.

On a crag, far below, the nest of an Osprey, or fish hawk, could be seen. Two young birds were sitting on the edge of the nest and the president watched while one of the parents swooped down hundreds of feet to the foaming rapid and brought back a good sized fish in its talons.

Instead of feeding the plaintive youngsters, whose shrill cries could be heard above the roar of the stream and the pine tree wind, the bird perched below, away from the nest. Then the other parent bird flew away to the food supply in the stream. As an amateur ethnologist, the president observed that this was probably a lesson in flying and fish catching, as the time is at hand when these birds must make their own way in the world. As the group stood watching, one of the young birds flew away on wavering wings.

Bears held up the presidential autos on the trip to the hotel. Half a dozen of them, mother and cubs, came out of the forest, got in the paths of the cars and stood begging for candy and nuts. Mrs. Coolidge fed them, but the president does not seem as interested in bears as he is in birds. The cubs climb trees at first sight of an auto but soon come down to get food as they see their mother approach this strange monster and these dangerous men fearlessly.

The president rested this afternoon and received members of the Wyoming Editorial association who are touring the park. An effort is being made to have him stop at the Custer battlefield tomorrow, but he seems anxious to get home.

The president had for dinner tonight, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Child. Mr. Child is the builder of the Yellowstone chain of hotels and owner of the transportation system of hundreds of busses. Grouse from Idaho sent by S. W. Guggenheim were served at the table.

MEXICAN RADICALS SEIZE U. S. MINE, BESIEGE WORKERS

Eighteen Americans and 11 Britons Seek Safety Behind Barricades; Government Promises Aid.

Washington, August 26.—(AP)—A report that the American-owned plant of the Amparo Mining company in the state of Jalisco, Mexico, had been seized by radicals and that 18 Americans and 11 British subjects were besieged in their homes near the mines was received today by the state department from Consul Joseph C. Satterwhite at Guadalajara.

Later word came from the American embassy at Mexico City that the acting foreign minister had given assurance that the military had the situation at the Amparo mines in hand. He reported also, the message said, that the "situation" of the besieged group of foreigners was "satisfactory."

Names Not Given.

The embassy's telegram gave no details and did not disclose whether the Americans and British had found it possible to terminate their barricade. Neither that message nor the one from Consul Satterwhite gave the identity of the Americans involved.

Several days ago Satterwhite reported to the state department that on last Sunday labor agitators had gone to the Amparo mines from Guadalajara, 40 miles to the east, in an attempt to incite Mexican workmen to take action against foreigners in the event of the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti. His report today made no direct reference to such propaganda, but said that the mining property was seized yesterday by "red syndicates."

Satterwhite reported that all foreigners had left the mine surroundings and taken refuge in Guadalajara except the 18 Americans and 11 British at Amparo itself.

Satisfied Authorities.

The state department revealed also that Satterwhite, accompanied by the British consul, had on last Sunday drawn the attention of the federal military commander at Guadalajara to the anti-foreign propaganda which was being spread at Amparo, and to the evil results which might come from it.

The state department is awaiting further details as to the safety of the Americans at Amparo and as to measures the Mexican authorities are taking to protect American life and property. For the time being the embassy in Mexico City is in charge of the situation.

No additional word reached the department today regarding the attack Tuesday by Mexican bandits on a train near Acaponeta, which resulted in the death of Miss Florence Anderson, of Los Angeles, and what success has been met in rounding up and punishing the brigands.

PROTECTION OF MINES ORDERED BY CALLES.

Mexico City, August 26.—(AP)—President Calles, El Grafico says, has ordered the military authorities in Jalisco to afford full protection to the American mining properties seized by "red" mine workers.

This action had been taken at the request of the manager of an Amparo mine who was forced by strikers to abandon his office.

STAGE AND SCREEN ROMANCE NEAR END

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Hollywood, Calif., August 26.—An advertisement in a local legal paper states that Lowell Sherman, stage actor, now in New York, will no longer be responsible for debts incurred by Mrs. Sherman (Pauline Garon).

Miss Garon intends, she says, to sue for divorce. She is a blonde screen actress of French birth.

STREAMS OF WATER DRIVE BACK REDS

Large Number of Police and Soldiers Cut and Bruised—Fifteen Arrests Made.

Cherbourg, France, August 26.—(AP) The American consulate at this place was the object of a furious attack tonight by a great mob of Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers. In an endeavor to protect the consulate police, mounted gendarmes and soldiers came into hand-to-hand encounters with the rioters, while firemen, using streams of water, drove the advancing forces back at various points, but were unable to disperse them.

First there was a meeting of protest against the Sacco-Vanzetti executions, then a concentrated movement against the consulate. About midnight the mob had increased greatly in numbers, and savagely stoned the defenders of the consulate. They were repeatedly charged by mounted gendarmes and artillerymen, but reformed their ranks again and again.

They raised a barricade of coal wagons and barrels which was stormed by colonial infantry. A large number of police and soldiers were cut and bruised, but none seriously. There was a report that one man had been killed. Fifteen of the rioters arrested were brought to the consulate, which was transformed into a temporary police station.

POLICE INSPECTOR STABBED IN PARIS.

Havre, France, August 26.—(AP)—Police Inspector Rivoalian was stabbed and thrown out of a hall in which a Sacco-Vanzetti protest meeting was being carried on here last night. The police official was injured so seriously that he was taken to a hospital.

POLICE OPPOSE PLAN FOR REDS' FUNERAL.

Boston, August 26.—(United News) The Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee and Boston police are at odds over the line of march to be followed by the funeral procession Sunday afternoon. Late today police issued a permit for a 30-piece band to march at the head of the column. The permit prescribed a direct route to the cemetery from the northend Italian quarter and omitted the statehouse from the line of march.

As a result of this change, the defense committee tonight said it would not accept the permit and would march without a band over the route it originally planned. The committee said it did not intend to apply for a funeral permit as required where more than 200 mourners are present, as it maintained there will be less than that number of "official" mourners.

Police and the committee are also at loggerheads over the question of a hearse. The committee desires, in accordance with Italian custom, to have the bodies carried by relays of pallbearers part way to the Forest Hills cemetery, while the police insist they must be conveyed in a hearse over the entire route.

The committee declined to say definitely tonight whether it would stick to its original plan and do without a hearse.

Hundreds of persons from every walk of life crowded into Joseph A. Langone's small funeral parlor today to view the remains of the two famous anarchists. The bodies will lie in state until Sunday, and after the funeral they will be cremated.

LAFAYETTE ROAD BODY MEETS IN SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., August 26.—(AP)—The importance of advertising as the major step forward of their organization was the keynote of the Lafayette Highway association, which convened at 10 o'clock this morning in Hotel Savannah.

The visitors were welcomed to Savannah by Acting Mayor Heynes and other addresses were made by J. J. Lawton, of Hartsville, S. C., president of the association; H. A. Moses, of Sumter, S. C., chairman of the publicity committee; J. J. Riley, of Sumter, S. C., secretary-treasurer; C. B. Ruffin, of Bishopville, S. C., and S. N. Harris, of Savannah.

After adjournment early in the afternoon the visitors were tendered a shore dinner at the Shrine country club by the Savannah Motor club. Edgar L. Wortsman, president of the club, and Frank C. Battey, a director, were the principal speakers at the dinner. Later in the afternoon they were taken for an automobile ride about Chatham county roads before departing for their homes.

HARDMAN LEAVES ON VACATION TRIP

Governor L. G. Hardman left Atlanta Friday on the first vacation trip he has taken since he was inaugurated in June. The governor went to Commerce, his home town, where he will spend Sunday and will then go to his farm in Nacoochee valley. He will return to his desk at the capitol in about ten days.

Work of listing the last of the 399 bills passed by the legislature and signed by the governor was finished Friday. The governor vetoed only two measures, both being Butts county local bills. The legislature over-rode the governor's veto on these measures.

Seven general bills which attracted state-wide attention at the time they were up for passage in the recent session of the general assembly were included in the list of measures signed by Governor Hardman. They were:

The motor vehicle law, under which the basis for license rates was changed from horsepower to weight and the state speed limit increased from 30 to 40 miles per hour.

An act to allow husband and wife to testify against each other in cases of an offense committed by the one against the other.

A bill to make operative the existing law under which public service corporations may condemn public roads for right-of-way to be flooded for power sites, by serving county or state authorities in control of the road with proper processes, and by providing a new road to take the place of the one flooded.

A measure under which the federal government is ceded complete authority over the land on which federal buildings are erected in the state, without which, it was said by advocates of the bill, no more land for federal buildings would have been bought in Georgia.

The grade crossing act under which county and state road authorities are empowered to direct elimination of grade crossings on railroads, the expense to be borne equally by the railroad and the agency in charge of the given road.

A bill to require the commissioner of agriculture to post bond of $50,000 for the faithful performance of his duties.

An appropriation of $3,295 for the state school for the deaf at Cave Springs.

The total of new laws enacted by the 1927 general assembly and approved by the governor was made 399.

KERLIN IS INJURED IN FALL OFF ROOF

C. E. Kerlin, of College Park, was rushed to Gray hospital Friday afternoon about 3 o'clock in a serious condition after he fell off a house on which he had been working, near his home.

At the hospital, doctors stated that he was suffering from internal injuries and several fractured bones.

Only meager details of how and where Mr. Kerlin was injured were given to ambulance drivers and hospital attaches. He was given first aid treatment at a pharmacy in College Park, where an ambulance of A. C. Hemperley & Sons was sent to take him to the hospital.

DEKALB COUNTY SEEKING NAPIER AID IN TAX SUIT

Attorney General George M. Napier has been asked to assist DeKalb county authorities in defending an injunction suit brought to prevent that county from collecting taxes on a large part of the property formerly used by the government as Camp Gordon. The owner of the property recently declined to pay the taxes assessed and brought injunction proceedings to restrain the county from collecting them. The injuction was obtained when the county notified the owner the property would be sold at auction to satisfy tax claims.

Educator Appointed.

Tallahassee, Fla., August 26.—(AP) The appointment of William J. Darden, of Titusville, as a member of the board of public instruction for Brevard county, succeeding W. D. Harris, resigned, was announced today by Governor Martin.

Alabama Libel Law, Fostered By Klan, Beaten

Montgomery, Ala., August 26.—(AP) Abrupt adjournment for the day in the upper house of the Alabama legislature yesterday had the effect of killing for the present legislative session a "libel bill" directed at newspapers and sponsored by Representative Frey, of Jefferson county, while the bill was being debated in the lower house. Only two legislative days remain of the present session and to have become a law the bill should have received a first reading in the senate at yesterday's session.

Just before word of the senate's adjournment reached the house, a test vote, taken on a motion of Representative Goodwin, to have the bill postponed indefinitely, indicated that it would have been passed by the house had the senate remained in session.

The bill, should it have become a law, would have given any city, county or state official civil recourse against any newspaper publishing criticisms of their public actions.

James Esdale, grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan of Alabama, and other klan officials of the state are said to have attended yesterday's session and witnessed the death of the measure of which the Birmingham Age-Herald says "it was generally agreed and sponsored by the organization which Mr. Esdale heads in Alabama." Mr Esdale is reported as having conferred more than once during the debate in the house with Representative George Frey, who introduced the bill.

Both the Age-Herald and the Birmingham News have vigorously attacked the klan in connection with Alabama's recent seige of floggings.

JAPAN DENIES SECRET NAVAL PACT WITH BRITISH

Tokio, August 26.—(AP)—Flat denial was made by the foreign office today that there was any truth in the stories of an Anglo-Japanese secret agreement relating to future naval supremacy. It also denied that there has been talk of revising the present alliance.

Racial Composition Census Is Required By Integrity Law

The racial integrity law passed by the legislature at its recent session is designed to provide for the filing of a census of the racial composition of all people of the state with the registrar of vital statistics, according to a statement made public Friday by Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, secretary of the state board of health.

The law also prohibits the marriage of white persons to any others except white persons and that no ordinary shall issue a license to any white person who desires to marry anyone not a white person.

CITY SALESMEN'S BARBECUE TODAY

Alderman Robert F. Pennington will be "master of barbecue" at Idlewood today when 1,000 guests will be entertained at the thirty-first annual outing of the City Salesmen's association, according to announcement Friday of W. W. Moore, president.

This title has been bestowed on Mr. Pennington because he has personally supervised preparation of the meat and will preside as chief chef when the festivities begin at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Although official observance of the thirty-first birthday of the organization will be begun at 10 o'clock in the morning to continue until 8:30 o'clock tonight, the barbecue will not be served until 1:30 o'clock, it was announced by T. L. Simpson, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Music, dancing and swimming will be on the entertainment program, and other special features also will be included in the program. The Atlanta Bell Hops will furnish the music.

ADDITIONAL DUTIES FOR ARMY OFFICER

Lieutenant Colonel Pat M. Stevens, of Atlanta, has, in addition to his other duties, been detailed by Brigadier General Albert J. Bowley, to act as executive officer of the 309th and 434th field artillery regiments and the headquarters of the corps artillery of the Fourth corps, all of which units have their headquarters in Atlanta. He will perform his duty in the absence of Colonel Andrew E. Williams, of Atlanta, at Walter Reed hospital and until the return of Major Gilbert Marshall, of Atlanta, from leave, when the latter will relieve him.

In addition to the Atlanta units Colonel Stevens acts as executive of the 397th, 427th and 560th field artillery regiments and the 304th observation battalion with headquarters at Alexandria, La., Shreveport, La., Jackson, Miss., and New Orleans, La., respectively.

10 POLICE CHANGES IN NEW SHAKE-UP

Four plainclothesmen were demoted to patrol duty and five patrolmen assigned to plainclothes posts in a new police shake-up announced Friday afternoon by Chief James L. Beavers. This action followed the demotion of E. S. Acree, former vice squad chief, to the ranks.

Former Detectives L. I. Brooks and C. E. McCrary, liquor enforcement officers of the day watch, were assigned to patrol duty on the evening watch, while C. C. Harper and H. C. Newton, vice and liquor squad chiefs, respectively, of the evening watch, were given morning watch patrol duty.

Patrolmen who replaced them are A. C. Sinyard, R. D. DuPre, J. H. Crankshaw, W. J. Stephens and W. J. Anderson.

3 BANDITS HOLD UP JACKSONVILLE BANK

Jacksonville, August 26.—(AP)—Three bandits held up the Riverside Atlantic bank, of Riverside, this afternoon and escaped with loot estimated at close to $1,500.

The robbery took place around 1:30 p. m. when only three employees and one customer were in the building, all of whom were lined up against the wall by one of the bandits, as his two companions rifled the bank. Riverside is one of Jacksonville's principal residential sections.

PISTOL NOT TOUCHED DYAL'S WIDOW SAYS

Jesup, Ga., August 27.—(AP)—Preliminary hearing on the case of Captain J. W. Kemp, accused with Chief W. B. Aycock, of the Wayne county police, of the killing Tuesday of Ernest Dyal, prominent young McRae man, will be held tomorrow. Aycock, who claims that he shot Dyal when the latter menaced him with a pistol, has not requested a hearing and his part in the affray will not be legally deliberated upon Saturday, according to a statement tonight from Solicitor General W. B. Gibbs, of the Brunswick judicial circuit.

Captain Kemp, an officer of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad police, requested an airing of the charges against him immediately after his arrest on a technical charge of murder. The railroad officer was with Aycock at the time Aycock shot the young south Georgian, but Sheriff J. O. Mattox, of Wayne county, and others have repeatedly asserted the belief that Kemp was innocent of any participation in the affair but was accompanying Chief Aycock on a trip to investigate a case involving the railroad when Dyal and his two-months bride, who witnessed the slaying, were encountered on the road near here.

Solicitor General Gibbs stated that unless Aycock demanded a hearing, the natural course of law would not consider his case until the grand jury meets in November, prior to the next session of superior court, which convenes the third Monday in November.

Mrs. Dyal today, in her first detailed statement since the shooting, denied the charges attributed to Aycock that her husband drew a pistol on the officer when the latter approached their car after it came to a stop on the road last Tuesday. She declared that a pistol, said by Aycock to have been picked up from the floor of the car after the shooting, had not been taken from the pocket in the car door before Aycock started his trip to Jesup with the man he had killed.

Mrs. Dyal, who got out of the car after the affray, was brought to Jesup by passersby, while Aycock took the wheel of the Dyal automobile and drove it to an undertaking parlor.

PRISONERS PLACED IN WARE JAIL.

Waycross, Ga., August 26.—(AP)—Chief Aycock of the Wayne county police, and Captain J. R. Kemp of the Atlantic Coast Line police, were brought to the Ware county jail tonight for safekeeping. It is understood that Captain Kemp will be taken by the Atlantic Coast Line authorities to Jesup Saturday for a preliminary trial.

It is also understood that Chief Aycock will remain in the Ware county jail and that a preliminary hearing will be postponed. Sheriff Mattox, of Wayne county, who brought the two men here, has returned to Jesup.

PRISONERS SPEND NIGHT IN SAVANNAH.

Savannah, Ga., August 26.—(AP)—Savannah last night and early today was the center of interest in developments arising from the fatal shooting Tuesday by W. B. Aycock, chief of the Wayne county police, of Ernest Dyal, of McRae. Sheriff Mattox, of Wayne county, brought the prisoners, Chief Aycock and J. R. Kemp, of Savannah, Atlantic Coast Line police officer, who was with Chief Aycock when the fatality occurred, to this city, and after spending the night here left with them in an automobile.

Captain A. L. Thornton, of the Coast Line police, brought to Savannah an order from W. B. Gibbs, solicitor-general of the Brunswick district, authorizing Sheriff Dixon, of Chatham county, to turn Kemp over to the Coast Line authorities, who were to produce him in Jesup tomorrow morning for a preliminary hearing. Sheriff Dixon, stating the prisoners were not in his custody, indorsed the order over to Sheriff Mattox, of Wayne county.

Sheriff Mattox left Savannah this morning in an automobile with the prisoners, destination unannounced.

KEMP TRIAL SET FOR TODAY.

Jesup, Ga., August 26.—(AP)—Captain J. W. Kemp, held in connection with the slaying of Ernest Dyal Tuesday, will be given a preliminary hearing Saturday morning, but Chief W. B. Aycock of the Wayne county police, who killed Dyal, has not demanded a hearing.

It was reported tonight that both Aycock and Kemp are in Waycross.

REAR END HUMOR ON AUTOMOBILES OKAY, SAYS JUDGE

A sign, "Don't laugh at me girls. If you had all your paint off you would look like h—l, too," on the rear of an automobile is perfectly within the law, according to a ruling by Judge Murphy M. Holloway in police court late Thursday afternoon.

W. T. Russell, of 392 Ormond street, was arraigned in court on a traffic charge and Patrolman T. E. Brown, who docketed a parking law violation against Russell, told Judge Holloway of the sign on the rear of the car and wondered if something should be done about it.

Recorder Holloway ruled that he saw nothing particularly offensive in the automobile's frank admission and remarked that the sign seemed intended solely in a humorous vein.

HERE'S ANSWER WHY CHICKEN CROSSES ROAD

In Marshall county the farmers suggest it may be to avoid being tattooed. Chickens there are to have identifying marks tattooed into the web of the wing as a check against chicken thefts.

JONESES REUNITE.

Descendants of DeKalb Pioneer Gather at Grant Park.

A prominent division of the great Jones family, descendants of Rev. Robert Jones, pioneer DeKalb citizen, assembled Friday at Grant park for an annual reunion, the twenty-second. Hundreds of Joneses came together at the meeting place, for the invitation had included all relatives, direct and indirect.

Just prior to the noonday meal, the family records were brought up to date as to new arrivals in the family circle since the last reunion.

Randall Quits; Nicholson Gets Nu-Grape Office

Resignation of R. O. Randall, vice president and general manager of the Nu-Grape Company of America, and appointment of E. B. Nicholson, former vice president and secretary, to the position thus left vacant, was announced Friday.

O. R. RANDALL.

Mr. Randall has held his position since 1922 and has built up the Nu-Grape company from a modest beginning until it is ranked with leading bottling concerns of the country. His sales plans and policies have prevented the necessity of increasing the capital stock of the concern from $33,000, the first issue. While no announcement of his plans was made, it is understood that he will form a connection with another outstanding bottling company.

During the past four years, the company has paid $1,300,000 in stock dividends and has established branches in 46 states of the union. Annual sale of Nu-Grape last year was more than 150,000,000 bottles.

The retiring chief of the company, who is the highest ranking officer in Atlanta, was born in Franklin county, Georgia, in 1876, and is widely known throughout the state. He lives at 1343 Briarcliff road.

Headquarters of the company are maintained in Atlanta, but divisional offices are located at Baltimore, Dallas, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Chicago, Little Rock and Los Angeles. More than 600 bottling plants are scattered throughout the nation at the present time.

Mr. Nicholson has been connected with the company for the past several years and has been thoroughly schooled in the policies of the concern. Friday he was receiving the congratulations of a host of friends throughout the state on his elevation to the post of general manager.

C. R. Snyder, 83, former warehouse superintendent with the V. H. Kreigshaber & Son company here, died Friday at his residence in Tampa, Fla., after a brief illness. Mr. Snyder was with the Kreigshaber firm for more than 18 years. Prior to this service he was a prominent building material dealer in Atlanta.

Mr. Snyder went to the Florida city about four years ago when ill health demanded a change of climate.

He was connected with the Chicago-Tampa Developing company for several years prior to his death. He was an active member of the Tampa Episcopal church and well known in the Florida city.

Mr. Snyder is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. John Bowden, and a stepson, J. W. Osteen, of Atlanta. The body will be brought to Atlanta for funeral services and interment, the time to be announced later.

40,000 FISHHOOKS!

Atlanta Firm Receives Big Order From Norway.

BY BEN COOPER.

Gosh all fishhooks! President Coolidge must have made this sport of catching the wary trout mighty popular over the nation with the news stories of his adventures with a few worms and a rod and reel.

In Friday's mail to V. O. Kimsey, deputy collector of customs in charge of the Atlanta district, there came 40,000 fishhooks consigned to a wholesale firm in this section.

Everything from a tiny barb to hook the little minnows to a "whale" of a hook for the ten pounders is included in the package from Norway, and, according to indications, the finny tribe is in a precarious condition if all of the newly arrived hooks are set in action soon.

The news in this story really is the fact that the fishhooks came by mail, for, quoting Mr. Kimsey: "We frequently receive large shipments of fishhooks here, but generally they come by express or freight. It is unusual to receive 40,000 by mail."

This is not an advertising story. If you don't believe it, take cognizance of the fact that the name of the firm to whom the hooks were consigned is not mentioned, for the customs people have a rule not to announce the destination of parcels received by them.

ALABAMA JURY SUMMONED FOR FLOGGING CASES

Birmingham, Ala., August 26.—(AP) A special session of the Jefferson county grand jury has been called for September 6 to investigate recent floggings and more than 100 witnesses have been summoned to appear, it was learned today at the office of Solicitor James Davis.

Cases to be investigated are floggings of Arthur Hitt, negro; Dan Mitchell and Eston Murchison. In addition it was understood that the grand jury would inquire into threats made to Solicitor Davis for his inquiries into masked floggings.

Hitt was whipped and frightened into disposing of a tract of valuable land for a small sum. Mitchell, who is of foreign birth, was flogged because he "married an American woman" and Murchison because "he went riding with two strange girls."

Hammond Won't Serve.

Washington, August 26.—(AP)—John Hays Hammond, Jr., who was named as one of the American delegates to the International Radio convention here in October has notified his associates of his inability to serve.

DEATHS IN STORM INCREASE TO 13

Boston, August 26.—(AP)—Thirteen deaths, three of which were in Newfoundland and ten in Nova Scotia, have been reported as part of the toll of the gale which swept the north Atlantic coast yesterday, inflicting tremendous losses on maritime and agricultural interests and lines of communications. The closest survey today revealed that three vessels had been wrecked, costing two lives, a third person was drowned and a fourth is missing in the wake of the storm's passage over St. Johns, Newfoundland.

A search of the wreckage of the schooner Sligo today yielded the body of a 14-year-old boy, trapped and drowned in the forecastle, and raised the total fatalities of the storm near Halifax to ten. Others of the crew are missing and may swell the list of those who perished in the gale.

Gaunt Souvenirs.

Gaunt souvenirs of the storm's fury were straggling into port here today. Dismasted vessels stripped of small boats and other gear testified to the damage done to the fishing fleets.

Three schooners, two from Gloucester and one from Portland, were reported aground and a coastwise schooner, badly damaged, was towed into Vineyard Haven today.

A tale of hardship as a woman and seven men huddled on top of the afterhouse for 38 hours was related when the Parrsboro, N. S., schooner Minas Princess, was towed into Vineyard Haven by a coast guard vessel. The schooner, hit by the gale on Wednesday when 25 miles north of Cape Cod, filled with water and lost her main and mizzenmasts. The only place of shelter was the top of the afterhouse. There the captain and crew of six men, with Mrs. Lorway Morris, wife of the second mate, stayed for 23 hours before the destroyer Henley came alongside Thursday afternoon. They had a little food but no water.

When the destroyer offered to take Mrs. Morris aboard she refused, saying she would stay with her husband. Neither she nor members of the crew suffered any serious effects from their experience.

DEAD MAN IS FOUND ON SCHOONER LOCKLAND.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, August 26.—(United News.)—The schooner J. C. Lockland was found bottom up today four miles off Ship Cove in Placentia bay with a dead man lashed in the rigging. There was no trace of the remainder of the crew.

This discovery brought the known drowned to two as additional reports of Thursday's storm havoc continued to come in.

Albert Cloutt of the schooner Noxhall was lost, Captain Kearley reported, when he arrived at Flat Rock, near here, with five of his men. The Noxhall, laden with coal, was cut through the bows in collision with the tanker Veda McCoan Thursday morning. The crew put off in dories and arrived exhausted by hours of fighting heavy seas.

Reports from the Conception bay area, where there are many towns and small settlements, indicated that the storm not only damaged the waterfront but that inland dwellings and farm buildings suffered. Fences were levelled, trees uprooted and windows and doors blown from houses.

A dispatch from Bona Vista said 25 motorboats representing the fishing equipment of 100 families had been destroyed and waterfront buildings damaged.

TIDAL WAVE TAKES ONE LIFE.

Curling, N. F., August 26.—(AP)—A 90-mile gale swept a tidal wave up Humber Arm, a bay at the mouth of the Humber river in western Newfoundland during the storm which raged all over the island yesterday. One life was lost and extensive damage was done.

BUREAU WARNS SMALL CRAFT.

MRS. DENSMORE FREED AT CUMMING

Cumming, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Mrs. Mae Densmore, 33, was acquitted here Friday morning of a charge of having caused the death of her husband, J. B. Densmore, a wealthy farmer, who died last December under circumstances that aroused the suspicions of his sons and daughters.

It was alleged that the wife fed her husband biscuits made of flour with which calcium arsenate had been mixed.

The trial opened Thursday morning, the evidence and arguments being concluded late that night. Judge John S. Wood charged the jury Friday morning and after deliberating a short time returned the verdict of not guilty.

The trial of Jim Hall, also indicted in the case, was set for the November term of court, but it is reported here that his case may be nol-prossed.

The feature of the trial was the appearance of Mrs. Densmore before the jury, who made a statement from her bed, she being an invalid, it is claimed, since her husband was stricken after having eaten of the alleged poisoned food. As proof of her paralyzed condition, physicians stuck pins in the affected limbs without any apparent pain to the widow.

Densmore was a well-known farmer of Forsyth county and charges against his widow and neighbor Hall caused a sensation in this section last winter.

CHATTANOOGAN HELD IN YOUTH'S DEATH

Chattanooga, Tenn., August 26.—(AP)—Sam Laymon, 35, was held to the grand jury under $10,000 bond this afternoon by Squire Wilkes Thrasher for killing Harold Fridell, 19, at the defendant's dance hall at Lookout Lake, August 13. Witnesses testified that Fridell had made no attack on Lawmon, who jerked a pistol from under his counter when the youth is said to have caused a disturbance on the dance floor. Fridell was a brother of "Froggy" Fridell, University of Chattanooga football player. Laymon gave bond of $10,000 and was released.

FRENCH MINISTER TO INSPECT FORD INDUSTRIAL PLANT

Detroit, August 26.—(AP)—Maurice Bokanowski, minister of commerce and aviation in the French cabinet, arrived today from Toronto, Ont., by airplane to visit Henry Ford and to inspect the industrial plants here.

He was accompanied by his son, Jean Francois, 19 years old, and Garreau Dombasle, an attache of the French embassy at Washington.

The French minister was met by Henry Ford to be escorted through the Ford automobile plants and the airplane factory at Dearborn. He explained his visit as the fulfillment of a desire to meet Mr. Ford and "to see the greatest single industry in the world."

CHINESE ATTACK U. S. DESTROYER

Shanghai, China, August 26.—(AP) So heavy was the fire against the United States destroyer Noa by Nanking nationalists from the south bank of the Yangtse river about Chinkiang yestreday, that the Noa's armament was nearly pierced at various points where hits were scored.

Officers of the Noa reported that the destroyer encountered the fiercest fighting 40 miles below Nanking, when unusually heavy ammunition was used against the American craft. The Noa reached Shanghai tonight and bore evidences of the attack.

The destroyer replied with machine guns and automatic rifles, Springfields, firing 3,000 rounds at the attackers, who were hidden in high grass on the south bank of the Yangtse. There were no American casualties.

The Americans were unable to ascertain if there had been casualties among their attackers.

The Yangtse patrol flagship Isabel, carrying Patrol Commander Admiral Hough, arrived just ahead of the Noa. This vessel also was attacked by nationals and returned fire. The attack occurred while American vessels were convoying three British commercial steamers from Nanking to Shanghai. Officers of the Noa reported that all foreign shipping in the Nanking section of the Yangtse is again subject to attack by both northerners and southerners who face each other from the north and south banks, respectively, of the river.

20 KILLED AS TROOPS CUT RAIL.

Shanghai, August 26.—(United News.)—Twenty persons were killed when warring Chinese troops cut the railway at Anting, on the Yangtse river, in an effort to derail a train carrying Pei Chungtashi, nationalist general.

The wrong train was wrecked.

Chinese troops have cut the same railway—the one to Shanghai—beween Nanking and Shanghai.

It is believed that Nanking, capital of the moderate nationalists, soon will fall before the attack of Sun Chuanfang's northerners.

ALL NOA'S GUNS USED, SAYS LONDON CABLE.

London, August 26. — (United News.)—The American destroyer Noa, fired on in the Yangtze river by Chinese troops, replied with all her guns and with "wonderful accuracy." Sir Percival Phillips, special Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Mail, cabled today.

Many casualties were inflicted by the Noa's fire, the dispatch declares.

Two Continents Watch for Daring Georgia Airman

at the office of The Brunswick News during the afternoon seeking word of the plane's progress only to learn there was none.

Wife Is Confident.

"I hardly expected anything this soon, but I just wanted to be sure," she said, smiling wistfully as she returned to the cottage on St. Simon's Island, where she will remain with friends until she learns the outcome of her husband's hazardous undertaking.

She likewise expressed confidence that Redfern would land safely in some Brazilian city, probably at Para or Pernambuco if not Rio.

"I predict that I shall receive a cablegram tomorrow saying he has landed at Para," said Varner. "The weather reports show that Redfern encountered moderate headwinds across the Caribbean sea which may have checked the speed of the big monoplane. If this is true, Paul probably will find his gasoline supply so low when he arrives at Para that he will circle about the city until daylight and then land."

He estimated that the young flier should arrive over Para in the early hours Saturday morning, pointing out that he was to try for that destination if he found he could not continue to Pernambuco or Rio de Janeiro.

"He has plenty of safety equipment and a plane that will take him to Brazil," he added. "I have not the least doubt that he will make it."

If Redfern managed to maintain his schedule, he was due to have passed into South America tonight between 7 and 9 o'clock, eastern standard time, and, after hopping across Dutch Guiana, would enter Brazil.

Mrs. Redfern and Varner were only two of hundreds of persons who displayed their interest by besieging The News office by telephone and in person for reports of Redfern's progress.

REPORTED SEEN OVER BAHAMAS.

St. Petersburg, Fla., August 26.—(AP)—A radio message from Station 4AFQ, Nassau, picked up here by the Financial Journal's 40-meter wireless station today, said that the "Port of Brunswick," piloted by Paul Redfern on a non-stop flight from Brunswick, Ga., to Brazil, was sighted 300 miles east of the British Bahamas by a steamer which arrived at Nassau at 11:40 last night.

The message said the plane was flying at an altitude of about 2,000 feet headed in a southerly direction.

NOT OBSERVED OVER PORTO RICO.

San Juan, Porto Rico, August 26. (AP)—If Paul Redfern, Georgia aviator who is now en route from Brunswick, Ga., to Rio de Janeiro, passed over Porto Rico in his huge Stinson-Detroiter monoplane during the night, his passage was unobserved so far as known from any reports received here this morning.

Aviators said today that the lighthouses along the coast of Porto Rico as well as the reflected lights of towns and cities on the island would be sufficiently strong to aid him greatly in keeping his course if he came within 25 to 75 miles of the island.

Locally the weather was reported excellent throughout the night.

(Redfern was expected to pass Porto Rico about 2:00 a. m., eastern standard time).

NO REPORT RECEIVED AT MIAMI.

Miami, Fla., August 26.—(AP)—The Hialeah station of the Tropical Radio and Telegraph company early today reported that ships east of the Bahamas and south of Porto Rico had so far failed to sight the monoplane "Port of Brunswick" piloted by Paul Redfern. Radio officials said they have "worked" with several vessels whose positions were reported either directly or near the course as charted by Redfern prior to his "hop off" yesterday afternoon from Brunswick, Ga. All ships have been requested to continue their lookout, officials said.

All ships reported favorable weather, radio officials said.

Richard W. Gray, U. S. meteorologist in Miami, reported that a number of thunderstorms probably were encountered by Redfern east of the Bahamas. One thunderstorm with a wind velocity of approximately 27 miles, moved eastward over Miami late yesterday afternoon.

The naval radio station at Key West was endeavoring this morning to speak to ships in the waters of the Lesser Antilles, but had picked up no traffic from that quarter since yesterday. At that time weather conditions were reported to be favorable.

The government station has broadcast a request to all shipping in the vicinity of Redfern's course to report immediately any information available.

TAMPA STATION GETS NO REPORT.

Tampa, Fla., August 26.—(AP)—No reports from ships or tropical radio stations that Paul Redfern had been sighted winging his way to Brazil had reached the Gulf Radio station here this morning, announced operators who had maintained a constant vigil throughout the night.

"We are not only listening in for any reports of the aviator," operators informed the Associated Press, "but we have asked several of the southern stations to relay any reports they hear from ships or other sources."

FATHER AWAITS NEWS IN COLUMBIA.

Columbia, S. C., August 26.—(AP)—Dr. Frederick C. Redfern, father of Paul Redfern, aviator bound for Brazil, spent a large part of today in the Associated Press offices here, watching intently every bulletin regarding his son's flight. He expressed confidence that the lad would make good.

"When he gets over the Brazilian mainland," Dr. Redfern stated, "he will then determine the supply of gasoline in his tanks. If this is running low he may find it necessary to stop at Para, or he may turn east and make for Pernambuco, in the event he sees Rio de Janeiro cannot be reached. At the same time he felt when he left that he had sufficient quantity of gasoline to put him into the Brazilian metropolis."

Dr. Redfern is dean of Benedict college here. He is a minister and educator, a man of strong character and held in high regard in the community.

VANDALS STRIP BYRD AIRPLANE.

Teterboro, N. J., August 26.—(AP)—The America, in which Commander Byrd and his companions flew to Europe, has been stripped of all removable parts by souvenir hunters.

Ivon R. Gates discovered the condition of the plane today when he went to the workshop formerly used by Clarence D. Chamberlin and in which the America is stored.

The ship is nothing more than a skeleton, he said, not even the name remaining. Control wheels, instruments, parts of the propeller, braces and strips from the large wings have been taken and only the twisted metal tubing of the fuselage of the control cabin, the giant wheels and landing gear and the gasoline tank remain.

COLLEGE BESTOWS DEGREE ON FLIER.

Ames, Iowa, August 26.—(AP)—Clarence D. Chamberlin, New York to Germany flight hero, today returned to Iowa State college which he left a decade ago, to receive a certificate of distinguished service in aviation engineering.

After the exercises at which 76 students were granted degrees as the second summer session closed, Chamberlin was the guest of 300 business men and faculty members of the college at luncheon.

PEDLAR'S MOTHER GOES TO COAST.

The Joys were en route to the west from Miami, Fla., by automobile when Pedlar, with Miss Mildred Doran and Vilas Knope, hopped off from Oakland, Cal., for Honolulu. They had stopped over with relatives here awaiting news of the flight.

HEAD WINDS AGAIN HALT OLD GLORY.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., August 26. (AP)—Head winds for 1,200 miles between here and Newfoundland caused another postponement today in the take-off of the monoplane Old Glory on its proposed flight to Rome.

LINDBERGH REACHES FARGO, NORTH DAKOTA.

COURTNEY PLANS MORE TRIAL FLIGHTS.

Southampton, England, August 25 (AP)—Experts who have been inspecting Captain F. T. Courtney's flying boat, the "Whale," say they find nothing the matter with it. Captain Courtney now talks of making trial flights preparatory to his attempt to cross the Atlantic. He wants to know exactly how much gasoline his machine will lift. This may delay the start for a day or two.

SCHLEE REACHES NEWFOUNDLAND.

Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, August 26.—(United News.)—William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee plan to hop off for Croydon flying field, near London, England, Saturday morning.

They arrived here at 4:15 p. m. today, Newfoundland summer time, in their plane, "Pride of Detroit," in which they plan to make a record-breaking round-the-world trip.

WEATHER FAIR AT PARA.

Para, Brazil, August 26.—(United News.)—At 4:45 p. m., today (545 p. m. E. D. T.) the weather was fair and no rain theratened in this district, over which Paul Redfern is expected to pass on his Brunswick, Ga.-Rio de Janeiro flight.

Blood Test Gives Child To Parents

Omaha, Nebr., August 26.—(AP)—Rachel, 2 1-2 years old, tonight was safe along the gypsy trail with Peter John and his wife, too young yet to realize that but for a blood test today, she might have been snatched from the caravan of her people, to live what her parents regard as the drab, artificial life of the white man's civilization.

Dr. A. P. Condon, Omaha surgeon, shortly after he had made the tests announced that they showed positively that Rachel was of the blood of her gypsy parents.

The child was taken from the arms of Peter John's wife yesterday at Oakland, Nebr., where the caravan encamped, upon an order of County Judge Chatt, of Tekemah, who called a hearing to investigate Marshal George Cromer's suspicions that Rachel might be a white child, possibly kidnaped.

The marshal had communications from Mr. and Mrs. Leo Danveport, of Eureka, Calif., and from an Archer, Nebr., family, seeking a description of Rachel in an effort to establish her as their lost child. The girl at Archer disappeared last month, while the Davneport child has been missing since the first of May.

The gypsies returned to their camp at Oakland this evening, happy to again possess Rachel. The little girl cried when Dr. Condon cut her vein open this afternoon for the tests. The tears disappeared quickly, however, when he pressed a shining half-dollar in her hand and when the nurses gave her a glass of milk, the first food she had taken since she left Oakland.

TWO ESCAPED FLORIDA CONVICTS ARE RECAPTURED

Tallahassee, August 26.—(AP)—The recapture of two escaped state prisoners, one at Birmingham, Ala., was reported today to the prison bureau. Wade Hill, sentenced in Santa Rosa county to five years for breaking and entering, who escaped last April, was arrested by Birmingham authorities, and is being held there for extradition.

Emanuel Edwards, negro, sentenced in Duval county to five years for robbery and grand larceny, was recaptured in Madison county, where he was indicted for theft. Edwards is said by prison officials to have stolen four automobiles while he was at liberty and was shot in the arm during a chase to recover one of the machines.

HUSBAND SECURES ERRING WIFE FROM WANT, BARS HOME

Plainfield, N. J., August 26.—(AP) Although refusing to take his erring wife back into his home, John W. Bache, wealthy iron manufacturer, is willing to see that she never is in want.

Mrs. Bache eloped five months ago with Joseph C. Dever, a former town policeman. The couple were discovered Wednesday in Columbus, Ohio, where Dever was arrested for abandoning his wife and infant.

Bache said he could not take her back, but that he would see that she was provided for.

JACKSON HOG HAS LITTER OF 15 PIGS

Jackson, Ga., August 26.—(Special) The old woman who lived in a shoe that had so many children she didn't know what to do, has a rival in a Duroc-Jersey sow owned by G. B. Knowles, of Jackson. On August 22 the sow farrowed 16 pigs, one being killed accidentally.

Mr. Knowles has arranged nipples and a bottle of milk and will try to raise some of the pigs by hand feeding until they are old enough to shift for themselves. This unusual birth record has caused considerable interest in the community and Mr. Knowles is rather proud of the record made by his fine sow.

SPARTA BOY HURT BY ROOSTER PECK

Sparta, Ga., August 26.—(Special.) Pete Grifall, Jr., son of a well-known restaurant owner of this city, was the victim of an unusual accident yesterday afternoon when he was pecked in the eye by a big Rhode Island red rooster which he was holding in his arms.

It seems that the young fellow was holding the rooster for his mother to rub some ointment on his sore head when he pecked him squarely in the eye. A doctor was summoned and after examination found that the boy would not lose his eyesight, although he had escaped such a calamity by a close margin.

18-YEAR-OLD YOUTH DIES AT AMERICUS

Americus, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Herbert Crowder, 18, died at the residence of Mrs. F. P. Lee here Wednesday night after an illness of 15 years, Crowder having been an invalid since he was three years of age. Besides his grandmother, Mrs. Lee, with whom he resided, he is survived by his father and mother.

Funeral services were held from the Lee residence this afternoon, conducted by Rev. Anthony Hearn, pastor of Lee Street Methodist church, and interment was in Oak Grove cemetery.

POSTMASTERS ELECT CAROLINIA OFFICERS

Greenville, S. C., August 26.—(AP) Terminating what was said to have been the best gathering of its kind in the history of the organization, the seventh annual convention of the South Carolina branch of the National League of District Postmasters was adjourned at noon today after all officers had been reelected and after Columbia had been selected for the next place of meeting.

The officers unanimously elected are: H. O. Jones, Salley, president; J. M. Byrd, Branchville, first vice president; Thomas J. Bolin, Neeses, second vice president; Paul G. Barnett, Westminster, third vice president; John B. McMillan, Ulmers, secretary and treasurer.

THOMAS FARMER GETS BIG TOBACCO RETURNS

Thomasville, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—One Thomas county farmer living in the Dillon section is especially elated over the results of his tobacco crop. He had four acres planted to tobacco and, judging from what he has already sold and the quantity remaining to be sold, he expects to net $1,100 on the four acres.

The farmer says he had to spend only $6.25 for extra labor in making the crop. His crop will total approximately 4,000 pounds.

Wright's Fourth Soul-Mate

:: Divorce Granted Third Wife—Must Stay Single 12 Months ::

Eligible for Marriage in Year

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.)

Chicago, Ill., August 26.—At the expiration of one year, under the Wisconsin law, Frank Lloyd Wright, internationally known architect, will be at liberty to marry Olga Milanoff, a Montenegrin dancer, and his fourth soul-mate. This was made possible when the court at Madison, Wis., granted a divorce to Miriam Noel Wright, former Parisian sculptress, on charges of desertion. Olga Milanoff, as his housekeeper, has been sharing with him his picturesque villa, Taliesen, at Spring Grove, and the tangled heart affairs of Wright, his wife and his housekeeper have been in the newspaper spotlight for many months.

Attorneys for Mrs. Wright said a settlement of $36,000 was made out of court and that she will live in Paris and Bermuda, probably resuming her work as a sculptress. Since she was driven from Taliesen, she has been living in California while Wright and Mme. Milanoff have been dodging process servers at various places in the country, chiefly in the Pennsylvania hills.

Thus ends the stormiest and most hectic of the architect's many love affairs. The episode was marked not only by alienation suits brought by the deserted wife and by Mme Milanoff's divorced husband, but by a love hegira which carried the architect and his dancing girl to Mexico and from one hiding spot to another until they were finally landed in jail in Minneapolis on charges of violating the Mann act. A bitter siege of Taliesen also figured in the latest affair.

Miriam Noel Wright was the successor in Wright's affections of Mamah Northwick Cheney, the soul-mate for whom he had forsaken his first wife. Mamah bore him two children, but they, with their mother, were slain by a crazed negro employee at Taliesen, who also burned the beautiful villa.

Echoes of this tragedy had barely died away until Wright and Miriam Noel defied conventions by living in an unwedded state together at the rebuilt Taliesen, swimming au naturel in the turbulent Wisconsin river at night to avoid prying eyes. Later they married and then Mme. Milanoff was taken into the villa, gradually to replace the legal wife. Wright admits the paternity of a child born to the Montenegrin dancer during her stay at Taliesen.

POTOMAC RIVER POWER HEARING CONCLUDED

Washington, August 26.—(AP)—At the conclusion of the public hearing on the application of the Potomac River corporation to develop power on the river above Washington, Major Brehon Somervell, army engineer in charge of the Washington district, took the case under advisement with a promise of a report within a month.

His report, which will recommend either granting or rejecting the application, will be submitted to the federal power commission for final action.

The corporation proposes to construct dams at Great Falls to develop power for distribution in Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia and the District of Columbia. The application is being opposed by citizens on the ground that it will spoil the natural beauty of the river.

90-ACRE TOBACCO CROP BRINGS $20,000

Waycross, Ga., August 26.—(Special)—G. W. Sizemore and W. T. Currin who have 90 acres of bright leaf tobacco at Glory, in Atkinson county, are very enthusiastic over this year's crop. From these 90 acres they are selling the crop for $20,000.

Huntsville Man Killed at Valdosta As Car Turns Over

Valdosta, Ga., August 26.—(AP)—Ben Gulley, formerly of Huntsville, Ala., who has been working here for about three weeks, was fatally injured near here today when the automobile which he was driving toward Florida overturned.

He was traveling alone at the time of the accident and died at a local hospital to which he was brought by passersby.

Services Planned At Sea To Honor Lost Dole Fliers

San Francisco, August 26.—(AP)—Memorial services at sea for the six men and one woman missing in connection with the Dole flight today were planned by San Francisco citizens.

The plans were to have the Matson liner Maui halt 700 miles west of San Francisco on September 16 on her voyage to Hawaii, while flowers are cast upon the waters during offering of prayers and singing of anthems by clergy and passengers aboard.

Letters were sent today to all known relatives of the lost fliers, telling of the memorial plans, seeking suggestions and offering to take to sea any flowers sent here for the services.

The Maui is to sail from San Francisco on September 14. Two days later, September 16, a month after the thrilling start of the Pacific air deby at Oakland, Calif., she should be near the point where, on the night of August 19, Captain William Erwin, of Dallas, Texas, and A. H. Eichwaldt, of Hayward, Calif., flashed from their plane, the Dallas Spirit, the startling last radio message, "S O S—tailspin."

It was because of this last word from the Dallas Spirit that the point 700 miles out on the great circle was chosen as the place for the memorial services. No word was received of the other two planes, the Miss Doran and Golden Eagle, after they left sight of the mainland on August 16 and their fate and whereabouts have since been a mystery.

Naval vessels continued their search for the fliers today. They were proceeding over heretofore uncovered areas, seeking a trace of the planes of Miss Mildred Doran, John Auggy Pedlar, Lieutenant Vilas R. Knope, Jack Frost, Gordon Scott, Captain Erwin and Alvin Eichwaldt.

FUNERAL IN WAYCROSS FOR JERE LUDLAM

Waycross, Ga., August 26.—(Special)—Funeral services were held in Waycross Thursday afternoon for Jere Ludlam, well-known south Georgia naval stores operator, who died at his home here early Wednesday morning, following a long illness.

Mr. Ludlam, a native of South Carolina, came to south Georgia when he was 19 years of age, and since that time has been prominently known throughout the Waycross territory. He recently resigned as a member of the board of education of Waycross, because of failing health. He is a member of the local Masonic lodge and was a steward in the First Methodist church. He was born in Harry county, South Carolina, in 1861.

Besides his wife he is survived by several children who are prominently known throughout the state.

Services were conducted from the Ludlam residence on Gilmore street, Rev. O. B. Chester, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Interment was at Oakland cemetery.

REGULATION IS NECESSARY.

With the turbulent waters of the Pacific still guarding the secret as to the fate of seven missing aviators—one of them a daring young woman—and with other hazardous non-stop flights being projected in many sections and quarters, the sober second thought of America turns to the problems of conservation of life, and the rescue of the great science of aeronautics from the disfavor such tragedies, if continued, will necessarily precipitate.

To begin with, the San Francisco-Honolulu derby was a mistake. With cash prizes the goal, and a specific deadline fixed, from which there could be no variance, the very probable effect was a lack of complete preparedness for such a trip on the part of some of the entries.

But that is water over the wheel. We deeply sympathize with Mr. Dole, the promoter of the derby. His intentions were philanthropic. He wanted to help aviation. He necessarily is suffering intense anguish at the tragedies that resulted.

All scientific pioneering demands its toll of life, but there is never an excuse for deliberately and voluntarily gambling with death. It too often hurts the ends sought to be accomplished, in addition to the needless sacrifice of life.

The question now is to put a stop to flying needlessly into the very jaws of death by the use of antiquated types of planes, by the physical unfitness of pilots, by the lack of navigation ability and experience, etc.

This can only be done by strict federal regulation.

The government must take the matter wholly in hand, and issue permits for non-stop flights over seas, and other hazardous endurance flights to break records, only after careful expert inspections of the planes and equipments and the licensing of the pilots upon tests of physical, mental and temperamental fitness.

These regulations should be firm but not discriminatory.

The science of aviation must and will rapidly advance, but it can do so only by the application of common sense practices.

Since the great feat of Colonel Lindbergh there has been a veritable wave of aviation foolhardiness, much of which has not materialized, but much of which has, with some successes and some very tragic failures. Strict regulation is necessary.

THE COSTS OF DELAY.

Emotion is stronger than reason. It is like a stampede in which reason gives way to excitement.

In the seven years that elapsed between the pay roll murder for which Sacco and Vanzetti were tried and found guilty the radical emotion of the world was permitted to gain full momentum, with the result that the men paid the penalty prescribed by law as "martyrs of capitalism," as viewed by millions of anarchists throughout the world.

But for the weaknesses of our laws, by which technicalities and loopholes give every advantage to the convicted to delay and cheat justice, the two convicted murderers would have paid almost seven years ago, and thereby the world today would not be a boiling torrent of radical rebellion.

Such is the penalty of a loose system of criminal law and administration that strikes at the very foundation of government.

Says The Washington Post:

"When convicted murderers and their friends take advantage of legal technicalities to postpone the execution of a judgment for nearly seven years, and then demand release on the ground that the convicted persons have suffered long enough,' it is high time that the process of justice should be revised. Sacco and Vanzetti were found guilty on July 14, 1921. They were not executed until August 23, 1927. That long delay is a shameful indictment of the judicial system of Massachusetts."

This is the position The Constitution has always consistently taken. The administration of criminal law in America is a miserable farce, taken as a whole and appraised upon its merit. Chief Justice Taft says so. Leading lawyers and jurists of the nation say so. It is not just or fair even to the accused.

For seven years, due to the avenues for cheating justice through various technicalities, the Sacco-Vanzetti case had been set up by radical thought as a symbol. It had been used as a text for radical speech. It had served as the influence to incite mob violence and radical propaganda. It had served to help the communistic movement. At last they paid. But if the law of Massachusetts had been as rigid as the law of England they would have paid promptly and the whole universe would have been spared the unwholesome, almost unthinkable, situation that we find today, not only in America but throughout the world.

COMMENDABLE COURSE.

Secretary of agriculture, Eugene Talmadge, is to be commended for his vigorous personal efforts toward the standardization and marketing of Georgia products. He is going to Cuba in a few days to expand and quicken the Cuban market for Georgia hogs. He expects to visit the middle west later for the quickening of the markets for other Georgia products.

In the meantime he is putting into rigid effect the new fruit standardization law, the effect of which will stabilize Georgia fruit products, and give them a standing in the markets of the nation that they deserve by reason of their superior quality.

The secretary is working along the right lines. To be of real, constructive service to the Georgia producers, the department of agriculture must become of practical service in getting better returns for the marketable commodities, and in drawing closer the stretch between the producers and the consumers.

There has been entirely too much theorizing and too little practical, useful service in this department. Now that it has been relieved of the great burden of oil inspection, with which it never had any constructive concern, the department can and should become of genuinely constructive service to the farmers.

SAID ZAGHLOUL PASHA.

The death of the great Egyptian statesman, Said Zaghloul Pasha, concentrates attention upon his marvelous work for the independence of his country. To him more than to any other one man is due the concessions recently made by the government of Great Britain, and through which Egypt to a large extent threw off British domination. He was truly the "uncrowned king" of Egypt.

His death means new problems for the British to solve. It may mean chaos and turmoil in Egyptian politics, where two strong factions exist, but where the nationalists, under the Zaghloul leadership, have won great victories.

Zaghloul was the son of a peasant. But by his own ability, sterling character and undaunted manhood he became prominent 40-odd years ago as one of the persons held for complicity in the activities of Arabi Pasha. He was a religious student, but took up the practice of law. He became minister of education in 1906. Under his administration education made rapid strides.

In the world war Zaghloul was neutral. After the armistice he made a demand for Egyptian independence. He was seized by the British and sent to Malta as a prisoner. He was carried back to Egypt in 1921 to assist Lord Milner and Adly Pasha in fixing a modus vivendi for his country. Later he was again banished, being sent first to Aden, then to Seychelles and then to Gibraltar. He was freed in 1923. His friends controlled the Egyptian parliament and Zaghloul was asked to form a ministry. He subsequently was forced by circumstances to resign the prime ministry, but he controlled parliament until his death.

He was Egypt's greatest nationalist and his death is a severe blow to that cause.

The bottom crop of cotton is spreading a good thick white blanket over Dixie. The middle crop will soon spread another but with perhaps some weevil holes. The top crop will be a ragged concession to the weevil.

On account of the corn crop being short we suppose there is nothing else to do but draw in and take up a hole or two in the corn belt. But the cotton belt has just naturally shrunk with too much wetness.

The west is planning to pile up another wheat surplus in 1928. Must have considerable faith that the next congress will enact farm relief legislation.

A German has invented a movie camera that will make 48,000 impressions in a second. Beats all how swift movie actors are getting.

I RECKON SO

BY T. H. ALEXANDER.

Nashville, Tenn., August 26.—During my cub reporter days on a Nashville newspaper an acid-tongued city editor chided me for turning in a story about Norman Hackett, the actor, who was then playing in stock, preparing to go to North Carolina to attend a memorial service for O. Henry, the short story writer. I happened to be press agent for the Nashville theater where Hackett was playing and I was a great admirer of O. Henry, so I wanted that story to ride.

"Don't you know," patiently explained the city editor to the thick-headed cub, "that O. Henry was the man who insulted Nashville?"

Those were the sensitive days of the south, although only a few years ago. The south smarted under the poverty and stagnation that followed the civil war. When Sidney Porter ("O. Henry") came to Nashville to see his daughter, Margaret, who was a student at Ward-Belmont college, he wrote a story which embalmed in history the swaggerers around the Maxwell house, the big spitoons at that ancient tavern and the provincial cast of mind of the Nashville folk. It made them hopping mad, although the story, 'A Municipal Report," was perhaps the best that singular genius ever wrote.

But Nashville is no longer small or provincial of mind. It has grown into a city of perhaps 175,000 in the Nashville territory. It is no longer sensitive of outside criticism. It hears the critic with interest if his words are constructive or it laughs gently at him if his ideas are grotesque.

It is a change which is quite typical of the south as a whole. Only the Manufacturers Record, or some other outpost of Bourbonism, tears a passion to tatters at outside criticism of the south. Gradually, the south has swung away from its old swaggering attitude of mind that one southerner can whip three Yankees. What if they pitted Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney and Jack Sharkey against Young Stribling? The realization has come that the native-born southerner is little different from the native-born Ohioan, for instance. Perhaps he is a little more steeped in his native traditions or a bit prouder of his sectional heritage, but they are brothers under the skin. There is little difference.

Nashville is a fine example of what I have been trying in my poor way to explain is a combination of the ritualism and traditions of the old south and the bustle and progress of the new. I am anxious that we keep grandmother's what-not and grandsire's library table as well as their fine old courtesy and their soft manner of speech, but we don't want our grandparents' outlook on life, their attitude of mind, their intolerance, their bigotry and their unwelcoming gaze at new arrivals and new wealth.

Once, also when I was a cub reporter, I attended a good roads meeting at Chattanooga which was to have a large part in fixing the route of the then new Dixie highway. It was located through Nashville to Chattanooga and Atlanta, whereupon some disappointed delegates announced that the "tombstone route had won."

And it had won, for three presidents sleep in Tennessee soil a short distance from the highway and thousands of civil war dead rest on "fame's eternal camping ground" from Nashville to Atlanta. We venerate their memories, but the living rather than the dead must shape the course of the south and we have our own lives to live.

Thus Nashville keeps in spotless splendor the Hermitage, the home of Andrew Jackson, seventh president of the United States. It preserves the tomb of James K. Polk at the state capitol grounds, also a Tennessee president of ante-bellum days, while the state has built at his old home in east Tennessee a protecting house around the old tailor shop of Andrew Johnson, the Tennessean who stepped into the white house after Abraham Lincoln. Confucius said: "Filial piety is seen in the skillful carrying out of the wishes of our forefathers and the skillful carrying forward of their undertakings." But that is a Chinese doctrine and not American. Gradually, ancestry worship is being uprooted in the south. The treason is abroad that perhaps after all not everything the old-timers did is above reproach. At any event, we venerate them for their greatness but are not bound to follow precisely in their footsteps.

Downtown they are about to tear down Jackson's old law office to make room for a skyscraper. The old box tomb of Charles Dickinson, slain by Jackson in a duel, has been despoiled to make hearths for a real estate development. Old Belle Meade, the cradle of the American thoroughbred horse, has long since been subdivided into a golf course and a swank residence section.

But the tomb and home of Old Hickory, thanks to patriotic organizations of women, sleeps in undisturbed splendor. The sword he drew at New Orleans and the other relics of past glories, the bedrooms, the dining room and the other parts of the house are undisturbed. Eighty-two years ago he died, but annually hundreds of the celebrated of America have paid homage to his shrine.

The old home, by the way, has modern furnace heat and a telephone! The old general would have wished it so. Few realize that he was an extremely modern farmer, that he visioned the future greatness of Memphis, that he forecast the development of Muscle Shoals, and that he was one of the outstanding forward-looking Americans of his time.

'Cimmon seed: Dr. Edwin Mims, professor of English at Vanderbilt university, has returned from California, where he pursued his researches which will soon appear in a new book. He is the author of "The Advancing South," a book which shocked the Bourbons but pleased their sons.

A newspaper statistician informs me that Nashville has 188 men and women listed in the current volume of "Who's Who in America." Few other cities of less than a million population have that many. Here is concentrated a vast army of distinguished teachers, scholars and researchists in Vanderbilt university, George Peabody College for Teachers, Ward-Belmont college and other institutions of learning. After all, the schools constitute Nashville's largest "industry."

A correspondent sends me a copy of "The Republican Banner and Nashville Whig," a paper which flourished in Nashville in 1860.

It records at great length the nomination of John Bell, of Tennessee, for president. After columns of this description I find in an obscure place in the paper:

"The Chicago Convention—Contrary to general expectation, the senator from New York was defeated yesterday and the nomination given to Hon. Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois."

Those were the only lines the paper contained of the most significant political event of the year 1860!

John Bell returned by way of Louisville from the convention where he was nominated. Louisville gave him a great demonstration, but the Louisville Journal is quoted as saying:

"The failure of our reporter to make his appearance last night after the serenade prevents us from laying before our readers this morning a sketch of the demonstration."

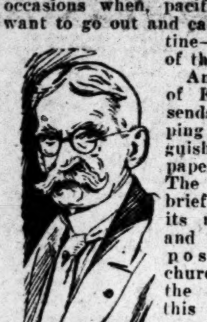
Poor fellow—drunk again!

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

The Work of That Genius, Frank Stanton, the "Burns of the South."

There come to me at long intervals occasions when, pacifist as I am, I want to go out and castigate a Philistine—and this is one of those times.



An esteemed lady of El Paso, Texas, sends to me a clipping from the distinguished Times newspaper of that city. The extract is a brief book notice in its review column, and refers to the posthumous brochure, issued from the Byrd press of this city, containing a collection of the latest and quite charactertistic short poems of the late Frank L. Stanton, poet laureate of Georgia and popular columnist of The Constitution.

* * * *

A Dog-Fennel Flower.

The author of the book notice about to be quoted is the accredited literary critic of the valued Times newspaper, and unless ne has unusual qualifications, in occultation to the public eye, he is misplaced on a page of the brilliant organ of the cactus belt of the nation.

The name of this oracle of letters, Mr. Duncan Aikman, does not appear among the 25,000 selective achievers embodied in "Who's Who In America," and after reading the following dog-fennel contribution that he makes to the memorabilia of Frank Stanton, I did not think I would find its author in that company. His comment is in these words:

> "The old man, with hardly more literary talent than the late James Whitcomb Riley, crystallized the sentimentalities of the old 'poor white' south better than might have been expected. For this he doubtless deserves customers, and this department wouldn't lift a finger to stop one of them."

* * * *

Honestly Can You Beat That?

All personal affection and complimentary camouflage put aside, honestly, can you beat that for a distortion of the character of Stanton, to say nothing of its misapplication to immortal Jim Riley?

Much latitude and freedom of judgment must be granted to a really serious and qualified book reviewer and critic. His metier is important to the newspaper and magazine readers of the day. The literary output is so voluminous in these years that the new books issued from the American presses alone in 1925 (figures of 1926 not yet available) amounted to 6,680; and that was 300 more than in the previous year of 1924. From that Amazon flow of authorship a sincere critic would feel bound to select carefully and recommend or condemn with honest discrimination.

The Method of the Masters.

There are master literary critics connected with the reputable journals of our country. They are eminently qualified by literary culture and, in particular cases, by expert technical experience, to tell readers, students and specialists whether a given new book contains matter to their money's worth.

Their method is that of master workmen. They ignore the ephemeral and mercurial flotsam of the publication tides and direct their expert attention to those works, whether seriously romantic, sentimental, scientific, or otherwise important to human enlightenment and progress. They play no favorites, paramount no prejudices and indulge no propaganda. They are doctors of letters and not deformers of public sentiment.

The Selectmen and Stanton.

Now it happens that for years these selectmen of the reviewers' guild have given their professional attention to the diurnal deliveries from the fertile brain and facile pen of Frank Stanton. He wrote out his happy fancies and his homely wisdom with no thought of intriguing their favor. His genius was the gift of his Creator and his forthgivings from it as instinctive as the songs of the mockingbird and as flitting and flirtatious as the flower-dance of the butterfly. To really know the Eratonian spirit of Stanton one had to know him in his daily walk and work, as this writer did during a quarter century of editorial association. And yet the elect critics of America identified him as one of the rare sweet singers of the Anglo-Saxon race.

* * * *

"The Burns of the South."

It is rather odd, after reading the above Aikman estimate of Stanton, to recall that many of the best accredited contemporary poets of the nation and scores of the most trusted critics serving American journalism, awarded to Frank Stanton palms of praise as a real and unique singer of "Songs of the Soil"—a poet of the common heart and worthy of the sobriquet of "The Burns of the South." They recognized a spiritual kinship between the humoresque humanities of the "Bard of Ayr" and the "Troubadour of Dixie." That they could have been so widely mistaken in their judgment and appreciation has been left to discovery by the Alexander Pope of El Paso, possessed of the jocosity of nearby Juarez.

* * * *

C'Est a Rire!

To read from him that Stanton had "hardly more literary talent than the late James Whitcomb Riley" is to laugh with a deplorable lack of politeness.

In literary circles of the land, in metropolitan centers of culture, in the critical clubs of universities and colleges, in the women's study classes all over the nation, that "inspected and condemned" label on both Stanton and Riley would excite either protest or contempt.

Just now I am not holding a brief for beloved Jim Riley, but I do stand unabashed to say to all who hear and read that there are few men in the literature of current journalism with more obvious talent for his art and his profession than was marked in Frank Stanton.

* * * *

The "Poor White" South.

The statement of this El Paso neo-oracle that Stanton "crystallized the sentimentalities of the old 'poor white' south" is an indefensible slur upon Stanton himself and upon the common people of the south. It is an epithetical judgment unworthy of its vehicle. That "poor white" idea was always a purely comparative one and in these many decades has been entirely passe.

But, whatever it was or is, Stanton was not a product of the order and was never the interpreter of whatever whimsical "sentimentalities" are assignable to it. He was bred of gentle folk, endowed with lofty and spiritual sentiments, and equipped by both endeavor and service to illustrate and voice characteristic southern culture.

* * * *

"Just From Georgia."

Stanton sustained, almost daily for near a third of a century, his popular and versatile column, "Just From Georgia," upon this page of The Constitution. A literary boor could not, by any stretch of charity, have done that. The fact that the column was a daily delight to press and people all across the land to the day of his death—that its total eclipse is yet acutely mourned—and that no man living can revive its radiance—testify with tremendous emphasis that Stanton was a greater genius than the El Paso man can comprehend.

Do get this latest Stanton book and judge whether I am right or wrong!

AMERICAN WOMAN IN WRECK DEAD

Chamonix, France, August 26.—(AP) The death list of the Montenvers rail wreck last night, in which a crowded car of the cog railway train tumbled into a deep ravine, today stood at 21 dead and 30 injured.

Twelve of the dead has been identified this afternoon, but the mutilated condition of the other bodies made identification extremely difficult.

CHICAGO WOMAN AMONG KILLED.

Geneva, August 26.—(AP)—American casualties in the railway wreck at Chamonix have been set at one dead and two injured.

ANOTHER AMERICAN WOMAN INJURED.

Chicago, August 26.—(AP)—Mrs. I. Newton Perry, who was reported injured today in a wreck of a railroad train in France, left here in June for a European tour in company with her husband and two adughters, Pauline, 10, and Sally, 6.

Walter Brewster, Mrs Perry's brother, said Mr. Perry, a member of the bond house of Stevenson, Perry, Stacy & Co., left his family in Europe to complete their tour and returned to New York. Mr. Brewster said his sister had taken a maid with her on the trip, but he did not know her name and had received no direct word of the accident.

EXTRA SESSION HELD UNLIKELY IN ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala., August 26.—(AP) There is slight probability of an extra session of the legislature being called by Governor Bibb Graves, it was announced in the executive office this morning. There are only two days remaining on the schedule of the present session and hundreds of bills await passage. It will be impossible to pass but a small majority of the pending measures.

Sherrill Improves.

Asheville, N. C., August 25.—(AP)—Colonel C. O. Sherrill, city manager of Cincinnati and former military aide to President Harding, rested well last night and appears stronger this morning, it was said at the Mission hospital here today. He is not out of danger, however, his physicians said.

Dumas Scion Dies.

CAVE-IN VICTIM IS RESCUED ALIVE

broke into wild cheering when Lenau was finally removed.

Hastily entering automobiles they drove back to Worcester in the wake of the ambulance with horns screeching and cheering and singing until the city seemed in the midst of another armistice celebration.

While rescue workers were bringing Lenau to the surface a wall, believed to be securely shored up, caved in and again imprisoned the man shortly after 9 o'clock tonight.

Hope for the safety of the unfortunate man who had been pinioned under timbers and mud for nearly 27 hours had seemed bright when the new calamity befell him. A short time before a rescue worker had asked Lenau whether he could hold out a little longer.

"I can hold out all night if you'll only rescue me finally," was the reply.

Hope and Gloom.

From mid-afternoon, when Lenau's head was seen by the army of rescuers in a shaft parallel to the well in which he was buried, there had been alternate hope and gloom among the watchers. The first setback came with the fear of new cave-ins as the excavators reached the 30-foot level, causing them to slow down to cautious digging.

Then at 7:30 there was a sand run which partly filled the well and set the work back almost two hours more. The loose earth trickled in between the timbers used to shore up the wall of the shaft. A load of hay was brought up and the crevices were filled with this material.

At that time Police Surgeon Richard J. Shahahan, of Worcester, was lowered into the well and talked with Lenau. He tried to persuade the man to take some liquid food, but Lenau refused.

"All I want is to get out," he told the surgeon. The imprisoned man was fairly strong, Dr. Shahahan said, but the heavy strain was beginning to tell on him.

Pumping Is Resumed.

When Lenau's head was freed earlier in the day, the rescuers had discontinued pumping air into the well to enable him to breathe. At 7:20 tonight he complained that he had difficulty in breathing. An air mask was fastened to his head and pumping was resumed.

Shortly before 9 o'clock the workers had cleared away the mass of timbers in the well, only to find that Lenau's feet were firmly imbedded in mud. As they were endeavoring to free him, a wall they had thought to be firmly shored up, gave way, undoing the work of many hours. Lenau was completely covered in this landslide.

Moving-Day Victim.

Moving day activities, always brisk in Atlanta at this season, accounted for a fractured ankle, when L. A. Couch, of 537 Tennille street, stepped from a moving van Friday afternoon and slipped against the curb. The patient was given treatment at Grady hospital.

Health Talks

PERSPIRATION IN THE PARLOR.

Just think, even though it is unfashionable, in the two decades just closed we have witnessed the passing of 15,000,000 flivvers, not to mention the grief of the few hundred thousand that failed to make it, and yet there are quite a number of conservative folk to whom the feminine gender of legs is limbs. It was some time in the course of the parade of the tin lizzies that perspiration came into the parlor. Now we call it sweat and it is being done by our best people today in the very place where the parlor used to be.

Sweat in the mid-Victorian era was rather vulgar. People who boasted bathtubs—and they did a great deal of boasting about such equipment—professed to exist without this vulgar function, and people who yearned to be counted as of the better class just had to quit sweating or get the gate. But after the snobs had withdrawn into their exclusive corner there were still a few individuals left who had the moral courage or temerity to keep right on sweating, and even some who dared to approve it as an essential part of real culture. Such a bold spirit was Dr. Dudley A. Sargent, whose name occupies a place high on the roll of great educators. No teacher, no person who pretends to be cultured, can turn up his nose at the name of Sargent unless he or she wants to betray ignorance.

Dr. Sargent wrote, in the American Physical Education Review for December, 1918:

"Exercise carried to the perspiring stage fulfills the chief physiological function of bathing, which is to remove the waste material thrown off from the body. A man who perspires freely, thoguh begrimed with surface dirt and redolent with sweaty odors, is much cleaner, from the standpoint of health than the young lady who never perspires from her own activity, though her skin is as white and fair as perfumed soap may make it."

To be consistent I must confess that I am not in accord with Dr. Sargent about the function of bathing. From the hygienic point of view the chief purpose of bathing is to remove filth, dirt, soil, grime, germs with which the skin has been contaminated, and not to remove any waste material. So far as waste material thrown off by the body is concerned, practically none is thrown off the body through the skin. Sweat is virtually nothing else than a solution of salt in water. The elimination of waste material is not the main function of the sweat. The main function of sweating is to cool the body. But these are rather technical physiological exceptions. The important thing is that here we have the assurance of a great educator, a man whose culture is universally recognized, that it is quite permissable to sweat.

I agree with Dr. Sargent's assertion that the hard sweating individual is cleaner than the unsweating one who attempt to wash away that which muscular work, play, active exercise can best dispose of, namely, the waste material of metabolism. This waste material is promptly removed or destroyed by oxidatio if the oxidation process be up to standard. In the individual who dodges muscular work, play or exercise much metabolic waste material remains overlong in the blood and in the tissues of the body, and no matter how scrupulously such individual bathes, he is physiologically unclean.

ANOTHER MARINE FREAK REPORTED.

Baltimore, August 26.—(AP)—Cruising peacefully over a calm sea, the American Export-Line steamer Saugus, en route from Philadelphia to Baltimore, was viciously "slapped" by a huge wave that flooded the whole ship, crushed part of the superstructure on the port side and threw members of the crew about like tenpins, Captain E. C. Wilson reported today as ship was undergoing repairs in dry-dock here.

The accident, which occurred last Wednesday night as the ship was passing the Delaware breakwater, came without warning, the captain said.

"The ocean seemed to have slapped us," he said. "No one thought of any trouble, the night was ideal. I just turned around and the thing happened. There came a crash, the ship careened, glass flew in all directions, and water gushed in on all sides."

When asked for an explanation of the occurrence, the captain dismissed it as just one of "the freaks of the sea."

Examination showed that the port corner of the bridge deck had been crushed, rails twisted around like wire and a heavy steel bulkhead protecting the pilot house caved in.

by the sheriff when he was shot, bloodstained and showing bullet holes, brought Mrs. Wills, dressed in full mourning and plainly showing the strain of her experience, apparently to the verge of a breakdown. With her own mother and the aged mother of her husband sitting at her side, she dropped her head into her hands, and her body was visibly shaken. She recovered her composure when the testimony took a different turn, but she was obviously nervous. She leaned far forward in her seat to catch the every word of each witness, and occasionally wiped her eyes. Townsend, sitting by his wife, continued cool and collected, so far as indications went.

Visits Murder Scene.

The jury was taken this afternoon to visit the Willis' home on East Stone avenue, where the sheriff was assassinated. Meantime defense attorneys prepared to interview two newly discovered witnesses, who they said, were reported in possession of evidence vitally important to the two defendants. Judge Bonham announced he would adjourn court for the week-end at noon tomorrow.

The state attempted to show that the long and close friendship between Willis and Townsend had been strained toward the end of the sheriff's life. Craige and Parrish both testified that for the week or ten days preceding the homicide, the sheriff had appeared cool toward Townsend, and in fact had seemed to be "worried" over something.

When asked by the defense attorneys if they did not know Willis had visited Townsend at Chick Springs hospital where the deputy had undergone an operation the week before the officer was slain and had offered to assist him with money, both witnesses replied they did not know it.

Hit Widow's Claim.

By calling Mrs. W. M. Glanton, a comely young woman who had been a roomer in the Willis home, the state attempted to controvert Mrs. Willis' claim, as set forth at bail proceedings, that she had returned home by 9:30 o'clock on the Saturday night preceding the killing just after midnight Sunday morning. Mrs. Glanton swore she went into the Willis apartment around 10 o'clock at the request of one of the Willis children and that she saw nothing and heard nothing to indicate that any one was at home but the children.

Previous testimony of the state has indicated a theory that Mrs. Willis did not return to her home until after 11:45 o'clock or a few minutes before her husband was shot. The time of the killing is set by witnesses as a few minutes past midnight.

The courtroom was again packed to its limit, with many women among the spectators.

Mrs. Glanton, who said she had occupied an apartment in the Willis home from January until after the slaying on June 12, testified on cross-examination that Sheriff Willis and his wife apparently were devoted to each other, and to the best of her knowledge enjoyed a happy home life.

Avoided Husband's Body.

From Parks and Parrish, the state, with Mendel L. Smith and David W. Smoak, conducting the examination, drew testimony that Mrs. Willis did not go near the body of her husband while it lay in front of the garage where it fell.

Parks told of getting a black slipper from the young widow's bedroom and fitted it into a track at the garage, which, the state indicates it will contend was made at the time of the tragedy. The shoe fitted the print "snugly," he declared. On cross-examination he admitted he had no evidence of the kind of shoes Mrs. Willis was wearing that night just before the shooting.

Detective Hammond said the man's footprints at the garage were of a size and shape comparable with the shoes Townsend had on following the discovery of the sheriff's body. He examined Townsend's shoes, he said, unknown to the defendant, through the ruse of dropping his keys near Townsend's foot, and observing it under his flashlight.

"Keep a Digging Boys."

Parks testified that Townsend, after his arrest three days following the slaying, did not make any protestations of innocence, except to say: "Well, I'll be damned! Keep a digging boys, and you'll get to the bottom of this."

Mrs. Willis declared her faith in the fidelity of her husband to Detective W. W. Rogers, when the latter questioned her, the coroner said.

Rogers asked her if she had ever doubted the fidelity of Sam, and she replied "No," he testified. He denied on cross-examination any knowledge of any attempt to frighten Mrs. Willis into making admissions by telling her a mob was forming to go to her home and get Townsend.

Detective Hammond said he was on the scene shortly after the killing and that no women were around the garage or in the yard at the time. Two policemen were on duty, he testified, to keep all persons out of the garage. Sergeant Cox, among the first officers to reach the home, later swore positively no men or women went into the garage after his arrival. At the bond hearing, affidavits were introduced by the defense in which two women neighbors swore they had stepped into the garage when they ran over to the house upon hearing the shots.

Parrish testified, in response to questions by the state, that Townsend made no effort to clear up the Willis murder, except to suggest that a negro named Jones or another man he named might have had a hand in it, suggestions that the witness said were run down without reserve.

Parrish testified that Deputy J. R. Rhodes was the only member of Sheriff Willis' staff friendly with Townsend.

Deputies Parrish and Craige and Officer Hammond all testified that a woman's footprint was found in the track left by Sheriff Willis' car running into the garage, indicating that the woman had stepped there after the sheriff had driven his car into the shelter.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

When Cardinals Die.

The death of Cardinal Azevedo and of Cardinal Csernoch, prince primate of Hungary, which occurred at an interval of only a few days from one another, has given rise to a mild state of panic among the members of the Sacred college. An ancient tradition, hitherto almost invariably confirmed by facts, asserts that cardinals die by threes. In this connection an amusing "story" circulates among the Romans. When the announcement is made of a cardinal's demise, great uneasiness prevails among the colleagues of the deceased "porporato," and their first act is to call their solicitor in order to make their will as a wise precaution against any impending surprise. When the second cardinal passes away they hasten to call their confessor and prepare themselves as if death were imminent. As soon as the news of the death of their third colleague reaches the cardinals they cheerfully tear up their wills and sing the "Te Deum" in thanksgiving for being still alive. Fortunately the above-mentioned cardinals have died without the usual escort of a third colleague, thus dealing the time-honored tradition a heavy blow. As a matter of fact, if all cardinals were as hale and hearty as the dean of the Sacred college, Cardinal Vannutelli, who the other day despite his 91 years, put out in a choppy sea at Ostia in a steam launch in order to bless the Italian battle fleet, there would be no cause for anxiety.

According to the Letter.

Some of the mediaeval laws of France are of such a curious character that they often lead to the most inhuman procedure. For instance there is a law which stipulates that it is strictly forbidden to cut down any person who has hanged himself except in the presence of competent authorities. A few days ago a man hanged himself by the side of the road near Metz. At the moment when he kicked the ladder away from beneath the tree branch a party of motorists passed. They saw the struggling figure but instead of cutting him down they continued on their way with all possible speed to warn the nearest police officer. They found the mayor of a hamlet to whom they confided their Macabre discovery. The mayor got on his bicycle and rode away to investigate. When he arrived at the spot the hanged one had grabbed the rope above, apparently having changed his mind. The mayor suddenly remembered that cutting down a hanged one must be done in the presence of two witnesses. So he pedaled back and roused up two gendarmes. When the trio finally arrived back once more the man was dead.

Bismarck.

Herr Emil Ludwig shows a real human Bismarck in his new book instead of the Iron Chancellor sort of superman and mailed fist banger. After the death of his father, Bismarck was advised to get married. "The devil," he said, "they all want me to marry and I don't know which one. I suppose I'll have to take H. E.; though she leaves me entirely cold. They all leave me entirely cold. I don't know what the devil is wrong with me." In the salon mid the ladies he smokes his pipe, wears a long black coat and throws books and newspapers on the floor. But he is a tremendous eater, which causes him stomach trouble. "I was so hungry," he writes in a letter, "that I couldn't sit up straight. But I took some stuffed eel, boiled ham and porridge. I ate several sausages next, but had too much, so I had to take some rum. I finished a box of figs and while I write to you I am eating my second box of marsapan and drinking a crock of Erfurter rock-cellar beer. It is excellent." He figured that he smoked 100,000 cigars in five years and killed 5,000 bottles of champagne. At that he might have been a superman!

BATTLE OF FLAGS RAGES IN GERMANY

Berlin, August 26.—(AP)—Burgomaster Boess is to have a second in his battle with Berlin hotel keepers who have refused to fly the standard of republican Germany.

Today Dr. Otto Braun, Prussian premier, sent a circular letter to members of his cabinet and all official departments requesting unequivocal support of Burgomaster Boess' attitude toward the group of hotel keepers who have refused to hoist the flag of the republic on official occasions.

Dr. Braun not only called upon his cabinet members themselves to avoid the offending hotels, but instructed them to order their subordinates in the various departments to act in consonance with the mayor's attitude.

"We must adopt the most vigorous measures to let the public know that we do not intend to tolerate conscious disrespect of the existing constitutional form of government," Dr. Braun said in his letter. Copies of the letter were transmitted to Chancellor Marx with the request that the federal government cooperate with Prussia.

The Marx cabinet is still on holiday and until its return no official cognizance of the strife over the flag is expected.

Reports reaching Berlin from other section of Germany indicate that the position of the hotel men here does not find support among hotel keepers of the provinces. A Rhinish newspaper proposed a plebiscite to determine the issue.

The Hotel Keepers' association, after lengthy discussions, today announced unanimously that they had agreed to stand on their resolution not to hoist the national colors, as they preferred to remain outside the pale of a political controversy.

RUSSIA OFFERS ANOTHER CHANCE TO CHALIAPIN

Moscow, Russia, August 26.—(AP)—Reports have it that the commissariat of public education has given a last chance to Feodor Chaliapin, the Russian bass singer, to recover the title of the peoples' artist and the confidence of the soviet masses, if Chaliapin is willing to return to the soviet republic and give a number of concerts for the benefit of the Russian workers.

Chaliapin was recently divested of his title as a national artist of the republic by the council of peoples' commissars. While no official statement was made as to the cause it was commonly reported that the soviet authorities took umbrage at Chaliapin's reported sympathies with Russian emigres.

OLDEST YALE ALUMNUS DIES IN LOUISIANA

Baton Rouge, La., August 26.—(AP) Captain James P. Bowman, 94, oldest alumnum of Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., and former student of Yale university, died at his plantation home, Rosedown, near St. Francisville, La., late Thursday, according to word reaching here today.

SILLS LAUNCHES SUBDIVISION FOR MOVIE PLAYERS

Beverly Hills, Calif., August 26.—(AP)—An exclusively "movie subdivision" has been launched as a result of the purchase of a tract of 128 acres here by a syndicate of film folk headed by Milton Sills, the actor.

Associated with Sills in the purchase of the property which adjoins the Doheny estate, were Lew Cody, Jack Gilbert, Chester Conklin, Laura La Plante, Anna Gregory, Al Rogell, William Seiter and Edward Montaigne.

The tract will be divided, according to its purchasers, into estates which will be sold to motion picture people only.

VIRGINIAN FOUND SLAIN IN STORE

Newport News, Va., August 26.—(AP)—S. A. Rudd, 62, a well-known feed and grain dealer of this city, was found dead early today in his place of business, badly beaten on the face and with two stab wounds in his breast near the heart. He apparently had been dead for several hours when found.

Rudd came here from Richmond some time ago and had no immediate relatives in this city.

He had boarded with a family in the east end section up until a few days ago, police say, but recently had been sleeping at his place of business. Employees going to work this morning reported "something was wrong," and an investigation disclosed the body lying on a pallet made of a piece of canvas and a blanket with the head pillowed on a sack of grain.

The body was nude from the waist down, police say, and despite the fact that the victim was badly beaten, there was nothing to indicate a struggle. A broken handle on the cash register and a grain hook hanging on the register indicated that an effort may have been made to open it. Mail on his desk in the office had not been touched. The register, opened by an expert, contained a small amount of money. An autopsy will be held, Coroner Donald Campbell stated.

NEW ITALIAN CODE WILL AID IN FIGHT ON BIRTH CONTROL

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Rome, August 26.—The seal of approval of Pope Pius was placed on several sections of the new Italian penal code through the medium of the vatican's official Osservatore Romano tonight.

The new code, the preliminary draft of which, after approval by Premier Mussolini, was made public today, contains provisions against birth control, which have received the unqualified support of the highest ecclesiastical authorities.

The enthusiastic fascist press which today greeted this revolutionary document as the greatest progress in the codification of laws since the Napoleonic era, found a ready echo in the church press.

The anti-birth control measures, which are exceptionally severe, are described by Osservatore Romano tonight as "most courageous and at the same time most efficacious."

The new code provides for imprisonment for one year for whoever incites practices of birth control or carries on propaganda in its favor.

New safeguards for the institution of marriage and legitimacy of offspring in Italy are provided in a five-year prison penalty for seduction under promise of marriage.

If Alertox Fails In Constipation Call A Doctor

This new preparation acts with time-clock precision in 60 to 90 minutes; gives one thorough elimination and no more; does not interfere with duties, habits or diet, and guaranteed to remove, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula, leaving you buoyant, vivacious an alert, mentally and physically.

These are but a few of the many wonderful advantages of this latest discovery known as 'Alertox," which flushes the alimentary tract and reestablishes a natural, healthy liver and bowel action, and is much quicker, more palatable and far more effective than calomel, oils or other nauseating cathartics that merely goad the liver and work you to death.

Alertox also alkalines the system and thoroughly cleanses it of the poisons that cause auto-intoxication. Get a bottle from your druggist, and if you are not satisfied after taking one dose, get your money back. If your druggist cannot supply Alertox, sent direct upon receipt of price, 60c. Naval Disaster Dead in Japan Stand at 119

Tokio, August 26—(AP)—Figures given out today placed the dead in Wednesday night's Japanese naval disaster at 119, including 11 officers. Only one body had been recovered. Warships and airplanes were continuing the search.

Four warships were involved. The destroyer Warabi sank in 15 minutes after being struck by the cruiser Jintsu, and today it was believed to be impossible to refloat her. The cruiser Naka, which collided with the destroyer Ashi, was badly damaged. She arrived at the naval station at Maizuru last night under her own steam. The Ashi also arrived after effecting temporary repairs.

The warships were engaged in maneuvers off Maizuru when the collisions occurred. Further maneuvers were suspended.

Emperor Hirohito was greatly moved on hearing of the disaster. He dispatched two messengers to the scene.

The newspaper Asahi quotes a statement given out by naval headquarters at Maizuru as attributing the disaster to the dense fog and darkness.

DARROW MAY FIGHT FOR KLAN LEADER

Michigan City, Ind., August 26. (AP)—Robert H. Moore, an attorney for D. C. Stephenson, said after a conference with Stephenson in state prison here today he understood that a group of Indianapolis business men had retained Clarence Darrow, of Chicago, to lead the fight to free the former Ku Klux Klan dragon. Stephenson is serving a life sentence for murder of Madge Oberholtzer of Indianapolis.

Moore also said he understood that Indianapolis newspapers would join the business men in contributing to a fund to meet Stephenson's legal expenses.

"There are some business people and industrial leaders in Indiana who want to see the state freed of corrupt politics," Moore asserted," and they know that Stephenson is being kept behind bars to prevent him from revealing a wholesale conspiracy to enslave the state. These interests, I understand, have engaged Mr. Darrow."

Accompanied by a deputy prosecuting attorney two members of the Marion county grand jury today visited Stephenson at the state prison in connection with charges he has made of political corruption in Indiana.

Harry Wangelin and John J. Madden were the grand jurors. They wer accompanied by William H. Scheafer, deputy prosecuting attorney. None of the men would explain the reason for the visit but it was indicated they were seeking first-hand information relative to evidence the grand jury has been sifting in recent weeks.

DARROW IN EUROPE REPORT UNCONFIRMED.

Chicago, August 26.—(AP)—Clarence Darrow is in Europe and is not expected to return to his office before November 1. He may remain even longer than that, a secretary said. Attaches could give no information regarding the report that he has been retained as counsel for D. C. Stephenson, former Indiana klan officials, now serving a life sentence for murder.

INDIANAPOLIS PAPERS DENY RAISING FUND.

Indianapolis, August 26.—(AP)—Officials of Indianapolis' three daily newspapers today denied that their publications would join a group of business men in contributing to a fund to meet the legal expenses of D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan and now serving a life term for murder at Michigan City prison.

Robert H. Moore, a Michigan City attorney, who is one of Stephenson's representatives, said after a conference with the former klansman today that he understood such a movement was underway in Indianapolis. Editors of the Indianapolis News, the Indianapolis Star and the Indianapolis Times denied that their papers would contribute to such a fund.

MOVE IS STARTED TO PENSION WIDOW OF TOM MARSHALL

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Indianapolis, Ind., August 26.—Sales of Thomas R. Marshall's autobiography, once brisk, are falling off, and it is understood sympathetic consideration by congress of a pension bill buried in committee at the last session would be a timely aid to the war-time vice president's widow.

Mrs. Marshall, visiting friends here after several months spent with her mother in Arizona, refuses to encourage any pension move, however. Friends point out she has never declined a pension for she has never received offer of one. Mr. Marshall's estate was not extensive. As governor of Indiana and then as vice president eight years with Woodrow Wilson, Mr. Marshall was possibly overly generous and spurned opportunities to reinforce his income from other sources than his official salary.

HOT SPRINGS—It's only three days' easy driving to Hot Springs! Maybe it's one of those places you have always wanted to visit, but have felt that it's too far away, or too difficult to reach. If that's all that's keeping you from seeing Hot Springs just pack your grip, get a Constitution motorlog and start out. The high spots on the trip are Rome, Gadsden, Birmingham, Jasper, Memphis, Little Rock and Hot Springs.

Constitution motorlogs, compiled by driving all the routes and selecting the better ones, may be had at The Constitution's travel bureau for 25 cents, or you may get them from your druggist, tire store, filling station or book store.

The Constitution's Falcon-Knight pathfinders are now selecting routes between Atlanta and such distant points as New York, Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago. These will be ready for distribution in the near future.

Four Bombs Again Blast Strike Area

Henderson, N. C., August 26.—(AP)—Authorities continued mystified in the wake of additional bombings believed by police to be part of an intimidation campaign being waged against mill workers who, walking out with the 800 employees of four local Harriet cotton mills, returned to their jobs a few days later.

Two of the bombs were exploded last night, two additional blasts following shortly after midnight this morning. No damage was done and it was apparent the blasts were not intended to cause either death or property damage. All occurred either in the streets of the mill village or on vacant lots near homes of mill workers.

Sheriff's men and city officials continuing their investigation of last nights blastings, the three of Thursday night and two which occurred on the morning of August 19 say they are without clues. It was the opinion of the officials that last night's bombs were hurled from passing automobiles.

Damage had been done by only one of the explosions, that which was planted at the home of M. E. Partin, of August 19. The back of his cottage was slightly damaged.

KATHRYN ROSS RETURNS TO ITALY TO SING ROLES

New York, August 26.—(AP)—Kathryn Ross, 25-year-old dramatic soprano of Wilmington, Del., sailed on the liner Suffren today, returning to Italy to sing principal roles in grand opera at Naples, Palermo, Rome, Florence and Venice during the coming season.

Miss Ross, daughter of F. A. Ross, superintendent of passenger service of the southern division of the Pennsylvania railroad, made her debut in grand opera in Naples last fall.

She studied at Blackstone college Virginia, and later was graduated from Combs conservatory, Philadelphia. She then accepted a position as head of the vocal department at Coker college, Hartsville, S. C., and later of the Women's college at the University of Alabama.

Subsequently she studied under J. H. Duval, internationally known maestro.

SHERIFF ACCUSED OF AIDING FATHER TO ESCAPE JAIL

Tulsa, Okla., August 26.—(AP)—Sheriff Charles E. Hendrix was accused today of aiding his father to escape from jail after discharging the officer who had arrested him on a liquor charge and the turnkey of Okfuskee county jail.

"Any man who hasn't nerve enough to keep his father out of jail hasn't nerve enough to be sheriff," Hendrix was quoted as saying.

The sheriff surrendered to a federal warrant and was released on bond of $5,000.

COURT RULING ORDERS AUTOS TRIED IN DRY CASE

Omaha, Neb., August 26.—(AP)—Decision on a case in federal court here, titled "The United States of America vs. One Ford," has endowed the automobile with a personality and established a new legal precedent in the court warfare against liquor law violations.

Federal Judge Woodrough in his ruling in the case decided that an automobile used for unlawful concealment or conveyance of intoxicating liquor is equally guilty with an individual if used to violate the internal revenue laws, and is punishable by confiscation.

The court ruled also that a person or corporation having a lien on such a car must suffer the loss incurred by confiscation.

ORDERS TO JOIN UNION REFUSED; JUNK DEALER SHOT

Chicago, August 26.—(United News.)—Between 20 and 25 persons were arrested late today in connection with the fatal shooting of Maxt Braverman, 45, a junk dealer, who offered resistance to 20 armed men when they tried to force him to join a union.

A number of junk peddlers who had refused to join the union were holding a meeting when five cars loaded with armed men drove up ordering them to organize.

When they refused, the intruders began shooting. It was the second shooting in two weeks over disputes among junk dealers regarding organization.

SUSPECTED NEGRO THEFT LEADERS HELD

Police believe they had caught the leaders of a band of petty negro thieves Friday night when five suspects, along with a quantity of presumably stolen merchandise, were brought to headquarters by Detectives Chester and Jones.

The negroes furnished their names as follows:

Eldridge Waller, of a Fraser street address; Will Jones, Mechanic street; Jim Miller, 44 Battle street; Clarence Jenkins, 490 Dover street, and Robert Scott, proprietor of a Decatur street boot-black stand.

All were grilled for several hours, confessing, police said, to taking part in a number of robberies, including those of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company music store and the Southern Railway freight depot.

Included in a list of articles recovered by the arresting officers were two fine portable talking machines in expensive leather cases. One was found in the home of Miller, the other in Jenkins' residence, officers stated.

The negroes, according to detectives, have been making off with automobile tires and various clothing stocks in isolated warehouses throughout the city.

Meanwhile the home of J. B. Herndan, at 1561 Melrose drive, had been forcibly entered and a quantity of clothing stolen, the owner reported. A pistol and clothing was taken from a residence at 1289 Highland avenue; while the place of S. Rosenberg, 213 Peters street, was also visited. Rosenberg lost a sizeable amount of money, he told officers.

Boys Recaptured.

Washington, August 26.—(AP)—Seven boy inmates of the house of detention here escaped last night by sawing away bars of a window, five of the youths being recaptured early today after reentering the building to get their clothes.

SYNOPSIS.

On the way to Donald Brierly's home for luncheon Connie Elmore, Donald's fiancee, tells her friend Olive Weston that Donald stands a chance of inheriting half a million from the estate of old Harrowby, a friend of Donald's father.

Olive is secretly in love with Donald but sincerely pleased at Connie's good fortune in winning him.

Sandle and Querk, solicitors handling the Harrowby estate, are crooked and plot to cheat Donald Brierly of the fortune by having a spurious heir appear whose claim is prior to Donald's. In the midst of the plotting Augustus Brierly, Donald's father, presumed to have died when the Titanic sunk, call on Sandle.

Querk suggests to Sandle that he invite Brierly to Harrowby's house and there with the assistance of Querk's clerk, Wade, dispose of Brierly.

Connie decides to visit her old nurse, who is now caretaker of Harrowby house. Mrs. Jones is out but Connie finds the key and lets herself in to wait for her. She hears strange noises in the library, and going to investigate she sees Mr. Sandle and another man kill Mr. Brierly, whom she recognizes from his portrait. Rushing out of the house Connie stumbles into Mr. Querk. While telling her story Querk pushes the bell and sends a signal to the murderers. Connie sees a policeman and calling him the three of them proceed to the library and Connie asks Querk to open the secret panel in the wall where she has seen the men place the body, but it is empty and Querk pretends that she imagined the murder, he accompanies her to the police station, where she tells her story to the police superintendnt.

A THREAT.

The police superintendent looked alarmed.

"Do I understand you to say, my dear Miss Elmore, that Br. Brierly—ah—would not know whether he was—ah—alive or—ah—"

"It was not Mr. Brierly, I told you!" exclaimed Connie, feeling as if she were playing a part in her own nightmare. "It was Mr. Donald Brierly's father."

"Oh-h!" said Querk, as if he were profoundly astonished. He stared at the ceiling and then at the superintendent. "Bue—er—Br. Brierly's father has been dead for nearly 13 years. He went down on the Titanic, poor fellow!"

As he spoke, Querk caught the superintendent's eye, shook his head and contrived to look embarrassed.

He was supposed to have been drowned in the Titanic," said Connie, her anger mounting rapidly, "but I know that he wasn't, because I saw him this afternoon. I saw him murdered by Mr. Sandle and another man—as I have stated until I am almost tired of the sound of the words!"

Querk shot an appealing glance at the superintendent as if for help. The superintendent noted Connie's youthfulness as well as her beauty.

"You admit, Miss Elmore, that 13 years is quite a long time for a young lady to remember a face. You haven't seen this man for 13 years—and, forgive my making a personal remark, but you can't have been more than a child when you last saw him. When did you last see him, may I ask?"

"I have never seen him before at all," said Connie shortly.

"Then how can you possibly—"

"I've seen a painting of him—I saw it today." At the thought of the painting of the dignified features and the kind fine eyes it had so faithfully portrayed, anger left her and she could only give way to pity and horror for what had been done to Donald's father. She buried her face in her hands, convulsive tremors shaking her. "Oh, people have been supposed to be drowned before when they weren't really, haven't they?" she wept.

"Some people," said the superintendent and abruptly dropped the subject. "What about this Mr. Sandle?"

They very use of the word "Mr." made it clear to Connie that the superintendent did not believe that the man was murdered. She dried her eyes with what dignity she could and faced the fact that, so far, she had made no impression whatever on the forces of law and order.

"Mr. Sandle?" she repeated wearily. "Oh, I have met him several times at Mr. Querk's—this gentleman's—flat. . . . No, I could not be mistaken. I should recognize him anywhere."

"Even in a darkened room? I suppose the room was darkened? In an empty house the blinds are usually kept drawn."

"The room was rather dim," admitted Connie, "but there was enough light for me to see—"

"I can give you Mr. Sandle's business and private address," put in Querk. "If you intend to communicate with him this evenin you will, of course, need his private address. Here it is."

"Will you answer this question, please?" broke in Connie desperately as Querk scribbled Sandle's address on the superintendent's writing block. "Do you intend to arrest Mr. Sandle?"

The superintendent smiled. The smile told Connie that she had been beating herself against the walls of a cage.

"We have to be very careful before we arrest people nowadays, you know, Miss Elmore, or we should soon be getting into trouble. But don't you worry about it. You leave the matter in our hands. You just give me your address in case I should have anything to report."

Connie, unable to speak, watched and listened while Querk supplied her addres salso. Then, still dumb, she turned away. As she groped for the handle of the door, she found the little solicitor again at her side and at that she believed she had come to the end of her endurance.

"Please—" she gasped.

"You will allow me to see you home, Miss Elmore, I beg?"

And then suddenly Connie saw what she ought to do next—what she ought to have done in the first place.

"No, thank you, Mr. Querk. I am not going home. I am going to see Miss Weston at the Daily Record."

In spite of her effort to control her voice, the last words sounded a threat. She did not care. Her whole soul cried out for her friend Olive. Olive would not meet her with a blank, puzzled stare of incredulity. Ignoring the superintendent, she ran from the room.

A quarter of an hour later Olive came to her in th ealready crowded waiting room of the Daily Record offices.

"I must see you privately," Connie whispered. "Take me somewhere where I can talk."

"What on earth—?"

"Olive, 'Im—I'm nearly crazy with worrk. Don't ask me anything; just let me tell you something."

"I must ask you this, Connie. Is there anything wrong with Donald?"

"No, no! Oh, Olive—"

Olive's long drawn breath of relief had calmed Connie slightly. Appalling as was the tragedy that she had witnessed, there remained the thought that it was not Donald who had been struck down before her eyes. Donald—than God—was still alive and safe. . . . Olive had regained her crisp, cool manner.

"There's not a quiet corner in the whole of this barn," she said. "Come with me."

Bareheaded, she led Connie into the street, stopped a taxi and opened the door.

"Pull the flag down, don't go anywhere, and stop your engine," she ordered.

The man nodded without surprise. It was not the first time his cab had been used as a private office. The girls hurried inside and closed the door. Then Olive's arms, strong almost as a man's, encircles her friend.

"Now, Connikin's, I can see there's something pretty bad—cought it up!"

Connie tried to begin, faltered and broke down. The fear that Olive—her tower of strength—might fail her, too, laid a weight upon her lips. She rested her cheek against the dark cloth of Olive's coat and remembered that it was a new costume, worn today for the first time in honor of their visit to Rubington. Today! Was it only a matter of hours ago that she and Olive had sat with Donald at his table and laughter about Olive's cynicism and been so happy?

Connie sobbed aloud and Olive's arms closed more tightly round her; and suddenly Connie found words tumbling out.

"Olive, I saw some one muredered—it was Donald's father—Mr. Sandle and another man murdered him but nobody will believe me because Mr. Brierly is supposed to have gone down on the Titanic and because—because the body can't be found!"

Olive had stifled an exclamation of amazement but not—so Connie thankfully noted—of incredulity; and the clasp of her arms had not slackened.

"None of them—the constable, Mr. Querk, the police superintendent—none of them believe a word I say." Connie's face burrowed more deeply into the tweel. "Olive, what shall I do?"

"Men get like that sometimes," said Olive in so practical a tone that Connie's tears ceased at once. "One sets the others off. As for what you are to do, I can't say yet because you haven't told me any of the details. Do you feel like going into it now?"

Horse Show To Be Held In Knoxville, Tenn.

Knoxville, Tenn., August 26.—Social leaders in Knoxville, Tenn., are enthusiastic over the horse show to be held at Sterchi park in September, and the first affair of this nature to be launched in 12 years. These tanbark events used to be very brilliant occasions a dozen years ago, and renewed interest in the revival of this popular sport.

The recently organized Smoky Mountain Riding club will sponsor th project, with Dr. J. P. Huffaker, experienced teacher and head of the riding academy, assisting. Among the prominent members owning thoroughbred mounts are Dr. M. M. Copenhaver, Miss Margaret Lockett, Shepard Webb, Mrs. D. C. Webb, John Cailis, Mrs. Clarence Carmichael, Hugh Jones, Mrs. Lucian Briscoe, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Arnold, Mrs. Roy Lotspeich, Miss Nancy Handly, Miss Margaret Bonnyman, Charles P. Biddle, Ethel Lotspeich, Herbert Blankenship, Mrs. Frank Galyon, Mrs. Lucian Brisco, Miss Jean McNutt and Charles A. Russell.

Women interested in the horse show to be held at the Sterchi park September 19, 20 and 21 met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Lucien Briscoe, and appointed committees to sell the boxes and to push the show in every way possible.

It was announced that the box seats will be built around the bed of the old upper lake which has been drained. Spectators will thus be afforded an excellent vantage point to view the show, and the dry bed of the lake will form a natural ampitheater.

Those appointed on the committee to sell the boxes were:

Miss Margaret Lockett, Mrs. Lucien Briscoe, Mrs. Clarance Carmichael, Miss Frances Deane, Miss Jean McNutt, Mrs. Clary Webb, Mrs. Lum Harris, Mrs. Reagan Ashe, Mrs. H. N. Saxton, Miss Decie Merwin Mrs. Edward Ogden, Mrs. J. B. Coykendall, Mrs. Paul Mountcastle, Mrs. M. D. Arnold, Mrs. Ellis Talley, Mrs. Morton Rose, Mrs. Dwight Meigs, Miss Nancy Handley, Mrs. A. C. Bittle and Miss Edith Gaines.

MUNICIPAL POOLS TO BE OPEN ONLY FROM 2 TO 7 P. M.

With the cool fall days and nights drawing near, Atlanta's swimming hours will be decreased and beginning Monday, August 29, the municipal pools of the city will be open every day between the hours of 2 o'clock in the afternoon and 7 o'clock at night, according to L. L. Wallis, general manager of Atlanta's parks.

Swimming in the early morning and after 7 o'clock at night, which custom has been in force since the opening of the pools in the early summer, will be discontinued, starting Monday, Mr. Wallis stated.

2 RECEIVE SENTENCES IN LIQUOR VIOLATIONS

Two pleas of guilty to whisky charges were entered Friday in United States district court. In one, Henry Fortson, white, of Forsyth county, admitted the possession and transportation of 41 gallons of liquor, and was fined $100.

In the other case, Frisby Forster, negro, pleaded guilty to possessing two gallons. As Forster had already served a state court gang sentence for the same offense, Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley fixed his fine at $10.

Forster was unable to pay the $10 fine and Judge Sibley allowed his mother to sign a $25 bond for him for 30 days so that the negro may work and earn the money to pay the fine.

DR. DUNBAR H. OGDEN AT CENTRAL CHURCH

Dr. Dunbar H. Ogden, pastor of Government Street Presbyterian church of Mobile, will again speak from his old pulpit at Central Presbyterian church on Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service. SHOOTING OF OFFICERS BRINGS 2 INDICTMENTS

Two indictments against J. M. Adams, Hewlett road farmer, were returned Friday by the Fulton county grand jury on charges of assault with intent to murder. Adams is charged with shooting at two county policemen Wednesday night while the officers were looking for a reported load of whisky.

Claude E. Webb and Charles E. Lyle, the wounded officers, are recovering from bullet wounds in the legs and feet. They are at Davis-Fischer sanatorium.

True bills, charging assault with intent to murder, were also returned against C. J. Lackey and R. L. Lackey, brothers, of 963 Moreland avenue. The Lackeys are alleged to have stabbed Mrs. Freida McIntosh, 20, of 851 South Pryor street, in the abdomen in an argument following a collision between their car and a machine Mrs. McIntosh was riding in. The stabbing took place on August 19.

Two negroes were indicted for murder. Johnnie Griffin is charged with the fatal stabbing of Jim Weaver, on August 23, while C. L. Logan is charged with the fatal shooting of Carrie Logan on August 21.

Brought to the courthouse from Fulton tower to make an additional statement in connection with the death of William McKinley Guy, Mrs. Joe North, who will go on trial Monday on murder charges in the Guy case, refused to appear before the grand jury. She was then returned to the tower. Guy was stabbed fatally in a Woodward avenue rooming house and F. M. Barksdale and Joe North, the latter the husband of the accused woman, are being held in the tower as material witnesses.

HANSON M'NAMARA ELECTED TO HEAD INSURANCE CLUB

Election of Hanson McNamara, of the Atlanta offices, as president of the Georgia field club of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York featured the annual meeting of the organization Friday at the Henry Grady hotel. Mr. McNamara succeeds C. L. Holman, of Columbus, who presided over the gathering of Mutual Life agents engaged in field work in Georgia.

The annual banquet was held Friday night at the Biltmore, with addresses by John M. Slaton, Judge Shepard Bryan and W. C. Edwards. The convention was attended by 75 Georgia agents. Robert F. Shedden, who holds the record of being the oldest manager in point of service with the company, is in charge of Georgia territory and has headquarters here.

NO DATE YET SET TO TRY PREACHER ON ARSON CHARGE

No date for the trial of the Rev. S. P. Miller on charges of arson has yet been set, it was announced Friday at the solicitor general's office. The case, in which Mr. Miller is charged with setting fire to his residence at 974 Oglethorpe avenue, will be placed on the court calendar within the near future, it was said.

The Rev. Miller and Mrs. Miller issued a statement Friday in which they expressed fullest appreciation of the warm friendship of the "many within and without our congregation who have hastened to our relief. They also voiced "defiance for our enemies who are hounding us."

A review of the safety measures necessitated by new power developments in the southeast and a discussion of methods of training employees and the general public in all forms of first-aid work, featured the opening Friday of a two-day session of the southeastern division of the National Electric Light association at the Henry Grady hotel.

The accident prevention committee and the prime movers' committee of the association consist of 15 representatives of the leading light and power companies of this section. E. H. Reynolds, of Miami, Fla., in chairman of the accident prevention committee, and had charge of the opening meeting Friday. The prime movers' committee was presided over by J. H. White, of Miami, and a representative of the Florida Power and Light company.

INSPECTION OF OIL NOT TO BE STARTED UNTIL JANUARY 1

Because no appropriations will be available for oil inspection until January 1, 1928, the state will go without inspection of oil from September 1 until January 1, according to a statement issued Friday by General William A. Wright, state comptroller.

Under the Neill law passed by the legislature recently, the present system of inspection on the fee basis is abolished September 1, 1927. The new system of inspection by six oil inspectors goes into effect at the same time, but no appropriations will be available until January 1 under the Neill bill.

No appointments of oil inspectors will be announced by General Wright until the new system becomes operative. His office has been flooded with applications for the places.

PERRY CHARGE FALSE, ASSERTS M'DONALD

Walter R. McDonald, member of the Georgia public service commission, Friday replied to a statement made Monday by James A. Perry, chairman of the commission, in which Mr. Perry charged that Mr. McDonald had sought the chairmanship of the commission and denied that his own election as chairman had been illegal.

Mr. McDonald Friday charged that Mr. Perry's entire statement "is so palpably false and fallaciously unreasonable and illogical that it hardly requires an answer."

Mr McDonald's statement, in part, follows:

"Except for the fact that my friends and the readers of your paper are due a response by me to Chairman Perry's card appearing in your issue of the 23rd inst., I would pass it up without notice, for his entire card is so palpably false and fallaciously unreasonable and illogical that it hardly requires an answer.

"Furthermore, my one aim and purpose is and has been to do all that I can to restore the confidence of the public in this most important department of government, which affects directly more than any other governmental function the material and vital interest of every man, woman and child in Georgia.

"My card appearing in your issue of last Sunday was prompted solely by a duty which I felt to be owing those who knew of my activity against Chairman Perry, and there were many of them, and it will be noted that I studiously avoided personalities; as I shall do here, and addressed myself to the careful, concise detailing of the true facts as to the reorganization meeting and my position and purpose in the entire matter. Mr. Perry, your statement that my card was a political move is inaccurate, misleading and unfounded.

"This commission is a court of record, so to speak, and besides diligently preserving the complete record and correspondence in each and every case handled before the commission, also preserves in detail through its minutes the history of the progress and final disposition of all matters handled. These reports and minutes speak for themselves and disclose my position, and Chairman Perry's attempted subversion of those records will in no wise change those records or my position.

"My friends as well as the parties of interest in them know full well where I stood in the several cases mentioned by him and they know the whole truth about those cases.

"I was not a candidate for the chairmanship in the recent reorganization of the commission and, as previously stated, my every effort was directed towards the election of one of my colleagues. It is an easily provable fact that the statement in Chairman Perry's card to the effect that I was a candidate for the chairmanship following the death of the late chairman, Paul B. Trammell, in February, 1926, besides being ungrateful, is utterly false.

"I gratefully accepted at the hands of the voters of Georgia service on this important commission and so long as I shall continue to hold this office I shall strain every nerve and fibre of my being and strive in every way possible to conscientiously and faithfully serve the very best interest of those same people."

POWER CO. APPRAISAL ATTACKED BY MAYSON

Competency of A. J. Luick, of Chicago, to give a correct appraisal of the valuation of properties of the Georgia Power company is attacked in a brief filed in the 10-cent fare case before the state public service commission Friday by James L. Mayson, city attorney.

In his brief Mr. Mayson declares that the power company bases its case largely on the testimony of Mr. Luick and that Mr. Luick spent only four weeks in Atlanta assembling information. He declared that the Beeler report, made by Engineer Beeler, placed a lower valuation than did Mr. Luick and stated that Mr. Beeler worked more than a year with eleven assistants in compiling his report.

In his testimony before the commission at the recent hearing Mr. Luick fixed the valuation of the properties of the company as of January 1, 1927, at $25,835,000. Mr. Mayson charged that an 8 per cent return on this investment is too high and stated that railroads are only allowed 5 1-2 per cent. He also attacked an item of approximately $3,000,000 fixed by Mr. Luick on the reproduction cost of paving assessed against the company. Mr. Mayson said paving charges should be paid out of operating expenses.

Separation of Earnings.

Mr. Mayson discussed at length other features of the case, including the matter of separating the earnings of the street railway company from the earnings of other properties of the company and the matter of reduced fare for children. Mr. Mayson insisted that children under 12 years of age should ride for a 5-cent fare.

"We want to make an especial plea to the commission to make a fare of 5 cents for children under 12 years of age and for all school children," Mr. Mayson declared.

Another development in the fare case Friday was the statement of John A. Manget, local capitalist, that the power company returned its properties for taxation at $19,1500,000, whereas in the recent hearing the company contended that its properties were worth $26,000,000. This statement was made in a letter Mr. Manget wrote Comptroller General William A. Wright.

In his letter Mr. Manget urged General Wright to see that the properties of the company are investigated and to examine the records to see if the company did not place its valuation at $26,000 in the public service commission and at $19,100,000 in the comptroller's office.

WESTERN COMPANY CONVENTION HOST TO DISTRIBUTORS

Feature speakers Friday were Charles E. Watkins, of the General Motors sales promotion department, and J. T. Woodside, vice president and merchandising manager of the Western company. About 100 distributing representatives were present and A. C. Levis, president of the Western company, entertained them at a banquet Friday night. Business sessions this morning and a noon luncheon will conclude the convention.

CONTINUED COOL WEATHER OUTLOOK OVER WEEK-END

Continued cool weather, with clearer skies, is the prediction for Atlanta and vicinity today and Sunday, according to C. F. von Herrmann, in charge of the local office of the United States weather bureau. The touch of cool fall weather will remain over the week-end, it was stated. Today's temperatures are expected to range between 58 and 78 degrees.

Friday's temperatures ranged from 61 as the low mark to a maximum of 76 during the early hours of the afternoon. The cloudy skies that hovered over the city during Friday are expected to clear up during the day and the afternoon should be pleasant, the weather man stated.

Ice Cream Supper.

The Methodists of Nellie Dodd church, corner of Washington street and Ridge avenue, will serve ice cream in the grove near the church Saturday afternoon and evening, the proceeds to go into the church funds.

NOTICE TO MOVERS

If you are moving, or expect to, do not fail to call WAlnut 6565, ask for city circulation department, and have The Constitution changed to your new address. Give your old address and state last day you desire The Constitution left there, then give your new address complete and state first day you desire the paper at your new address, and it will be there. Be sure to either phone or write change address instructions.

Supremacy of Morning Paper

The average person wants his morning newspaper the first thing every morning, and feels lost without it. He wants to know what has happened over the world while he has been asleep. He knows, if he is any sort of an analyst, that the morning paper has first call on 75% of all the news that breaks over the world, and 90% of the news that happens locally.

The morning paper publishes first all the news that comes from noon until after midnight, and it is still news when it reaches the reader.

Give The Constitution the proper change instructions, and you will not miss a single copy of your morning paper.

GUARD IS SUSPENDED AFTER BANK ROBBERY

New Orleans, August 26.—(AP)—Patrolman John W. Reis, who was on duty at the Freret branch of the Interstate Bank and Trust company this morning when the bank was held up and robbed by two unmasked bandits, has been suspended, according to Sergeant Herman E. Stupey. According to statements by witnesses of the holdup, Stupey said, Patrolman Reis stepped out of a back room as the bandits were leaving the bank, but made no effort to use his gun, and "from information and statements I have Officer Reis could easily have shot both of the bandits."

The bandits entered the branch bank in the uptown business district at 11:30 o'clock this morning, and while one of them held bank employees at bay with a shotgun, the other unhurriedly ransacked the vault and the teller's drawer and scooped $14,566 into a white canvas bag, according to Henry Lovit, acting manager of the bank. After the job was complete—in less than three minutes—the bandits leisurely walked out of the bank, got in their automobile parked at the curb and sped away down Napoleon avenue.

Bank officials said this is the second time the bank has been robbed in a year. The loss, it was said, is covered by insurance. Neither clue to the identity of the bandits nor trace of their whereabouts has been discovered, police said tonight.

JACKSONVILLE BANDIT SEARCH SPREADS.

Jacksonville, Fla., August 26.—(AP) Jacksonville authorities tonight initiated a country-wide search for the two bandits, who, unmasked, held up the Riverside Atlantic bank at Park and Dora streets, forced two employees and a customer to the rear of the building, scooped up $1,500 in cash and beat a hasty retreat.

It was the second time within six months that the institution had been robbed, the bandits in the previous case having been apprehended after an extensive search and sentenced to long prison terms and a portion of the loot recovered.

The two men entered the bank at about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, flourished guns at Cashier M. B. Belvin and Teller W. J. Woolward and Customer William Fouraker, and forced them to the rear of the building, ordering them to stand with their faces toward the wall. The men took the $1,500 from a teller's cage but made no effort to enter the vault where a large sum was in reserve.

SEVEN CANADIANS ARE INDICTED BY JURY IN SEATTLE

Seattle, Wash., August 26.—(AP)—Seven residents of Vancouver, B. C., some of them prominent in British Columbia liquor exporting and distilling concerns, are under indictment here on charges of conspiring to violate the national prohibition act.

Federal Judge Jeremiah Neterer yesterday released a secret indictment returned by the federal grand jury June 3 in connection with the seizure of the liquor-laden Canadian motor launch Zev.

The Canadians named among the 24 defendants are Oakland D. Lampman, managing director of Joseph Kennedy, Ltd., Vancouver liquor export house; Harry Reifel, secretary of the Kennedy company and member of the millionaire Reifel family in Vancouver; George Reifel, brother of Harry and manager of the British Columbia Distillery Co., Ltd.; Lamond B. Milne, warehouse man for the Kennedy company; George Massie, also a warehouse man; Louis Bernardina, Vancouver liquor dealer, and Charles Wallace, grain and feed shipper of Vancouver.

A Canadian customs official is unofficially reported to be among three men mentioned in the indictment as "John Doe." The Canadians have not been arrested. The other defendants are Americans alleged to have assisted in importation of huge quantities of liquor from Vancouver by rail, water and automobile.

Three Autoists Hurt When Driver Falls Asleep at Wheel

Americus, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Heard were painfully injured and their baby daughter severely shocked when their automobile was wrecked on the Americus-Ellaville highway Thursday. The accident occurred when Heard fell asleep at the wheel, he told friends following the accident. This, he explained, was due to the fact that he had remained awake late Wednesday night.

The party was en route to their home in Plymouth, Fla., after having visited relatives in Atlanta.

BUTTS COUNTY JAIL WITHOUT OCCUPANT

Jackson, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—The Butts county jail is without a single occupant and the road force received substantial recruits as the result of a steady grind in the criminal division of superior court here this week. Of 31 cases tried there was one acquittal and one mistrial, the other 29 cases resulting in convictions.

The business was mostly of a trivial nature, whisky, pistols and gambling, there being no murder cases on the calendar. Stiff sentences were imposed by Judge Ogden Persons, of the Flint circuit, and straight chain gang sentences were assessed in several liquor cases.

THOMAS WAREHOUSE TO CLOSE THURSDAY

Thomasville, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—The Thomas county tobacco warehouse will hold its last sale of the 1927 tobacco season next Thursday, Setpember 1, according to announcement by those in charge of its operation.

To date the sales at the local warehouse have been fully up to the expectation of the management and the farmers and growers are reported well pleased with the prices they have received, considering the fact that much low grade tobacco has been offered, the weather conditions during the planting and growing season this year not having been as favorable as in previous years.

This week witnessed some of the best sales of the season, both in number of pounds offered and in prices received.

ARGENTINA RETURNS TO GOLD STANDARD

Buenos Aires, Argentina, August 26.—(AP)—Argentina has returned to the gold standard. A government decree announces the reopening of the Caja de Conversation (conversion office) closed at the outbreak of the world war, and thus the paper peso once more is convertible into 44 centavos gold.

MEMPHIS POLICE GRAFT SCANDAL WILL GET AIRING

Memphis, Tenn., August 26.—Alleged graft scandals in the Memphis police department were being given another airing here early this morning when Allan McNamara, noted police character, stepped from the county workhouse, free on a pardon issued by Governor Austin Peay and was taken into custody by federal officers.

McNamara, who was serving a sentence of 11 months and 29 days on a liquor charge, was pardoned, it was asserted in official quarters, when he decided to turn state's witness in the widely known Bellomini "pay off" book case. McNamara was said by police to have been a partner of John Bellomini before he was sent to the workhouse.

Officers allege a certain ledger taken in a raid on Bellomini's place contained the names of more than 50 of Memphis' police officers and beside each name was entered various amounts of money. The pardon of McNamara was another step in a wide investigation being conducted by high police officials and federal authorities.

McNamara was in conference with officers early this morning and it was understood by Commissioner Thomas Allen that he was "telling the whole story."

JUGO-SLAV PACT IS TURNED DOWN BY GREEK HOUSE

Athens, August 26.—(AP)—The Greek parliament today unanimously rejected the Greek-Jugo-Slav convention arranged during the regime of Premier Pangalos. Foreign Minister Michalakopulos is planning to leave today for Geneva to explain the reasons for the rejection and the desire on the part of Greece to renew negotiations granting Jugo-Slav commerce every facility.

An arbitration pact was signed by Greece and Jugo-Slavia August 17, 1926. It was hailed as a treaty of friendship, to be registered with the League of Nations, that would provide an effective starting point for the adjustment of all outstanding questions in the "cockpit" of Europe. It was officially announced that the treaty was a guaranty of arbitration in the event of a dispute between Greece and Jugo-Slavia.

NICARAGUA BANDIT WILL SURRENDER ON CASH BASIS

Managua, Nicaragua, August 26.—(AP)—General Carlos Salgado, who has been keeping northwest Nicaragua in a state of turmoil by acts of banditry the last few weeks, is disposed to turn over his arms and cease his operations provided he receives money for himself and his followers.

This developed at a conference yesterday between Salgado and a commission sent to his headquarters at Somoto when word reached Managua that he had promised to deliver his arms in return for guarantees of safety. Latest information is that the Salgado band numbers 80.

Colonel Elias R. Beadle, of the United States marines, appointed brigadier general of the Nicaraguan constabulary, has dispatched a company to Corinto to maintain order in Nicaragua's largest Pacific seaport.

NEGRO IS SENTENCED TO BE ELECTROCUTED

Savannah, Ga., August 26.—(AP)—George Fickling, negro, who was tried in the superior court yesterday and convicted during the late afternoon on a charge of murder, was sentenced by Judge Meldrim shortly after 10 o'clock this morning to be electrocuted at the state prison farm October 14. William H. Bedgood, attorney for the defendant, announced that a motion for a new trial will be filed.

Fickling was indicted for killing Dan Strickland, negro, a brother-in-law, in West Savannah on July 17, last, with a pistol.

MOVIE PLAYERS END THEIR ENGAGEMENT

Hollywood, Calif., August 26.—(AP) The engagement of Christina Montt and Mario Marano, both of the films and each representing families high in South American political circles today had been broken after existing only a few months.

Miss Montt said she and Marano had decided their temperaments would make their planned marriage inadvisable. She declared she had decided not to marry a man of her own nationality.

The family of Miss Montt has been prominent in Chilean politics since the country won its independence. Marano's father, whose name is spelled Maranhan, is chief justice of Brazil.

WAYNESBORO MAN GETS MILITARY RANK

Waynesboro, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Friends of Hon. H. C. Hatcher, of Waynesboro, are congratulating him on his promotion to rank of major in the judge advocate general department of the state of Georgia staff, national guard.

Major Hatcher was formerly first lieutenant in battery A, 118th field artillery, Waynesboro. He has always taken a keen interest in military affairs.

Major Hatcher graduated from the University of Georgia in the class of 1910, and represented Burke county in the legislature.

MRS. JOE L. CHANDLER DIES AT WAYNESBORO

Waynesboro, Ga., August 26—(Special.)—Mrs Joe L. Chandler, widow of George M. Chandler, died at the home of her niece, Mrs. Frank S. Burney, with whom she had made her home for the past 15 years, Thursday. She was in her 85th year.

Mrs. Chandler was familiarly known as "Aunt Joe," and had many friends in Burke county, where she spent her whole life.

She was a member of the Waynesboro Baptist church.

AUTOMOBILE SALES PICK UP AT SPARTA

Sparta, Ga., August 26.—(Special) With the marketing of the cotton crop and other crops which will be ready for sale in the next few weeks, the automobile market in this section, especially popular priced cars, is beginning to open up. Many negro farmers are buying cars, both new and the used variety indicating that they are in a fairly prosperous condition despite the boll weevil in the cotton crop.

It is thought that this business will be good during the fall months.

Chicago, August 26.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey, sporting a slightly discolored left eye as a result of a wild punch landed by one of his sparring partners yesterday, went under glove fire for four rounds against three sparring partners at his Lincoln fields training camp today.

The former world's heavyweight champion boxed two rounds with Benny Krueger, a big German warrior, and one each with Jack McCann, of St. Paul, and K. O. Christner. McCann gave Dempsey the best workout, connecting solidly to the face three different times with right-hand punches that hurt and stung.

Dempsey stood up under them without flinching, however, with McCann managing to escape without serious injury to himself. Dempsey did not box as well today as he did in his first race track workout with the gloves yesterday. He was puffing and blowing considerable while boxing but, in the opinion of experts, looks just as good as could be expected with the championship fight with Tunney less than a month away.

Will Scale 196.

Leo P. Flynn, his manager, said after his workout that Dempsey was weighing about 213 pounds and that he planned to shoot him into the ring with Tunney scaling around 196.

Dempsey did four miles on the road this morning. He worked around with the pulleys and another with the light bag and took the usual abdominal exercises after boxing.

Marty Burke, New Orleans boxer, who has been sparring with Dempsey off and on since 1918, joined the camp, but will not box with the former champion. Flynn said they know each other's style too well and for that reason Burke could offer no real aid to Jack.

TUNNEY SWITCHES TRAINING PLANS.

Speculator, N. Y., August 26.—(AP) Gene Tunney suddenly switched his plans for a workout in the ring today and decided to limit his training to an afternoon on the roads and hills around Lake Pleasant. The world's heavyweight champion said he did not think he could take on any of his sparring partners tomorrow either. His next workout in the ring will probably be on Sunday when a big crowd of visitors from neighboring Adirondack resorts is expected. Tunney got plenty of exercise today, however, for he ran and walked all over the surrounding country, staying out all afternoon.

TOLEDO FUGITIVE IS IDENTIFIED AS SWINDLER

Cincinnati, August 26.—(AP)—Joseph Conley, 37, Toledo, Ohio, arrested here as a fugitive from Memphis, Tenn., was identified today as a man who swindled former Common Pleas Judge Joseph B. Kelly out of $28 three years ago. Conley denied the charge.

He was said to be wanted in Memphis on a similar charge. The police allege that Conley swindled attorneys by interesting them in fictitious damage suits and getting loans from them.

He is alleged to have obtained $50 from the law firm of Galloway & Weinstein at Memphis.

MORE SMUGGLING ARRESTS MADE BY HAVANA POLICE

Havana, August 26.—(AP)—Additional arrests have been made, adding to the six made Wednesday, of persons suspected of smuggling aliens into the United States. The interior department is preparing to deport all those arrested to their native countries in Europe.

YOUTH RESCUED FROM LEDGE ON MOUNTAIN PEAK

Mackay, Idaho, August 26.—(AP)—Oscar Spies, 19, of Boise, Idaho, was rescued this morning by three men from a ledge near the top of Mount Caleb, second highest peak in Idaho, where he was caught yesterday afternoon when a rock under foot gave way. The men hauled Spies 100 feet up the rugged mountain side with a rope and then, in turn, all were hoisted another 50 feet by members of a searching party.

The youth and a brother were attempting to scale the mountain when Oscar was caught on a ledge 2,000 feet above the timber line. The brother, farther down the mountain side, summoned aid, but the rescue could not be made last night because of darkness.

THOMASVILLE STORES SELLING SUGAR CANE

Thomasville, Ga., August 26.—(Special)—Just as the watermelon season has come to a close and the peach crop also at an end, leaving a sort of dearth of fruit in south Georgia, in comes sugar cane to supplant the two. Already sugar cane is beginning to be sold at the local stores. It will soon be time for sugar-boilings in south Georgia, which is also productive of many enjoyable social events as the city residents find it convenient to visit their country cousins, and get a drink of cane juice, and there are some, it is said, who will not refuse to take a sip of sweet "buck" which is made from the skimmings from the kettle where the cane juice is cooked into a golden syrup.

HUNTSVILLE MAN HURT AT VALDOSTA

Valdosta, Ga., August 26.—(AP)—A man named either Alfred or Ben Gulley, of Huntsville, Ala., was critically injured near here today when the automobile in which he was traveling toward Florida overturned. He was brought to a local hospital where physicians said he had little chance for recovery.

He was traveling alone and was found by passersby.

FRENCH PRESIDENT RECEIVES SLEMP

Paris, August 26.—(AP)—C. Bascom Slemp, former private secretary to President Coolidge, was received by President Doumergue today. The French president made a special trip from his Rambouillet summer house to the Elysee palace in Paris for the meeting.

American League

YANKS WIN AGAIN.

Detroit, August 26.—The Yankees made it three straight over Detroit by annexing the third and final fray of a series today by 8 to 6 before more than 16,000 fans. Ruth tripled with the bases filled in the seventh, tying the score after the Tigers had gained a three-run lead. Ruth scored on Gehrig's double, but Bengels leveled the count again in their half of the inning. The New Yorkers decided the issue in the next stanza, however, with a two-run attack, Koenig's single driving Moore across with the winning run.

Flowers Matched For Garden Bout

New York, August 26.—(United News.)—Tiger Flowers, former middleweight champion, has been matched to meet Joe Anderson, of Kentucky, in the 10-round main bout at Madison Square Garden Thursday night.

Anderson made an impressive debut in the east recently against Dave Shade, California middleweight, in the semi-final to the Paolino-Delaney bout. Shade won the decision, but Anderson won the acclaim from the fans.

Farmer Joe Cooper meets Billy Algier and Clyde Hull fights Kid Lee in the other two 10-round bouts.

New Orleans Buys Texas League Ace

New Orleans, August 26.—(AP)—Grady Atkins, star hurler of the Shreveport club of the Texas league, has been purchased by the New Orleans Pelicans, President Heinemann, of the Southern association, announced today.

He is expected to report by Sunday when New Orleans plays the league-leading Birmingham Barons here.

Adkins has won 17 games and lost 12.

Robins Buy S. E. Ace for $10,000

Jacksonville, Fla., August 26.—(AP) Al Lopez, star catcher of the Jacksonville Tars, Southeastern league leaders, has been sold to the Brooklyn Dodgers for $10,000, Charles B. Griner, president of the club, announced today.

Lopez will report to the Brooklyn team at the spring training camp next year. The sale, according to Griner, was closed today.

The catcher is the second Tar player to be sold to big league teams in the past several years, as Ben Cantwell, pitcher, was obtained on option by the Giants.

Jones, Evans Battle Today For '27 Title

long fourteenth when his third shot landed six feet from the cup and he grabbed a birdie four. He pulled his drive slightly on this hole and his second was a few inches in the rough on the left. A beautiful approach, however, made up for these slight miscues. Ouimet was on in three and barely missed a birdie when his long putt halted at the lip.

Fifth Halved.

They halved the fifth and sixth in par numbers although Bobby should have won the former as he missed a three and a half-foot putt for a birdie three.

The tough seventh, that hole which has proved the burying ground for many a would-be par, saw Ouimet get into real trouble. His tee shot was pulled to the woods, his second hit a tree and went out of bounds and his fourth went into a trap. Bobby was on in two and Francis conceded the hole.

More discouragement for the Boston man followed at the short eighth. His tee shot landed in the rough short of the green, his pitch left him two putts and he lost the hole to Bobby's par three.

The ninth was halved in fives. Both players had good drives and Bobby, with the wind behind him, attempted to get on with an iron. The attempt was a failure, however, as the ball, slightly assisted by a pull, went into the rough to the right and short of the green. Ouimet too, was in this neighborhood. They got on in three and each took two putts.

Ouimet Wins Tenth.

Ouimet's lone win of the morning round and Bobby's solitary flight above par took place at the tenth. Bobby followed a fine drive with a mediocre approach that left him a little short and to the right of the green. His chip was short and he required two putts. Ouimet was on in two and down for a par four. They halved the 11th.

Bobby again went five-up at the 12th when his par four was sufficient. Ouimet was short with his second and took a five.

Francis saved himself the loss of the 13th, when he holed an eight-footer for a birdie. Bobby followed a terrific drive on this hole, with a superb number two iron that landed on the green. It was the best iron shot he made during the morning round. He was down in two putts for his third birdie of the round.

After halving this hole, Bobby proceeded to collect a birdie at the 14th and pars at the 15th and 16th, which feats enabled him to take three in a row and to go eight up.

Another great number two iron shot put him on the 14th green and he was down in two putts. Ouimet went a little over on his second on this hole and was forced to take a five. The Boston player pulled his drive on the 15th, followed with a shot that left him in the rough and ended by taking a five, which was one less than Bobby's par.

Long Drives.

Bobby unleashed another terrific clout from the 16th tee, was on the edge with his second and down in two more for his par. Ouimet's drive found trouble on the left and he took three to get on and two more to sink, losing the hole and going eight down.

Ouimet would have gone nine down at the 17th had he not rammed home a 25-footer for a par four. He pulled his drive to a trap, got out in two and was 25 feet from the pin on his pitch. But for the first time of the round he canned a long one and halved the hole. Bobby came near winning it with a birdie, however, as his approach putt hung at the lip.

Ouimet followed his life-saving methods of the seventeenth with another long putt at the home green to ward off further loss. After getting a good drive on this hole he dubbed his second into the road and put his third on. Bobby again barely missed a birdie, his 12-footer hanging on the brink of the cup.

The afternoon affair was soon over. With a lead that only a miracle could take from him, Bobby was content to simply coast along in par figures. His score for the first seven holes was the same as that set down for par, his lone flight above the prescribed perfect number was at the short eighth.

Pulling Tee Shots.

No especially good shots were uncorked during the matinee number. Bobby was still inclined to put a little pull into his tee shots and this caused him to find the rough on several occasions. His splendid iron play came to his rescue, however, and he generally got on in two. He took no more than two putts on any one green during either the morning or afternoon rounds.

Ouimet, facing an eight-up lead, continued to fight hard in the afternoon number, but he was being forced to press on every hole. This led him to make several miscues. He lost the second, sixth and seventh in the afternoon round.

Trouble around the green caused his downfall on the second, driving in the lake, spelled ruin for him on the short sixth, while going over was his fault at the seventh. These misplays in the face of par golf from Bobby caused his loss of those three. The others were halved.

Imposing Record.

The record that Bobby carries into the finals tomorrow is one of the most imposing that ever graced an amateur tournament. A record that is almost unbelievable.

During the present championship the Iron Duke, in both qualifying and match play, has played 123 holes. Par for those 123 holes is 489. In playing those 123 holes Bobby has used but 487 strokes. It can, therefore, be seen that up through the semi-finals of the fastest tournament in the history of the American amateur championship Bobby is two strokes under par figures and no less than five under fours. A record that can spell but one thing for his opponents—utter annihilation.

First day qualifying round, strokes 75-72.

Total strokes, 487-489.

The sensational victory Bobby scored today can be attributed to many things, but in the final analysis it was his tremendous length off the tee and his superb iron play to the green that smothered the Boston player at the jump and finally drove him to pressing to such an extent that he floundered badly.

Ouimet today never had a chance against the Iron Duke. From the very first hole, when Bobby gathered a birdie to go one up, it was seen that the Atlanta boy had the situation well in hand.

It is true that Ouimet was off his game to a certain extent, but, as Francis said as he walked to the clubhouse, "The game Bobby shot today would make any player look bad."

That about sizes up the situation. Bobby was simply there in big, bold letters.

Atlanta Team Leads S. E. A. A. U. Swimming Meet at Mobile.

Mobile, Ala., August 26.—(AP) Three junior men's records established at Birmingham last year fell today in the annual swim of the Southeastern association of the A. A. U. at the Spring Hill college lake. Ed Hughes, Mobile A. C., made the 100-free style in 1:03, to lower Wenzle's 1:08.6 of last year. Gene Bayliss, Atlanta A. C., in the 220-yard swim, made it in 2:51.2 to beat Bowron's time of 2:59 last year. Mershon, Mobile A. C. second man, also beat this latter time. Walter Lauter, one-legged Birmingham swimmer, made the 440-dash in 6:22.3, better than the 6:36.6 of Conroy.

In the women's event 13-year-old Carmelina Beardsley, Mobile A. C., beat a 100-field by inches to win in 33.4 seconds. She made it in 33.2 in the qualifications.

In the 220, Bayliss, Atlanta, beat Mershon, Mobile, by the length of a hand, as did Hughes, Mobile, in the 100-yard, over Hoynes, Savannah

Atlanta leads with 27 points, followed by Mobile with 16, Birmingham A. C. 12, Memphis A. C. 10, Savannah 4, Pensacola 2, Camp Walton 1. Charlotte and Jacksonville teams compete Saturday in the seniors. Sixty-six individual prizes, a team and an individual high-point trophy will be awarded the winners.

PIRATES LOSE 5 OUT OF 6.

Boston, August 26.—The Boston Braves, who divided a double-header with Pittsburgh yesterday, today downed the Pirates, 6 to 4, in a hard-hitting contest. Boston has won five of its last six games with Pittsburgh. Fournier's single in the first inning off Aldridge scored two runs and his double off Miljus in the eighth started a two-run rally which broke a tie and won for Boston. Paul Waner, who had a perfect day at bat yesterday, with four hits in four times up, started off today with three singles which ran his record to seven hits in as many times at bat. He drove in two runs today and scored another.

RALLY FAILS.

Brooklyn, N. Y., August 26.—Cincinnati's two-run rally in the ninth failed to help the Reds today and Brooklyn captured the second straight in the series by 4 to 3. Doug McWeeny gained a verdict over Red Lucas who was handicapped by loose fielding by his Red Leg mates. Butch Henline led the Robins' attack with four singles in as many times at bat. George Kelly made three hits in four times up.

SANTA BARBARA FEELS TWO EARTH SHOCKS

Santa Barbara, Calif., August 26. (AP)—Two sharp earthquake shocks were felt here early this morning. The first, felt at 4:40 a. m., caused people to run out into the streets. The second, following almost immediately, lasted but a few seconds. No damage was reported.

Santiago, Chile, August 26.—(AP)—An earthquake of moderate intensity was felt here at 1:50 o'clock this morning.

Barons Defeat Pels Twice By 6-5, 7-0 Scores

Two-Run Rally in Ninth Frame of First Game Brings Baronial Victory.

Birmingham, Ala., August 26.—(AP)—Birmingham's Barons advanced their lead over New Orleans to three full games by annexing both ends of today's double header, 6 to 5 and 7 to 0. Of the five games played so far in the present series, the Barons have won four and held the Pelicans to a draw in the other.

In the first game today the Pelicans did all their scoring in the second and third innings and at the beginning of the ninth had the Barons one down. Jourdan, first up, doubled and scored on Pinch Hitter Cooper's single. Wells, a pitcher, ran for Cooper and scored on Ballenger's single to end the game.

BILL TILDEN AND ALONSO ENTER FINALS

Newport, R. I., August 26.—(AP)—Bill Tilden and Manuel Alonso, both of Philadelphia, and the first and second ranking players in the country, respectively, today reached the final round in the Newport Casino invitation tennis tournament. The final battle for the challenge cup on which Tilden won a leg last year is scheduled for tomorrow.

While Tilden's semi-final victory over John Van Ryne, Princeton star, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1, was no surprise, the triumph of Alonso over Francis T. Hunter in the other semi-final 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, came as a decided upset. Hunter, Tilden's doubles running mate this year and member of the Davis cup team, had been made the favorite on his work this season.

Greater speed of foot and a more diversified attack won for the agile Alonso over Hunter. Tilden's victory was never in doubt, although Van Ryne managed to win eight games, most of them on his own service.

A new doubles upset occurred in the defeat of Lewis N. White and Louis Thalshimer, Texans, who are ranked third in country, by S. Howard Voshell and Elmer Griffin, of New York, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-1, in the third round.

Paired together, Tilden and Hunter, champions of England, advanced to the quarter finals in doubles by beating Fred Boggs, gray-haired veteran, and Ed Feibleman, former Harvard player, at 6-1, 6-2.

FRANCE WINS RIGHT TO PLAY U. S. CUP TEAM

Chestnut Hill, Mass., August 26.—(United News.)—France won the right to meet the United States in the finals of the Davis cup challenge round by defeating Japan in the doubles today.

Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, of France, defeated Takeichi Harada and Teizo Toba, of Japan, 9-7, 6-1, 6-2, giving them three victories as Cochet and Rene LaCoste won both singles matches in the opening day's play.

After an erratic start the Frenchmen settled down in the last two sets and bewildered the Japanese with their dazzling shots.

Cochet was wild early in the first set. He lost the first game on four errors Thereafter he played brilliantly. Brugnon's hard cross-court driving won many points.

France will meet the United States in the Davis cup finals at Germantown, Pa., September 8-10.

Mrs. Johnson Is Archery Champion

Cambridge, Mass., August 26.—(AP) Mrs. Robert Johnson, 22-year-old southern California women's champion, won the championship of the National Archery association which today concluded its forty-seventh annual target meeting here. She ran up 1,860 points. Mrs. Dorothy Cummings, of Brookline, who has held the national title for six years, finished second with 1,826. Others scoring over 1,000 points included Mrs. Philip Rounseville, Pinehurst, N. C., 1,672, and Miss Jessie Akester, Chicago, 1034.

BY BRIAN BELL.

Minneapolis, Minn., August 26.—(AP)—Bobby Jones and Chick Evans, two old men in golf—although Bobby is much the younger in years—will battle tomorrow for the national amateur golf championship. One will win the title for the third time, for both have held it twice.

Playing in the approved Jones fashion, Bobby turned back Francis Ouimet, 11 up and 10 to go, shooting the 26 holes necessary to insure his victory in 100 strokes, two under par.

The Atlantan finished the 18 holes of the morning round with a brilliant 69, his third round of the championship under 70. He needed only one stroke over par, but one under fours in the stretch of eight holes in the afternoon.

Chick Evans had a different story to tell of his entrance into the finals. The 38-year-old Chicago player ran into a large golf mouthful in Roland Mackenzie, of Washington, who has just passed his majority.

Chick had to sink a 20-foot putt at the 37th hole to win after he had kept himself in the competition by dropping a difficult 6-footer at the 36th, where his drive landed in the rough and his approach struck a tree and fell below the green.

Jones' all around performance during a day in which he was four under fours in his match and Chick's sensational work at the close, restored the prestige of the championship which was being discounted as Bobby Jones ended his second 36-hole match in two days at the three-quarter mark.

There was a sentiment that the championship might as well be wrapped up and delivered to the Atlantan to go along with his British and southern open titles. The rejuvenation of the veteran Evans caused some revised calculations to be made. Long discounted as a putter, even when he was winning titles right and left—and he was amateur and open champion in 1916—Chick left something to be desired in his putting today, until he found he had to putt or be eliminated.

As a result of its response to its master's touch today, the Evans putter, a weird affair he calls "sour dough," took its place with "Calamity Jane," Bobby Jones' famous putter, as one of the most important implements of the game.

Marks Second Meeting.

Tomorrow's 36-hole final match will make the second meeting of the two former champions in all the years they have played in the amateur event. They met at Baltusrol in the third round last year when Bobby won, 3 up and 2 to go. Seven years ago the two clashed in the western amateur at Memphis, Tenn., Chick downing Bobby and going on to win the event.

In spite of the years that have made him callous to the whims of fickle golf fate, the Chicago entry was as excited as a small boy as his long putt struck the cup and stayed at the 37th. He leaped into the air and snapped his fingers, as he ran after the ball and plucked it from the cup.

Francis Ouimet was playing Bobby Jones for the fourth time in the semi-finals of the amateur, and today's defeat was his third reverse in a row. It happened to be the popular Boston player marked for today's slaughter. It might have been any one else and the result probably would have been approximately the same.

Jones had only two holes over par in the 26 and he was down four times with birdies. All the rest were pars. Ouimet battled bravely against his fate and his opponent's deadly drives, approaches and putts, but his clubs finally failed him, as if to say, "what's the use." He won only the tenth hole.

In the afternoon, Ouimet was off the line and finally, near the end, saw an iron shot from the tee flop into a lake. Bobby, too, was often off the line but he was hitting the ball so far it was child's play for him to scorn the rough and play to the green as though his ball had never left the fairway.

A Tough Battle.

The Evans-Mackenzie match was squared eight times and neither the veteran nor the youngster was ever more than one down. Evans said after his extra-hole victory that he thought he would play better golf tomorrow.

The tests at the last two holes were exacting for Chick's prospects were none too bright after the second shots at the home hole. Mackenzie was well on while he was below the green and near a tree. He chipped on but still had an easily missable putt for the half. He missed and the game went on.

Evans was 25 yards back of Mackenzie from the 37th tee and was too bold with his approach, going 20 feet past the pin. Mackenzie was left a long putt as well and the signs pointed to another halved hole when Chick sent the ball straight into the cup.

Bobby Jones, with a record this week of 487 shots consumed in playing 123 holes, five under fours, has made the home folk think that no one can defeat him.

Supporters of Jones point to his record in his last 195 holes of championship competition. He played 72 holes in 285 in the British open and his cards for that event and play here show him 12 under par.

Another bond between Bobby and Chick as they meet for the championship tomorrow is that the championship won by Evans in 1916 was the first in which Jones participated.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

The Crackers made 11 hits to Mobile's seven. But the Crackers had 14 men left on base to Mobile's nine, which explains matters somewhat.

Frank Chilton, the boy strike-out king from Cedartown, and now the property of Rell Jackson Spiller, owner of the Crackers, made his debut as a Southern league pitcher. He's just a kid, with a fair amount of speed, but there's room for improvement in his sense of direction.

Chilton Goes In.

Chilton relieved Pete Fowler in the seventh Friday, and in the three innings he worked, gave up only one hit. However, he walked five Mobile batters and walked in one of the two runs scored while he was in the box.

The young Mr. Fowler, who has been suffering with a sore arm of late, was nicked every inning he worked with the exception of the first, when the Bears went out in order. Up until the fifth inning there was never more than one hit an inning, but in the second and third innings, one hit accounted for one run.

Pete's worst inning was the fifth when three singles and a long sacrifice fly pushed two runs across for Mobile.

Spectacular running catches of fouls seemed to be the order of the day. Dutch Welch, of the visitors, obliged by snagging two difficult ones in the vicinity of third base. Walter Gilbert made a dash towards the grandstand in the fifth inning, and leaned up against the wall to snag a high one and send Tillie Walker, Bear outfielder, back to the dugout.

Crackers Rally.

The Crackers staged a big rally in the ninth. Yes, a very big rally. Gilbert was safe on Schreiber's low throw to the bag. Rhiel forced Gilbert at second and Bill was in turn forced at the keystone by Mule Haas. With Mule on first, Cueto stepped up and dumped one far out in right center field for a triple. Mule loped home with Atlanta's only run.

The Bears scored in the second inning on a walk, a fielder's choice and a stinging single through the box by Schreiber, scoring Walker. A single, a fielder's choice and an error by Rhiel brought Hood across the pan in the third inning. A walk, sacrifice and single counted Hood in the seventh inning. Wingfield trotted in with a run in the eighth, when Chilton walked Williams with the bases full.

Billy Rhiel, with his three singles out of five times up, led the Crackers in their stickwork for the afternoon. Cueto got the only extra base hit of the afternoon and his only hit with that triple in the ninth.

Ansley Park Plays LaGrange Sunday

The Ansley Park golf team will journey to the Highland Country club at LaGrange Sunday for a rubber match with the team of that club.

In the two matches played heretofore Ansley Park has won one and the LaGrange niblick wielders one. This match is the rubber. The local team will be captained by Dan Y. Sage.

Why Not Try This?

There seems to be just one thing left to do. The U. S. G. A. will have to play handicaps in the national amateur and make Bob Jones play from scratch while all the rest have handicaps of from 3 to 25 strokes.

It has also been suggested that Bob be required to play from behind a screen and that his opponent play blindfolded so that he won't know he's playing against Bob Jones.

This matter of the mental hazard is not such a joke after all. When Bob beat Jimmy Johnston by an overwhelming score it was surprising to most of the dopesters, but not half as surprising as the complete crumbling of Francis Ouimet's game on Friday. Ouimet is an old head but his crack before the blast of Bob's superhuman golf can be blamed partly to mental hazard afforded by Bob Jones.

Ouimet turned the morning round with a 78, including a couple of conceded holes which if played out would have run his score above the 80 mark. Now Francis Ouimet is just naturally too good a golfer to play that kind of a game unless he allows the presence of Robert Tyre to act as a strain.

Understand, we do not take any credit from Bob nor attempt to accredit his great victory to Ouimet's poor play. Bob's Friday round would have beaten any man in the world over the same course, but everything points to the fact that Francis Ouimet fell victim to his own nervousness—whether conscious or not—in the presence of the world's greatest golfer.

"We Met" Not "We May."

By the way, Francis Ouimet pronounces his name "we met," not "we may." According to Wilfred Ouimet, brother of the great Francis and a pretty good golfer in his own right, the name was formerly Ouimette, which was pronounced "we met," and when the family moved from Canada to the United States the last "te" was chopped off but the pronunciation never changed.

* * * *

His Clubs Are Behaving.

One of the most noticeable things to be found in reports of Bob's play, coming over the various wires, is the accuracy of his mashie niblick, a club which has caused Bob more worry than most of his others.

That's the only human thing about Bob Jones' golf game when he is going right—when one club is going good he will be faltering a bit with one other. During this tournament his driving has been long and accurate but not as accurate as usual. Over in England his short iron game was failing him at times, but when it did old "Calamity Jane" came to the rescue with a few tremendous putts.

Some day Bob Jones will get all his clubs working at once and he will shoot a championship course from 10 to 18 strokes under par.

It certainly is great to be a Georgian. We see by the paper that one of the items in Pilot Redfern's equipment is a "portable still." Sam, the man we do business with, says that's better than using the cellar.

TWO CANDLER HORSES WIN CIRCUIT RACES

Goshen, N. Y., August 26.—(AP)—Spencer, two-year-old colt owned by David M. Look, of New York, was driven by Alonzo MacDonald to a straight-heat victory in the Good Time stake, worth $14,700 here today, when his great rival, Scotland, broke near the half pole in the first heat and was distanced.

Spencer thereby earned first and fourth money, $9,290. Mr. Look gave $1,000 of this to the Goshen Emergency hospital for the benefit of which this grand circuit meeting was conducted.

Fred Egan drove two victors, Louis Direct in the 2:12 pace, and Lullawat in the 2:13 trot. Both horses are owned by W. T. Candler, of Atlanta, Georgia.

The consolation good time stake, worth $2,000, was won by Fire Glow, the favorite, in straight heats.

The meeting was concluded today to allow shipment to Syracuse, where racing opens Monday with the Hambletonian stake.

Mrs. Mallory Is Defeated; Helen Wins

West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, N. Y., August 26.—(United News.)—After a rather casual week in which champions and star players had easy sailing, the American woman's national tennis championship produced several interesting and spectacular upsets today.

Mrs. Molla Mallory, seven times national champion and Miss Eleanor Goss, for years within the first five of American tennis, were defeated in the quarter-final round of the tournament.

Mrs. Mallory, defending the title she regained last year after Helen Wills had been forced to default, fell before Mrs. Charlotte Hosmer Chapin, in a three-set match at 6-3, 1-6 and 6-4.

Miss Goss was defeated by Betty Nuthall, the English youngster, who won a hard three-set battle at 4-6, 7-5 and 6-2.

Helen Wills Wins.

In the other two matches, form was followed when Miss Wills stormed through Kea Bouman, the Dutch champion, in two fast sets at 6-1 and 6-2. Helen Jacobs, the young California chum of Miss Wills, became a semi-finalist when she outlasted Mrs. F. V. Roeser, New York, and won a three-set match at 6-8, 8-6 and 6-2.

In the semi-final round Saturday Miss Wills meets Miss Jacobs, and Miss Nuthall will oppose Mrs. Chapin.

Miss Wills is the favorite to win, and the outcome of the other matches is largely a matter of choice.

Mrs. Mallory in losing her championship had to fight her own game every inch of the way. She moved seldom from deep back court, and many of her returns were so hurried that she fell into a string of net and out errors that cost her the match.

Miss Nuthall had anything but an easy time winning from Miss Goss, and it was her courage and daring rather than the brilliance of her strokes that enabled her to win. She was handicapped terribly by a soft service that was out of control, and it should have been a cinch for Miss Goss, but the American veteran was too anxious.

Hagen Picks Jones To Win Back Title

BY WALTER HAGEN.

Minikahda Country Club, Minn., August 26.—Bobby Jones looks like a sure winner in the amateur golf championship considering the manner in which he has been playing. He was better than par for all the holes he has played and is still going strong. Today he defeated Francis Ouimet 11 and 10, and moved into the final round. Ouimet did not play today anything like the golf he is capable of but Jones' barrage of pars and birdies was enough to discourage any opponent.

Jones had a score of 69 in the morning round and piled up a lead of eight holes. The same margin he held over Jimmy Johnston at the end of the morning round yesterday.

Since the start of the 36-hole matches Jones has been so good his opponents have been unable to make it interesting, but the thousands of spectators who have come out to see the international champion score pars and birdies have been well rewarded for Jones did a 67 in the second qualifying round; a 68 against Johnston and a 69 against Ouimet. The Atlantan is simply burning up the golf course, making par look silly and taking the hearts out of his competitors. Even one of the Boston newspaper writers at the sixteenth hole this morning expressed the opinion that Francis was "hanging on the ropes."

Just once in this tournament, Jones had been in a tight spot and that was in the first round of match play when he stood on the sixteenth tee, one down and three not too difficult par four holes to play, with Maurice McCarthy, Jr., as his opponent.

Real Interesting.

This was a real interesting situation and Jones handled it with all the poise in the world. I stood within a few feet of Bobby as he hit his tee shot to the sixteenth in this game and could not detect a single change in his mechanics, or in his manner. He did not appear in the least bit disturbed but gave me the impression that he had no intention of getting excited, merely intended to hit the ball correctly and let it go at that.

Bobby did just that. He finished with three perfect fours, never hurrying a stroke or looking at any moment during any of the strokes he played like making a mistake. The three fours were good enough, for McCarthy, suddenly faced with the possibility of beating Jones, took three consecutive fives.

Minikahda is not a long course as championship courses go, but the distance is so distributed that on three holes—the ninth, the thirteenth, and the fourteenth—all par five holes, Jones has a tremendous advantage. These holes are all par four holes the way Jones hits a golf ball. Against Jimmy Johnston he won all three of them in the first round with birdie fours and this morning against Ouimet, he won one and halved the other two, Ouimet holing on the thirteenth green in one putt, to get a half in four.

Putter Minds Evans.

The putter, which has failed Chick Evans so often in this championship, was his best friend at dusk this evening for with this club the Chicago veteran dropped a putt of 25 feet from the back edge of the green on the thirty-seventh hole and Donald MacKenzie, young Washington Walker cup player, vanished from the tourney.

Tomorrow it will be Jones vs. Evans in the finals. Thus two of the greatest American amateurs will battle for the championship title. Evans is playing well, but his work has not been on a par with the supergolf of Bobby Jones, and the Atlantan is a prohibitive favorite.

In his game fight today against a veteran golfer, MacKenzie impressed me very much. He is a great golfer now and will be better. His long strokes are all well timed and he seems to have a great deal of poise and to have control of himself at all times. His No. 2 and No. 3 irons, weak clubs in the hands of many amateurs, are well handled by MacKenzie. His only weakness, if any, seems to be on the putting greens. MacKenzie does not seem to have the same confidence that Bobby Jones shows. This is especially apparent on putts of about 10 feet, where he fails to set himself and stroke the ball nicely over the line to the hole, as Francis Ouimet and Jones have learned to do. When he gets this putting stroke it will be a factor in making him one of the greatest amateur golfers in the country.

Bill Barrett Hits Homer Number 37

Knoxville, Tenn., August 26.—(AP)—Bill Barrett, Knoxville catcher and home-run king of the South Atlantic association, drove out home run No. 37 here today in the fourth inning of the Knoxville-Macon contest. There was one man on base at the time.

Keith's Georgia.

The current vaudeville show and the featured film, "Lost at the Front" will have their last local appearances at Keith's Georgia theater today. Starting Monday will be shown a double headline bill on the stage and "The Secret Studio," a feature photo play with Olive Borden as the artist's model, in search of thrills and who learns that it is not well for unattached young ladies to visit "secret" places.

Capitol.

They are billed as "Four Foot Loose Fools," but in reality they are four extremely gentle and talented young gentlemen, who appear on the Pantages bill at the Capitol this week. Their act is plain singing and dancing, but the voices are good and they work with a fervor and enthusiasm that make their act always a storm-center of applause. You've never seen the black bottom until you've seen it done by the "Foot-Loose Fools."

Loew's Grand.

Loew's Grand will offer four performances today of its big fun bill headed by Dave Kramer and Jack Boyle. These funmakers keep the crowds roaring with laughter all the time they are on the stage. Other acts on the bill are the Harvard Collegians with a dandy band; Phil Fein and Florence Tennyson in a classic musical novelty; Kramer and Fields in a comedy song and dance skit and the Donal sisters, women gymnasts. The comedy riot "Adam and Evil" is the feature picture.

Howard.

Today's the last chance to see the most talked of drama the Howard theater has played in many months. It is "The Way of All Flesh" starring Emil Jannings. This picture has the distinction of being acclaimed by many of the leading critics as the greatest of the year. On the stage are Al Short and his Boys "In Jazzland," the first of the "greater Publix presentations." Next week comes Clara Bow, the "It" girl, in "Hula."

Rialto.

"Nevada," the Zane Grey feature, starring Gary Cooper, closes at the Rialto with final showings today, and marks the final full-week program at "Atlanta's Family Theater," before the new policy involving the presentation of two three-day programs each week, goes into effect. The two-a-week regime is in force Monday, with "Judgment of the Hills," and "Snowbound" as the features for next week. Thelma Todd, William Powell and Phillip Strange head the supporting cast of "Nevada."

Ponce de Leon.

Corinne Griffith, hailed by many as the most beautiful woman in the world is featured for today only in "Syncopating Sue" at the Ponce de Leon theater, and in this vehicle Miss Griffith, in addition to providing a wealth of dramatic and melodramatic entertainment, shows good cause why she should be so superlatively designated. Miss Griffith's fans will enjoy "Syncopating Sue," as indeed all those who care only for good pictures.

Madison.

Palace.

Tenth Street.

At the Tenth Street theater today is another of those Zane Grey stories of the desert and the redman that has made Grey the acknowledged peer of all writers on the subject of frontier America. The screen version of "Desert Bound"—"Drums of the Desert"—features Warner Baxter, long a favorite, together with the inimitable comedian, Ford Sterling.

Fairfax.

DeKalb.

West End.

ORIGINAL LITTLE BUTTERCUP FOUND HUNGRY AND BROKE

New York, August 26.—(United News)—Friends found Carrie King, famous more than 40 years ago as the Little Buttercup of the original production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "H. M. S. Pinafore," virtually starving in a 43rd street hotel room Friday.

Now more than 80 years old, the actress has had a series of misfortunes since she last came to New York from Paris. She hurt her foot in an elevator accident and was in bed for months. About eight weeks ago an operation was necessary to remove cataracts from her eyes.

The operation was successful but her store of money vanished and she was too proud to reveal her plight to old friends in the theatrical world. Only Friday she broke down while being visited by a casual acquaintance and confessed she had not eaten since Wednesday and owed a hotel bill of about $400.

LEW CODY CLEAR AS "OTHER MAN" IN DIVORCE CASE

Los Angeles, August 26.—(AP)—Lew Cody, film actor, has been relieved of possible court appearance in the marital strife of Dr. Woodward B. Mayo and Mrs. Mayo through a default in a divorce action here.

When Dr. Mayo filed his suit he charged his wife was too much in company of the screen actor. She denied this in a cross-complaint and began action of her own divorce.

Dr. Mayo's default to his wife's suit was entered yesterday and her divorce will be uncontested.

VAUCLAIN DENIES FISHER BATTLE

Philadelphia, August 26.—(AP)—Samuel M. Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive works, today denied all knowledge of any contest for control of the company.

Commenting on rumors here and in New York that representatives of Fisher brothers may become members of the Baldwin directorate, and that a controversy over placing them on the board had developed, Mr. Vauclain said:

"I know of no fight. I couldn't tell you anything about the matter. I have no reason to believe that any of the present directors will leave the directorate, and I do not know whether any directors will be added to the board."

Concerning a report that C. R. Bitting and R. F. Shields, of Detroit, representatives of Fisher brothers, had come here today to confer with him, he said tonight.

"I have not seen them today. I shall not see them tonight. I do not expect to see them tomorrow. I know nothing about them."

"I do not know," Mr. Vauclain said in response to a question as to the amount of Baldwin common stock held by Fisher brothers, of Detroit, and by A. W. Cutten, Chicago board of trade operator. "The board of directors manages the Baldwin Locomotive works. The president is merely an executive officer." (It has been said that the group owns 120,000 shares of the 200,000 outstanding.)

Referring to articles about the rumored fight for control, the veteran locomotive builder said it was just a newspaper story. "The attention the newspapers give to the Baldwin Locomotive works is amusing," he said. "It is too bad such things are printed, because they mislead the public who might form misleading conclusions."

Asked whether a special meeting might be called before the next regular meeting on September 29, he said:

ROAD CONTRACTS COVER 37 MILES

The state highway board Friday announced that it had let contracts for construction of 37 miles of additional paved roads and 15 miles of surface treatment, the stretches lying in 14 Georgia counties. Several bridges were included in the contracts, one being a bridge over the Altamaha river at Doctortown connecting Long and Wayne counties.

The Doctortown bridge will cost $650,000, $150,000 of which will be paid by Ware, Long, Wayne, Pierce and Chatham counties. Portions of this work will be started October 1, but the contract for the steel construction work will not be let until December 1.

Other roads and bridges for which contracts were awarded aggregated approximately $900,000.

Bacon county, federal aid project No. 5, 9.08 miles of grading, Hazelhurst-Waycross; to W. Z. Williams, of Macon, for $22,117.

Bacon county, same project, 9.08 miles of surface treatment, to Coffin Construction company, of Eastman, $75,635. Bridge on same project, to Coffin Construction company, $11,908.

Clarke county, state project G-2-60, asphalt, 5 miles, Athens-Lexington, to Sam E. Finley, of Atlanta, for $11,851.

Decatur county, state project G-8-31, paving, 5 miles, Bainbridge-Donalsonville, to J. W. Guinn, of Birmingham, for $113,973.

Gwinnett and Barrow counties, federal project, 459-A-B-C, grading, 18 miles, Lawrenceville-Winder, to M. R. Woodall, Inc., of Atlanta, for $81,581. Same project, bridge construction, to Shepherd Williams, of Atlanta, for $34,773.

Henry county, state project G-3-70-B, 2.983 miles of grading, McDonough-Atlanta, to M. R. Woodall, Inc., of Atlanta, for $11,720.

Jefferson county, state project G-4-67, bridge work, Louisville-Wadley, to A. G. Ragsdale, of Macon, for $21,959.

Muscogee county, federal aid project 203-A-B-E, 10.65 miles of paving, Columbus-Macon, to Campbell Construction company, of Columbus, for $276,244.

Pulaski county, federal aid project 436-A-S, 6.963 miles of surface treatment, Hawkinsville-Perry, to McDougald Construction company, of Atlanta, for $12,444.

Torupe and Coweta counties, state project 97-455, 9.33 miles of concrete, Newnan-West Point, to Whitley Construction company, of LaGrange, for $20,611.

Stephens county, federal aid projects 274-C and 382-A, 3.4 miles of concrete, Toccoa-Cornelia, to Stephens-Pittman Construction company, of Atlanta, for $87,027.

Terrell county, federal aid project 100-B-C-D, 4 miles of concrete, Columbus-Albany, to Hopper-Winston company, of Montgomery, for $85,823. Same project, bridge construction, to D. B. Scott and company, of Decatur, for $9,758.

Twiggs county, federal aid project 342, 4.601 miles of grading and top soil, Macon-Dublin, to Brooks-Calloway Construction company, of Atlanta, for $21,038.

PARIS VETERANS REPLACE WREATHS RUINED BY REDS

Paris, August 26.—(United News.) Paris observed an impromptu memorial day Friday when weeping war widows and orphans followed government officials in placing flowers on the tomb of the Unknown Warrior at the Arch of Triumph.

Communist demonstrators against the Sacco-Vanzetti executions desecrated the tomb, destroying wreaths and otherwise showing disrespect for France's war dead.

It was decided immediately to reconsecrate the tomb. This was done today.

Premier Poincare and other government officials, and a delegation of war veterans, conducted the ceremony.

Ten thousand onlookers cheered the veterans present. A two-minute silence was observed.

There was a heavy police guard present, but no communists were in evidence.

GEORGIA WOODTHORPE, ACTRESS, IS DEAD

Glendale, Calif., August 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Georgia Woodthorpe C. Wallace, 67, known to the legitimate stage of a decade ago as Georgia Woodthorpe, died here yesterday. She played Ophelia in "Hamlet" opposite Edwin Booth in her youth and also played the same role with John McCullough.

CHICAGO SPOT COTTON.

Chicago, August 26.—Cotton futures closed: January, 21.92-93; October, 21.69; December, 21.95.

New York, August 26.—(AP)—Continuance of unfavorable crop and weather news led to very sharp advances from an early decline in the cotton market today. December contracts sold up from 21.35 to 22.05, or 50 points above the closing quotation yesterday, and closed at 21.96, the general market closing firm at net advances of 22 to 42 points.

The market opened easy at a decline of 8 to 28 points, active months showing net losses of about 20 to 38 points in early trading under week-end realizing or liquidation promoted by relatively easy early cables from Liverpool. The weather map, however, was evidently less favorable than anticipated by recent or early sellers, owing to further showers or rains in the eastern belt and unseasonably low temperatures, while the outlook was for further showers in these sections. This started covering, and the market later became very active on rebuying by recent sellers combined with an apparent broadening of trade and investment demand.

Some very unfavorable crop reports were said to be reaching here with reference to recent deterioration in the southwest where rains are needed, and very bullish reports came from eastern and central belt sections on boll weevil damage. Such advices naturally strengthened expectations of lower crop figures from private reporting agencies based on their usual end-August canvass of southern correspondents, and a probable reduction in the government's crop indication as of September 1.

Offerings were relatively light after the early selling had been absorbed, and stop orders were uncovered on the advance into new high ground. October sold up to 21.82 and January to 22.00, net advances of about 40 to 50 points on active months, and in the case of December contracts, an advance of over 4 3-4 cents a pound compared with prices ruling just before the last government report was issued on August 8. Last prices were 8 or 10 points off from the best under realizing.

Exports today 23,072, making 253,789 so far this season. Port receipts 27,084. U. S. port stocks, 1,005,368.

UNFAVORABLE ADVICES SPURS BUYING.

New Orleans, August 26.—(AP)—Unfavorable crop advices led to active buying in the cotton market today and prices made new highs for the season. The May and March options reached the 22-cent line. December traded up from 21.23 to 21.98, but eased off in the late trading and closed at 21.84, 43 points net up. The general close was steady at net advances of 30 to 43 points.

The opening was easy, 6 to 11 points down, due mainly to relatively poor Liverpool cables. As the weather map was dry the opening decline was increased to 20.94 for October and 21.23 for December, 16 to 18 points below the previous close.

Early in the second hour, prices bulged sharply on reports from the interior describing rapid and drastic deterioration in the condition and promise of the crop with increasing weevil damage.

This advance carried October to 21.33 and December 21.65, but the high points attracted realizing and the offerings were absorbed on a 10 points decline.

In the afternoon the market had another sharp advance when all months made new highs. Additional reports of crop damage and unfavorable weather reports were the main stimulating influences. October reached 21.65 and December 21.98, 53 to 57 points net up. The market eased off 10 to 14 points on realizing in the late trading but closed very steady.

TOBACCO SEASON NEARING CLOSE

Macon, Ga., August 26.—(AP)—The Georgia tobacco season is fast drawing to a close and the sales for the golden leaf on all the markets are expected to be ended by the end of the first week in September. Several markets have already announced that sales would be ended on their respective markets around September 1.

Sales today were under those made Thursday and the average price for the weed also took a drop. Blackshear topped the state for the largest number of pounds sold and the highest average price paid at Metter, where 430,000 pounds were sold for an average price of 24.90 cents a pound.

SOUTHERN RATES ON COAL SHOULD BE CUT, I. C. C. TOLD

Washington, August 26.—(AP)—Rates on coal moving from principal southern mining centers to south Atlantic ports should be reduced by an average of 28 cents per ton, the interstate commerce commission was advised today at the conclusion of an investigation by its examiners into the subject.

BANDITS ROB BANK OF MORE THAN $7,000

New Orleans, August 26.—(AP)—Two men, armed with sawed-off shotguns, held up employees of a branch bank of the Interstate Bank & Trust company at Freret and Valence streets, in an uptown business district shortly before noon today and escaped with between $7,000 and $10,000.

Employees of the bank were lined up along the wall and held at bay while one of the men advanced to the cashier's and teller's cages and grasped hands full of money through the small apertures.

The robbers proceeded calmly and although the street is lined with business houses and scores of persons were passing outside, they attracted no attention. A woman customer entered the bank before they completed their work but fled when they commanded her to get out.

A moment later they emerged from the bank, stepped into an automobile parked at the curb and drove away.

VISCOUNT CECIL REFUSES TO DENY REPORT HE QUIT

London, August 26.—(AP)—Viscount Cecil today refused either to deny or confirm a rumor in circulation here that he has resigned his post in the cabinet as chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster because of differences with his colleagues on questions concerning the League of Nations.

In response to inquiries as to whether the rumor was true, Viscount Cecil replied: "I cannot answer that question."

N. Y. CENTRAL HITS NEW HIGH ON CURB

New York, August 26.—(AP)—Despite a fairly large volume of realizing sales, prices of curb market securities today continued their general upward movement, several specialties in which there has been recent active trading, mounting to new high records. Many of these gains, however, were reduced substantially in late dealings.

Activity in the New York stock of the New York Central marked the day's transactions, it going to a record high of 156 1-4. Johns Manville took an early rise of 2 points on more, but fell back on profit taking, closing for a net loss of more than a point. Auburn Auto closed for a net gain of 5 points after an earlier advance to a new high.

Sales of the new Lackawanna securities company which appeared for the first time in trading, were reported at 79 to 73.

Chief activity in the oils was confined to Standard Oil of Indiana, which closed more than a point higher. Tidal, buoyed by the dividend declaration yesterday, moved up 3 points, but was able only to hold a net gain of 1 1-4 points on brisk profit taking. Chesebrough Manufacturing closed 2 1-2 points lower.

Demand for Curtiss Aero shares carried the preferred 4 1-2 points above yesterday's final figure, and the common scored a net gain of 1 1-2. Aluminum Company of America closed 2 points higher, Celluloid Company scored a net gain of more than 3 and Cellanese Corporation (new) moved up 1-4. Royal Baking Powder yielded 4 points, Mavis Corporation 3, and Savannah Sugar 1 1-2.

Public utilities were not unusually active, American Light and Traction moved up a point.

BY R. L. BARNUM.

New York, August 26.—General Motors, Steel common, General Electric made new high records before noon today with the volume of trading in these shares very large, as has been the case every day this week. The market as a whole did not follow the leadership of these stocks but suggested that distribution is going on.

One large Broadway stock exchange house with a large New England following is advising its customers to buy General Motors when issued and for the past few days has been a very large buyer of this stock. The belief is expressed by partners of this house that General Motors when issued will cross steel common selling from 150 to 175.

Those who are extremely bullish on General Motors when issued point out that in recent years General Motors has adopted the policy of paying out 60 per cent of its earnings in dividends. From which it is concluded that if from $12 to $14 a year is earned on the stock after the two for one split up it would mean anywhere from $7 to $9 a share dividends for the common stock including extra payments.

G. E. Also Climbs.

General Electric which closed at 129 3-8 shot up to 133 1-2 early in the day when Wall street learned over the news tickers that the directors of of the company were in session. Only the regular dividend was declared and no explanation was offered for the advance in price, however, General Electric continued to advance after it was learned that only the regular dividend had been declared. The easy way the stock shot up in the early trading probably gave professional traders the clue that the price could easily go even higher.

Before sailing for Europe, W. C. Durant repeated what he said a year ago to the effect that those who did not believe in the bull stock market at least had better not sell stocks short. This advice still appears to be good at least in some stocks. After the close of the market yesterday the borrowing demand for Pressed Steel Car indicated plainly that there was a large outstanding short interest in the stock. The opening this morning was lower but then there was a quick recovery in price indicating covering of frightened short sellers.

No Risk for Broker.

Some stock exchange houses not liking the way some specialties are acting are refusing to execute orders in these stocks except for cash. That means that customers insisting on buying such stocks must pay for them outright so that there will be no risk on the part of the broker.

President Storey, of Atchison, talks very frankly in his statement that he knows that it has been assumed by the public that the company might declare a stock dividend out of its large accumulated surplus but that nothing has been done by the directors of the company to justify this assumption. He says the directors have no plans whatever for declaring a stock dividend out of its large accumulated surplus until there has been a settlement of the questions of valuation and recapture of surplus earnings by the government. He points out that it would be foolish to get rid of the accumulated surplus or even part of it until the question of recapture of earnings by the government has been settled as the government might demand a recapture of past earnings amounting possible to many millions of dollars.

The question of whether or not the recapture clause of the transportation act of 1920 is constitutional is now before the supreme court in a test case which will decide what all of the railroads must do. A decision may be handed down in the early autumn, shortly after the supreme court returns from its summer vacation. Most of the judges work on cases while taking their summer vacation.

Rail Earnings Drop.

The first 28 important railroads to report July earnings show an aggregate decrease of 6.6 per cent in gross and a decrease of 25.5 per cent in net. The roads so far reporting include New York Central, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Southern and Union Pacific, Lehigh Valley and other important companies. The opinion is now forming in the finance district here that the trend of trade as shown in these statements should not be ignored.

Commenting on the General Motors earnings statement for the first half of 1927 a close observer of the stock market having a large following both in and out of Wall street, has this to say:

"The six months' report of this monster concern indicates why it has been so much favored marketwise and why the directors were willing to order a stock dividend. However, the position now suggests the consideration by the speculator of that trite old saying that 'no tree can grow to heaven'."

G. M. C. Earnings Large.

General Motors' detailed earnings statement for the six months of 1927, showing $14.35 a share for the 8,700,000 shares of outstanding stock against $11.56 for the first half of 1926, confirms the forecast officially made early this month when the directors met and declared the split up, two new shares for one old. A little less than a year ago General Motors declared a 50 per cent stock dividend increasing its stock to 8,700,000 shares. To have earned $14.35 a share in six months on this increased capital is an amazing showing. In the very year future, however, General Motors is going to have 17,400,000 shares of common stock outstanding. There is every reason to believe General Motors is going to get their share of the world's automobile business both in good and bad years. But from the viewpoint of the speculator looking for stock market profits General Motors with 17,400,000 shares of stock outstanding is a very different proposition from General Motors with only 5,000,000 shares of outstanding stock as was the case at this time last year. This is true irrespective of General Motors' remarkable earning power as proved by the figures just given out for the first half of 1927. This is decidedly not the time to get enthusiastically bullish on General Motors. The time for that was when the company had 5,000,000 shares of stock outstandnig. Some people who owned General Motors then are now taking profits."

HUBBARD BROS.

Liverpool cables were lower than due this morning, which brought about a continuation of the liquidation that was in evidence yesterday. However, the market rallied sharply after liquidation seemed to cease and contracts were in demand by the trade and apparently by those who had recently liquidated. The market started upward and the advance was accentuated by further reports of crop deterioration and some further unsettled weather in the Atlantics, particularly close to the seaboard.

It is generally conceded now that the crop had deteriorated owing to the adverse weather conditions during the month of August and the steady, continuous increase in infestation of weevil. If such reports of deterioration continue to come in as have been lately, we are likely to see a further advance, as undoubtedly the mills must be showing some anxiety regarding the condition of the weather and the crop in the south.

ORVIS BROS. CO.

As each day passes crop reports reaching here reducing estimates of yield multiply in number. Not only the condition of insect damage, continued cloudy showery weather, but now low temperatures are recorded and account for conditions. We are in the tail-end of a phenomenal and probably record-breaking summer in features adverse to cotton production, therefore adverse crop reports should come as no surprise.

But naturally they do and as they appear fresh light is furnished and demand is thereby heightened. An illustration of late news is a message from Charlotte claiming weevil much greater in that section than thought and weevil are getting all new squares. Close inspection shows 41 per cent grown bolls punctured in many fields. The claim of weevil damage has been in territory much nearer the coast than Charlotte, therefore it may be expected now that very little of the eastern belt will be left unharmed. In the past 24 hours heavy rains occurred in the Atlantic states.

The weather forecast is for generally cloudy and unsettled weather over most of the entire belt. Forecasts of this kind have been almost as regular as the days have come and gone and the effect cannot be otherwise than of the most serious kind. No one knows what the yield will be nor can any reasonable forecasts of probable production be made. Yet all know conditions are adverse to the yield. Until prices go higher or there is some good evidence of error in the reports that are being received the only sensible thing to do is buy cotton. October Liverpool due, 11.28.

Total bond sales (par value) $7,415,000.

New York, August 26.—(AP)—In one of the quietest sessions of the summer, bond prices continued their horizontal movement with many issues at or just under their high levels for the year. The firmness of quotations was due almost entirely to the current ease in the money situation, as little buying of a general order was in evidence. Traders in the main are disposed, these days, to limit their commitments until the details of the government's September refinancing program are made known.

Most of the activity in the listed market was recorded in a few convertible issues which were strong in reflection of buoyancy of the stock. Pressed Steel Car 5s were foremost among such liens, advancing more than 2 points to a new peak price of 98. These bonds are convertible into common and preferred at the rate of $1,000 par value of common and $200 of preferred for each $1,000 bond.

The new Rock Island 4 1-2s were traded in for the first time around 95. Simultaneously the 4 per cent securities of the same road eased off a small fraction. Other railway issues were quiet, on the whole, although there was moderate business in the St. Paul group.

Foreign bonds attracted meager attention. There was some further weakness among the Mexican issues. The new Australian government 5s moved in fair amounts around 96, a fraction under yesterday's close.

Creations of a $200,000,000 first mortgage and issuance from time to time of sinking fund gold bonds and debenture stock will be considered at a special meeting of Shawinigan Water & Power company stockholders September 29.

Cottonseed Oil.

New York, August 26.—Cottonseed oil was moderately active and firm, final prices showing advances of 1 to 18 points on general buying inspired by the strength in cotton, and the firmness of lard, crude and grain markets. Sales, 27,000 barrels. Prime crude nominal; prime summer yellow spot, 10.00; September closed 10.16; October, 10.48; December, 10.75; January, 10.78; March, 10.99.

New Orleans, August 26.—The market for cotton oil futures was firm and higher today due mainly to the very unfavorable crop reports and the depredations of the boll weevil. Prime summer yellow oil closed at 9.90, up 10 points, and prime crude closed at 9.00. Futures closed firm: September, 10.09; October, 10.10; December, 10.30; January, 10.33; March, 10.48.

Cotton Goods.

New York, August 26.—Sales of cotton goods this week are running well up to current production in print cloths, sheetings and napped goods. Larger business has been done on colored goods than last week. Prices are advancing. Men's wear agents handling fancy goods for the spring season are obtaining a very fair volume of advance business on new showings made this week. Raw silk was quiet and silk goods were irregular. Burlaps were higher in Calcutta and firmer here, with some sales of goods available slightly under Calcutta quotations. A further advance was announced in heavy and lightweight knit underwear.

STRONG REPORTS SEND GRAIN UP

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

OATS—

December	53⅞	54¼

Chicago, August 26. — (AP) — All grains averaged higher today, final quotations being near the top when short covering found offerings light. Strength at Winnipeg and Liverpool also was a factor. At the finish wheat showed a net gain of 1 1-8c to 1 5-8c; corn advanced 1c to 1 7-8c, oats were 3-4c to 7-8c up, and provisions unchanged to 10c higher.

Wheat showed a firm undertone with wet weather in Europe and an active export demand the dominating influences. Torrential rains were reported in Germany and weather in other continent countries was generally unfavorable. Export sales were estimated at 1,250,000 to 1,500,000 bushels with England, France, Poland, Germany and Italy reported as buyers. The upturn in ocean freight rates had a tendency to check sales. Ocean room was booked for around 5,000,000 bushels of all grain at the seaboard yesterday.

There was some rain in the American and Canadian northwest but taken as a whole harvesting in Canada is making rapid progress and the forecast was for generally fair, although scattered showers are to be expected in some sections.

Corn was more active toward the finish, although dull early. In sympathy with wheat firmness and rather pessimistic crop reports from Illinois, prices averaged higher with sufficient scattered commission house buying to offset local pressure. Weather conditions over the belt were somewhat more favorable.

Oats were affected by the action of corn.

Provisions were easier on scattered selling early, but rallied quickly with strength in cotton and the upturn in Hogs.

Dun's Report.

New York, August 26.—Dun's tomorrow will say:

Beneath the surface irregularities in business, appearing both in demand and prices, several elements of strength remain clearly visible. These constructive factors, prominent among which are the practical absence of speculative excesses in trade and the relatively low state of unsold supplies, minimize the possibilities of an abrupt reaction, and tend to sustain confidence. Hoped-for gains in some lines have not yet materialized and conspicuous activity is nearly everywhere lacking, but the latter phase is one that usually prevails at this period. With the change in seasons that is not far off, an upward turn should normally occur, although no rapid expansion is probable and results in different quarters may be expected to vary considerably. Weekly bank clearings, $8,341,005,000.

Sugar.

New York, August 26.—Raw sugar was quieter today, but the undertone was firm. Prices were unchanged. The only sale reported was 9,100 bags of St. Croix, early September shipment, at 4.65.

Opening steadiness was followed by declines in raw futures, which probably reflected the less active demand in the spot market and the large European beet sugar crop estimate. The market opened at 1 point advance to 1 point decline on covering and commission house buying, but met heavy realizing or liquidation. Prices declined 4 to 6 points. Covering checked the downward movement and partial rallies followed, with the close 2 to 5 points net lower. A prominent European authority estimated the coming European beet sugar crop at 8,131,000 metric tons, against the previous outturn of 6,933,000. Approximate sales, 71,000 tons. September closed 2.78; December, 2.91; January, 2.91; March, 2.84; May, 2.91; July, 2.99.

Refined was less active. Prices were unchanged at 5.75@5.90 for fine granulated.

Seeds.

Toledo, Ohio, August 26.—Clover, cash, imported, $14.00; October, $17.50; December, domestic, $17.25; December, imported, $14.00 bid.

Alsike, August, $16.00; December, $16.10; January, $16.25.

Flax.

Duluth, August 26.—Close flax: September, $2.25; October, $2.26; November, $2.27½; December, $2.27½.

Coffee.

New York, August 26.—Coffee futures opened today at unchanged prices to an advance of 13 points and improved during the day on covering and trade buying promoted by firmer Brazilian cables. December sold up from 11.69 to 11.80 and closed at 11.77, the general market showing net advances of 14 to 24 points. Estimated sales 51,000 bags. Closing quotations: September, 12.44; December, 11.77; January, 11.65; March, 11.56; May, 11.39; July, 11.29.

Spot quiet; Rio 7s, 13⅞ to 13½. Santos 4s, 16½ to 16⅞. Cost and freight offers included part Bourbons 3s and 5s at 16.05 to 16.95.

Rio exchange on London and dollar buying rate unchanged. Rio market 200 to 300 reis higher. Santos unchanged. Brazilian port receipts, 49,000; Jundiahy receipts, 26,000.

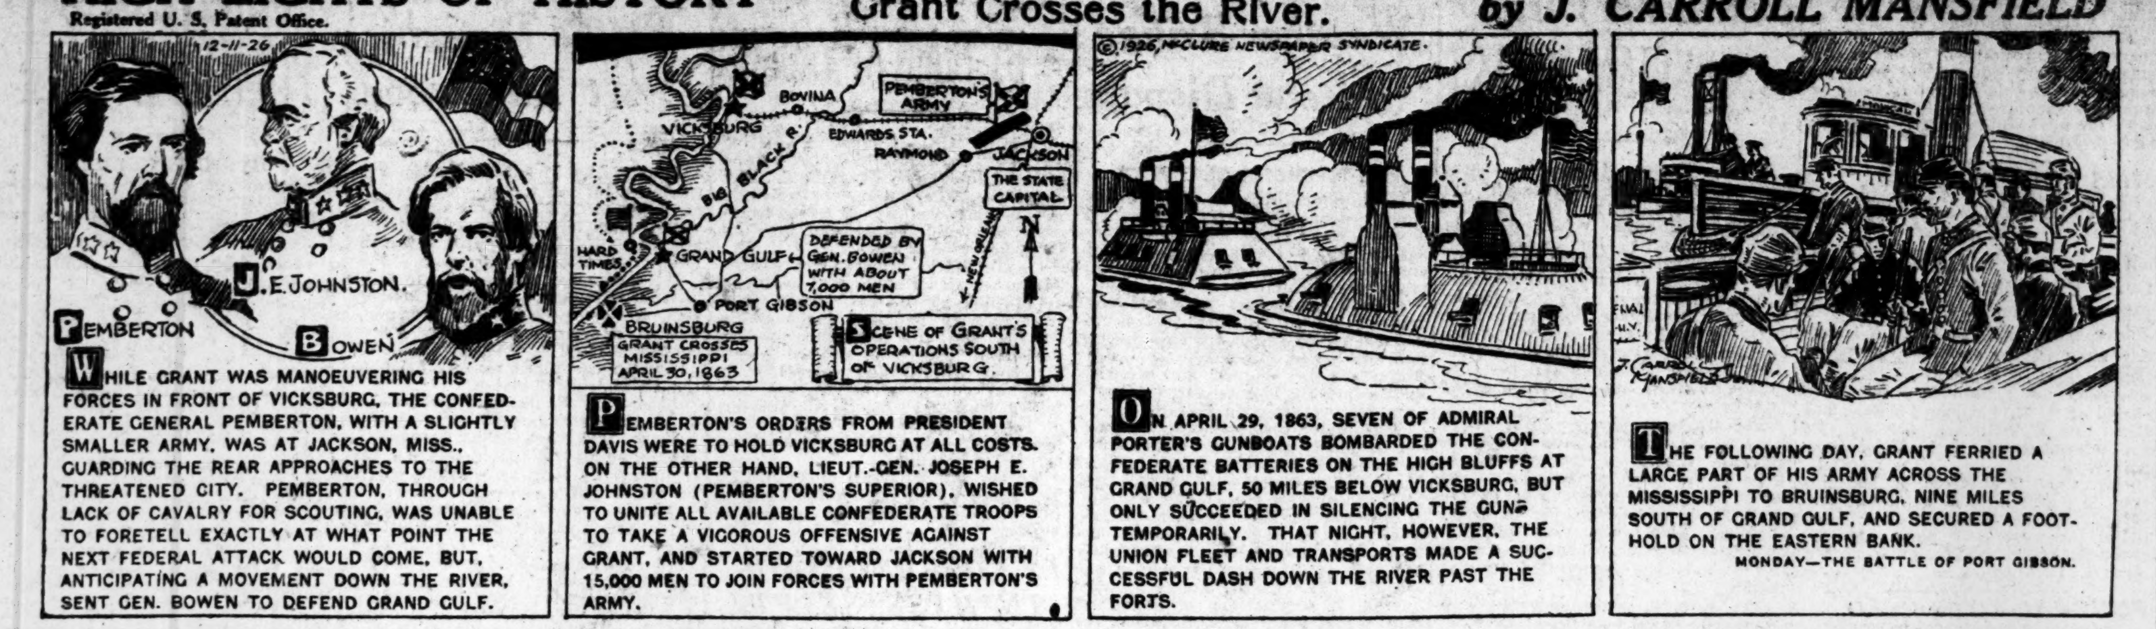
HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Grant Crosses the River.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



WHILE GRANT WAS MANOEUVERING HIS FORCES IN FRONT OF VICKSBURG, THE CONFEDERATE GENERAL PEMBERTON, WITH A SLIGHTLY SMALLER ARMY, WAS AT JACKSON, MISS., GUARDING THE REAR APPROACHES TO THE THREATENED CITY. PEMBERTON, THROUGH LACK OF CAVALRY FOR SCOUTING, WAS UNABLE TO FORETELL EXACTLY AT WHAT POINT THE NEXT FEDERAL ATTACK WOULD COME, BUT, ANTICIPATING A MOVEMENT DOWN THE RIVER, SENT GEN. BOWEN TO DEFEND GRAND GULF.

PEMBERTON'S ORDERS FROM PRESIDENT DAVIS WERE TO HOLD VICKSBURG AT ALL COSTS. ON THE OTHER HAND, LIEUT.-GEN. JOSEPH E. JOHNSTON (PEMBERTON'S SUPERIOR), WISHED TO UNITE ALL AVAILABLE CONFEDERATE TROOPS TO TAKE A VIGOROUS OFFENSIVE AGAINST GRANT, AND STARTED TOWARD JACKSON WITH 15,000 MEN TO JOIN FORCES WITH PEMBERTON'S ARMY.

ON APRIL 29, 1863, SEVEN OF ADMIRAL PORTER'S GUNBOATS BOMBARDED THE CONFEDERATE BATTERIES ON THE HIGH BLUFFS AT GRAND GULF, 50 MILES BELOW VICKSBURG, BUT ONLY SUCCEEDED IN SILENCING THE GUNS TEMPORARILY. THAT NIGHT, HOWEVER, THE UNION FLEET AND TRANSPORTS MADE A SUCCESSFUL DASH DOWN THE RIVER PAST THE FORTS.

THE FOLLOWING DAY, GRANT FERRIED A LARGE PART OF HIS ARMY ACROSS THE MISSISSIPPI TO BRUINSBURG, NINE MILES SOUTH OF GRAND GULF, AND SECURED A FOOTHOLD ON THE EASTERN BANK.

MONDAY—THE BATTLE OF PORT GIBSON.

ABOLITION OF NEWS PIRACY SOUGHT

Geneva, August 26.—(AP)—Protection of news against piracy was the basic idea of resolutions unanimously adopted today at the international press conference. The resolutions were adopted after two days of vigorous debate.

The doctrine that news is property and must be protected, already observed among American news agencies and newspapers, becomes, by virtue of the resolutions, a universal concept which will be placed before the council of the League of Nations in order that the league may influence governments to reach an official international agreement that news is a commodity which results from labor and enterprise and financial expenditure and should receive complete protection.

The question involved in the resolutions was introduced yesterday by Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press, and was advocated unanimously by American delegates, including Karl Bickel, of the United Press; Moses Koenigsberg, of the International News service; Frederick T. Birschall, acting managing editor of the New York Times, and Robert P. Scripps, of the Scripps-Howard newspapers.

One resolution treats of the protection of unpublished and the other of published news.

The first resolution says: "With regard to unpublished news the conference of press experts lays it down as a fundamental principle that the publication of a piece of news is legitimate in all cases where the news in question has reached the person who publishes it by regular and unobjectionable means, and not by an act of unfair competition.

"The conference is of the opinion that full protection should be granted to unpublished news or news in the course of transmission for publication in those countries in which such protection does not already exist."

The second resolution says: "In view of widely differing conditions obtaining in various countries, the conference is of the opinion that the question of protection of published news, whether published in press or broadcast, is one for decision of the governments concerned, and recommends that any government to whom application in this respect is made by its press should sympathetically consider the advisability of granting suitable protection."

MISS THELMA COBB FUNERAL SATURDAY

Funeral services for Miss Thelma Louise Cobb, 24, former director of physical training at the Hoke Smith Junior High school, who died Thursday night at the residence, 326 Altoona place, S. SOVIET EXPLOITS SIBERIAN COAST

Nome, Alaska, August 26.—(AP)—The Russian soviet government has shown great activity this summer along the Siberian coast, Captain Olaf Swenson, of the trading ship Nanook, reported today on his return from the Kolyma river region.

A school house is to be built by the soviets at Lawrence Bay, near East Cape, where it is planned young Eskimos and Russians will be taken from their parents all along the coast to to be educated and fed in one big institution.

The Russian steamer Kolyma, a large vessel, in which the committee traveled, negotiated the passage to Lena river, made a perilous voyage amid the grinding ice packs of the arctic and unloaded a big cargo of supplies. This is said to be the first time in history a ship of the size of the Kolyma has penetrated to that region.

The Kolyma was unable to reach Wrangell island, north of Siberia, due to the ice pack, but two airplanes were assembled aboard the vessels while at anchor off East Cape and a flight was made to the island.

They were the first planes to fly over Wrangell and made the return trip to the Kolyma safely. The aviators reported that the soviet colony planted on Wrangell several years ago is thriving.

It was learned that the soviets are not expecting to reap big returns from fur pelts obtained on the islands, but plan to make it a feeding and breeding place for all fur-bearing animals, including polar bears.

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN VIE IN REEL RACES

Alexandria, Va., August 26.—(AP)—Crack reel racing teams, representing the cream of the volunteer fire departments of Virginia, tried today for the championship of the Virginia State Firemen's association at the annual state convention, which closes today, competing in races which demonstrated in exciting fashion the closeness of the competition.

Eight teams, each composed of from ten to fifteen men, dragging a 1,500-pound reel for a distance of 150 yards, time being taken from the time the starters' gun boomed until the water shot from the nozzle of the hose, competed in the races with but two more teams to run against time. The team from Luray, Va., making an official time of 32 1-4 seconds, which includes a penalty of 1-4 of a second for improper turning at the fire plug, shaded the other teams by more than a second. The team from the No. 1 company, Harrisonburg, Va., established a mark of 33 seconds flat and early this afternoon the team from Harrisonburg company No. 4 and from Hot Springs, Va., were preparing to race. Results this morning recorded by the teams besides the Luray and Harrisonburg outfits were:

Staunton, which last year won the championship and would obtain possession of the silver trumpet if it won it this year, 34 seconds; Waynesboro, 34; Covington, 34, and Lexington, the first to run, 37 2-5 seconds. After the competition, limited to members of the association, has been concluded there will be an open competition in which practically all of the teams competing in the association races will be entered.

VANDERBILT MOVE TO SPEED NUPTIAL REFUSED IN PARIS

Paris, August 26.—(AP)—William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., of New York, was denied an application to dispense with the usual ten days' notice of marriage by the government authorities, who decided they had no right to act in the matter.

Mr. Vanderbilt had filed his application in order to secure secrecy for his contemplated marriage to Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton, Jr., of Philadelphia.

Press Convention To End With Barbecue Today Near Clayton

Gainesville, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Some 200 members of the Georgia Press association en route to the press camp at Tallulah Falls stopped off here today and visited local points of interest and manufacturing plants.

After the Gainesville sight-seeing trip, the party left by motor for points between here and Tallulah, which included Cornelia and a stop at Alto, the Georgia tuberculosis sanitarium.

The editors were entertained here at a luncheon at the Dixie Hunt hotel by the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce, of which Sidney Smith is president. They were welcomed in talks by Edgar Dunlap, county attorney, and Hammond Johnson, city attorney. Miss Emily Woodward, editor of the Vienna News and new president of the Georgia Press association, responded for the visitors.

Friday night the editors were the guests of Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power company, at a dinner at the Cliff house at Tallulah Falls.

Saturday at noon they will drive up to Clayton, where they will be tendered a barbecue by C. C. Woodward, former business manager of the Tampa (Florida) Times, and brother of Miss Emily Woodward. The barbecue will be served on the grounds of Mr. Woodward's country home near Clayton.

The barbecue will end the 1927 convention of the press association which opened Monday night at Eatonton.

Cool August Weather Brings Bureau Dispute

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, August 28.—(United News.)—Cancelling of a New York baseball game on account of cold today emphasizes the extremely cool August weather now prevailing in many parts of the country.

It also emphasizes an acute controversy as to whether this is an unusually cold summer. This dispute is being carried on between the United States weather bureau and a well-known private commercial forecaster here, Herbert Janvrin Brown.

Washington residents have slept under blankets most of this month when normally the city is frying in tropical heat. Some housewives started fires this week to keep their children warm.

But whether the weather for the country as a whole is abnormal depends on more comprehensive data than the experiences of people in one locality. The United States weather bureau, in a summary of conditions thus far in the year, stated that the year has "by no means been markedly abnormal."

This statement was in refutation of predictions made by Herbert Janvrin Brown that 1927 would have unusually cold spots like the famous summer of 1816. The weather bureau has repeatedly insisted that no man, by known scientific means, can predict weather for more than 24 or 48 hours accurately.

Brown says that the weather bureau's conclusions as to this year's weather are based on averages and are therefore deceptive. That is, August could have a run of weather below normal and yet with one or two extremely hot days the average would be pulled up possibly to normal. As C. G. Abbot, of the Smithsonian institution, a long-range advocate, said once, the Washington monument is 555 feet high but if you averaged that with the height of the grass blades in the monument grounds you could say that the average height of all objects in those grounds was four inches—which would completely conceal the fact that one of those objects was over 500 feet high. So is an abnormal break in weather covered up in averages.

After last week's weather bureau report denying this has been an abnormal year, Brown protested to Secretary of Agriculture Work, whose department controls the weather bureau against "the highly sophisticated and misleading statement in the weekly weather and crop bulletin."

"With the exception of the Pacific coast states, the great food and staple producing areas of the country were not only below normal temperature but so much so as to produce with other adverse elements serious crop reactions," he said. He says the weather bureau's deduction "is a purely mathematical figurement, flatly contradicted by the facts."

NEW YORK SHIVERS IN LOW TEMPERATURES.

New York, August 26.—(United News.)—New York shivered through a second day of unseasonable weather Friday, swept by winds so chill that overcoats appeared on Fifth avenue, park benches and beaches were deserted, and the Giants and Cardinals agreed to work overtime Saturday in a double header rather than freeze in the Polo grounds Friday.

The thermometer hovered within two degrees of a .63 minimum from midnight until noon, when it ascended to a maximum of 66 and quickly had a relapse.

High winds drove thick cloud banks across the sky while citizens who a few days ago were yelling about the heat muttered vaguely to each other about "sun spots."

Cloudy and continued cool was promised for another day with the possibility of summer weather returning Sunday.

ARMOUR PLANTS CLOSE TUESDAY FOR FUNERAL

Chicago, August 27.—(AP)—All plants of Armour & Co., will close at 2 o'clock Tuesday, August 30, in respect to the son of the company's founder, the late J. Ogden Armour, who will be buried on that day. Mr. Armour's body was to arrive in New York today from London, where he died.

ARMY AND NAVY JOINT AIR BOARD DECIDES POLICY

Washington, August 26.—(AP)—Instructions defining the duties of the army and the navy air forces and providing for their cooperation in case of national emergency were issued today by the army and navy joint board.

The instructions specify that should a situation develop in which the air forces of one service were called to aid those of the other, then "unit of command for the conduct of the participating air forces shall be immediately vested in the commander of the force to be supported."

In case, however, army and navy air units "are combined into one task force for the accomplishment of a common mission," then the instructions provide that "the commander assigning the mission shall designate an officer to exercise unity of command over such task force during the conduct of the operation."

In general, the instructions said, the army and the navy air contingents must operate as arms of the mobile army or of the fleet, respectively, and that to avoid duplication in peace time procurement, the two services were limited to planes suited and specially designed for their land and sea activities respectively.

FARMER WHO SHOT HOODED INVADER FEARS FOR CROP

Danville, Va., August 26.—(AP)—Charles W. Wilson, 60-year-old farmer, who shot J. C. Sparrow from the window of his home at Oakhill, when, he claims, robed and hooded figures demanded that he open his door, remained in jail today. He expressed concern over his tobacco crop now ready to be "saved" but admitted release on bond was remote, saying that he had no money and no relatives in a position to make security. The land owner of his plantation, Sam Hareston, is away and not expected back until Sunday.

Wilson is to be given a hearing in Pittsylvania county Wednesday afternoon next, at which time it is anticipated the "whole story" will be unfolded. Commonwealth Attorney P. J. Hunley, who is investigating the affair, is prepared to ask for a "reasonable bond" in the case.

G. O. LUTHER KILLED BY TRAIN AT VAUGHN

Griffin, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—G. O. Luther, 60, was instantly killed tonight at Vaughn, Ga., near here, when the automobile which he was driving was struck by Southern passenger train No. 44, running from Columbus to Atlanta.

Details of the accident are meager, as Luther was traveling alone in his automobile which was struck at a crossing near Vaughn. He had just left that station a few minutes before the crash. The train stopped, placed the body aboard and carried it to Vaughn and an ambulance was summoned from the undertaking parlors of Haisten Brothers, at Griffin, and the body is being held there awaiting arrival of relatives.

Luther was a citizen of Villa Rica and had been in the lumber business in the Vaughn community for several weeks.

LT. GOVERNORSHIP IN MISSISSIPPI RACE UNDECIDED

Jackson, Miss., August 26.—(AP)—Whether M. P. Lowrey Love, of Hattiesburg, or Bidwell Adam, of Pass Christian, Miss., won the nomination for lieutenant governor in the run-off primary last Tuesday, will not be decided until the official count of the ballots cast is made Tuesday, August 30, according to The Jackson Daily News. The Daily News' unofficial but complete tabulation shows Adams in the lead with 398 votes, giving Adam a total of 140,167; Love 139,769.

The complete, but unofficial returns show that Theodore G. Bilbo, of Poplarville, has a lead of 9,858 votes over Governor Dennis Murphree, for the gubernatorial nomination. The Daily News' tabulation gives the complete votes as: Bilbo 147,349, and Murphree 137,491.

Emory Gives Diplomas To Forty-Five Members Of Summer Session

Emory University, Ga., August 26. (Special.)—A graduating class of 45 members at the summer school at Emory university heard an optimistic lecture on world affairs on the eve of taking up their life work today.

Dr. Henry T. Carley, editor of the New Orleans Christian Advocate, was the baccalaureate speaker and took as his subject, "This Advancing World." He emphasized the fact that the world is advancing and that it is no longer possible for this world to be inhabited by unrelated people. Never will we forget the glories of the past and fail to remember the works of our fathers, but as devoted sons will carry on this work.

Dr. Carley took a very optimistic view of world affairs, stating that the world is better than at any previous time and is growing better. The speaker emphasized that it is a day of productive and progressive industries and that vital energies must not be wasted.

The convocation exercises were held in the theology chapel on the Emory campus. Dr. H. W. Cox, president of the university, conferred degrees on 45 students. This marks the close of the most successful summer quarter since the adoption of the four-quarter plan eight years ago.

RELIGIOUS FRENZY CAUSES OFFICERS TO DETAIN WOMAN

Baltimore, August 25.—(AP)—Hysterically shouting snatches of religious writing, an unidentified, middle-aged woman today was taken from a Baltimore-Washington train here and is being held for identification and observation at a local hospital. Several Washington addresses and the name of Mrs. P. J. Elliott, 910 Twelfth street, N. W., found on slips of paper in a handbag, are believed to indicate that her home is in Washington. The handbag also contained $107.

Train employees said the woman jumped from her seat after the train left the capital and became unmanageable. Taken to police headquarters here, she rushed to a window, thrust her hand through a pane of glass, inflicting a severe gash in her wrist.

The woman is well dressed, police said, and apparently is a person of means and refinement.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, August 26.—Lieutenant Thomas B. Williamson, attached to a Hampton Roads, Va., aircraft squadron, appeared before a naval court-martial here today charged with a breach of "good order and military discipline" when he performed hair-raising stunts while flying low over a populous section of Washington a few weeks ago.

Williamson's father, Thomas Williamson, of Edwardsville, Ill., joined with regularly appointed service counsel in defense of the aviator, who is accused in six specifications of violating not only military but civil regulations which prohibit flying below 1,500 feet and aerial acrobatics over congested areas.

Lieutenant Frederick Buse, a test pilot stationed at the naval air station at Anacosta, D. C., the first witness called by Captain H. N. Porter, judge advocate of the trial, admitted under cross-examination by the elder Williamson that even he is in doubt as to what "acrobatics" actually means. In his direct testimony Lieutenant Buse defined "acrobatics" as meaning to place an airplane "in any maneuver other than normal flight, normal glide, normal turns, or climbs." He defined altitude as distance above sea level and asserted the function of an altometer is to record the distance of an airplane above sea level.

Under Mr. Williamson's cross-questioning Lieutenant Buse admitted his definition of "acrobatics" was not his own but that of a superior officer and admitted that he was in doubt as to the actual meaning of the word. Lieutenant Buse asserted that he was not aware of any regulations promulgated by the department of commerce prohibiting low flying.

Dance Contest Finals Tonight At Lakewood

Despite the fact that Friday was an "off-night" at the dancing pavilion at Lakewood park, scores of couples were preparing for the finals to be staged tonight to determine Atlanta's most graceful dancing couple.

Nine couples, selected by four of Atlanta's foremost dancing instructors, will compete for the championship at 10:30 o'clock tonight. Three couples will be selected in the elimination to be staged tonight prior to the championship match.

Miss Anne Faulkner, Harold Cook, J. W. Sutton and A. J. Poole are the judges. The amusement concern is the lessee of the pavilion from the Southeastern Fair association, operator of the play center.

The five couples already entitled to enter the final events tonight are Miss Louise Tribble; her brother, Fred G. Tribble; Mrs. Louise Gibson and Howard Gore; Miss Ruth Benson and her partner; Miss Nell Walker and Archie Backus; Miss Augusta Harmon and Theo Nichols, and Mrs. Ruby Powell and Drummond Griffin.

The midway and other park attractions also will offer special amusement features to visitors.

IOWA GOVERNOR URGES SETTLEMENT OF COAL STRIKE

Des Moines, Iowa, August 26.—(AP) Governor John Hammill today urged the Iowa coal operators and miners to strive for a settlement of their differences, declaring "that public is interested in a settlement and that the miners need the employment and Iowa the industry," when he for the third time refused a request of the operators to send state troops into the mine fields of Appanoose county to aid local officers in preserving order.

The governor told the operators and miners that "instead of talking about each other," they should "talk to each other" in arriving at a settlement of their differences.

The governor denied the request for troops on the ground that the situation in Appanoose county did not warrant such a course. He reached the conclusion at the end of a conference with operators, miners' union officers and the civil officials of Appanoose county.

COSGRAVE SHOCKS POLITICAL FOES

BY HUGH CURRAN.

Dublin, August 26.—The Irish Free State political parties have received a shock from President William T. Cosgrave's master stroke of making an immediate appeal to the electors. All day today the executives of the Fianna Fail and labor have been considering plans. The farmers have not yet conferred. The general feeling is that the farmers will follow the late leader, Dennis Gorey, into the government party, either by fusion or on a working arrangement.

The Fianna Fail, the DeValera party, is very angry. Eamonn DeCalera renounces what he calls President Cosgrave's sharp practice and says the Fianna Fail is ready to meet him. Telegraphic instructions were sent today to all the Fianna Fail units urging calling of constituency conventions Sunday to elect candidates.

Redmond's national league party presents the most hopeless spectacle. None of the leaders has spoken on the new situation. All seem non-pulsed. A week ago Redmond was in measurable distance of the presidency while today he is virtually without party or prestige. John Jinks' action on the confidence motion virtually ruined the party.

The Sinn Fein, led by Miss MacSwiney, it is expected also will disappear.

FIRE DESTROYS ENTIRE BLOCK AT GREENVILLE, ALA.

Greenville, Ala., August 26.—(AP)—Fire, originating in a warehouse in the downtown section of Greenville, was brought under control at 3 o'clock this morning after practically an entire block had been leveled and approximately $50,000 damage suffered.

Firemen fought heroically to confine the blaze to the single block, which at one time threatened the entire town. Many dwellings in the southern part of town caught fire from flying sparks but no material damage was done.
